Judge attends EOC conference

County Judge D. L. Penhollow is in La Grande attending the three-day Religion in Life conference which opened Tuesday at Eastern Oregon College.

The 20th annual conference, sponsored by the EOC Interfaith Fellowship, is an event of National Brotherhood week.

The opening address was to be given by Rabbi Jack Segal of the Congregation Neveh Zedek of Portland.

In addition to Rabbi Segal and Judge Penhollow, members of the interfaith team are Father Louis H. Sohier, pastor of St. Alice Catholic Church, Springfield; Dr. Bruce Wood, professor of philosophy and religion, Pacific University, Forest Grove, and Dr. Truman Madsen, College of Religious Instruction, Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah.

In addition to holding the county government position, Judge Penhollow is pastor of the Powell Butte Christian Church. He was in Portland Monday, before going to eastern Oregon yesterday. He will be away from his office at the courthouse all week.

Oregon business climate seen as unfavorable

Oregon is falling short of its industrial potentials because of an unfavorable business climate, William A. Niskanen charged in a talk before members of the Bend Lions Club Tuesday noon.

The luncheon meeting was held at the Superior Lunch, with Verne Prodehl presiding and Maurice Shelton in charge of the program.

Niskanen had as his topic "Oregon's Business Climate." He presented a view of the state's business climate as seen through the eyes of eastern industrialists.

Factors which Niskanen said made Oregon's industrial climate chilly for industrialists looking toward the Pacific were listed. He charged that the state's tax system "is geared to extract the maximum from business communities."

Niskanen, former state legislator from Deschutes county, said eastern industrialists cannot be attracted by "beautiful brochures."

He said Oregon's industrial problems can be solved, but that solution will call for stern discipline.

Deadline noted on tax returns by businesses

A tax return due date reminder for Oregon businesses was issued today by A. G. Erickson, district director of the Internal Revenue Service for the state of Oregon.

Erickson said February 28 is the date by which all businesses must file annual information returns showing payments made during 1960 of salaries, wages, fees, commissions, and other compensation for personal services totaling $500 or more.

Payments of interest, rents, royalties, annuities, pensions and other income must be reported, he said, as well as dividends of $10 or more.

However, compensation already reported on Forms W-2 are not included on these information returns.

Director Erickson said filers of information returns should use Forms 1099 and 1096.

He said February 28 is also the deadline for manufacturers, retailers and others liable for more than $100 in excise taxes for the month of January to deposit the taxes in a Depository. Those making deposits of excise taxes should use Form 537.

Brown services held on Monday

REDMOND — Last honors were paid Willard Franklin Brown, 56, Monday at Zacher's Chapel, with the Rev. D. L. Penhollow officiating. Interment was in the Redmond Cemetery.

Brown had been a farmer in the Redmond area for the past 10 years, having come here in 1951 from New Mexico.

Survivors in the Redmond area are his widow, Lottie; a son, Burt, and step-daughter, Mrs. Virginia Grossnickle.

Pallbearers were LeRoy Orgain, Gene Dunlap, Ted Welch, Keith Corwin, Clare Osborn and Ralph Smith.

Two tickets issued by police

Bend police officers issued two traffic tickets Tuesday. Helen F. Young, 47, 731 E. Twelfth, was cited for failing to stop for a loading school bus, and posted $27.50 bail.

Richard C. Hamner, 24, Redmond, was cited for driving with an expired operator's license, and posted $12.50 bail.

Estates admitted to probate

Two estates, each estimated at over $10,000, were admitted to probate yesterday in Deschutes county district court.

Ethel M. Douthitt, who died in Bend January 20, left real property estimated at $10,000, and approximately $500 worth of personal property. Heirs are her daughters, Marguerite Mayer, Bend, and Nola Newby Grant, Caldwell, Idaho.

Freeman C. Murray, Klamath Falls attorney, was named in the will of Myrtle Augusta Finnigan as executor. She died February 1 in Bend. The estate consists of real property valued at $15,000 and personal property estimated at $3,000. Everything goes to the surviving spouse, Edward J. Finnigan.

Tape recording to be played

The experiences of a nine-year prisoner in Russia, John W. Noble, will be related in a tape recording to be played Friday evening at the Bend Church of God, W. Twelfth and Fresno.

Noble and his father, U.S. citizens, were arrested in East Germany at the time the Soviet Union took it over. The father was released after a time, but Noble spent a total of 9 1/2 years in a Russian concentration camp.

FLUE OVERHEATS

One alarm occurred Bend firemen today besides the general alarm in the early morning. At 7:49 a.m. they were called to the S. E. Moore residence, 219 E. Greenwood, where they dealt with an overheated flue. There was no damage.

Bend men fined for possessing untagged venison

SPECIAL TO THE BULLETIN

REDMOND — Two Bend men were fined $100 each for being in possession of untagged venison when they appeared this week in Justice Court. They were Bernard P. Craves and Joe W. Carter.

The pair reportedly was stopped on a minor traffic violation and the venison was discovered. They declined to reveal who had killed the animal or how they had come into possession of the meat, according to arresting officers.

Dan S. Bergstedt, Prineville, appeared on a charge of being drunk on a public highway and was fined $100 by Justice of the Peace Donald Ellis. Failure to stop for stop signs brought $10 fines to David R. Perrin, Redmond, and Joe W. Howard Jr., Terrebonne. A $10 fine against Patricia J. Jameson, AMITYVILLE, N.Y. (UPI)—The police finally caught up with Thomas Gregory as he was hiding in the woods Tuesday.

Thomas, 11, had fled from Brunswick Hospital minutes before he was due to have his tonsils removed. He's back at the hospital now.

Redmond, on a similar charge was suspended.

Driving on the wrong side of the highway brought a $15 fine to Carl R. Martini, Bend. Cecil Sawyer, Madras, paid $10 for having no muffler. An overload cost Everett D. Higgins, Portland, $30.50.
