Jackson sees Red threat as total one

PORTLAND (UPI)—Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said here Friday night the only way to effectively meet the communist threat is to realize that it presents a total threat, not simply international.

Jackson made his comments before a crowd of 10 persons attending a Democratic party fund raising dinner at the Portland Women's Club.

Jackson, who was National Chairman of the Democratic Party, during the 1960 general election campaign, attacked anti-communist groups which criticize the United Nations and the U.S. State Department.

These groups give the impression that the problem is internal. Is being anti-communist enough? Can this nation survive by being negative? The Communists are out to beat us scientifically, economically and militarily. If we are to survive we must understand the threat is total," Jackson said.

Jackson termed the anti-communist groups who demand to investigate everybody as acting from frustration.

The Washington Democrat said one of the most important parts of the Kennedy administration's meeting of the Communist threat is to build up conventional forces so the United States will have a choice and "not have only the alternative of knuckling under or having thermo-nuclear war." Jackson said this policy has paid off.

Jackson said Republicans must share the blame for Congressional failure to pass the bill which would have allowed use of the Hanford, Wash., nuclear reactor for power production. Jackson charged the seven Republican representatives of Washington and Oregon did not work to swing other Republican votes to the measure. He said only four other House Republicans, in addition to GOP House members from Oregon and Washington, voted for the Hanford measure.

Criticism seen 'constructive'

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—An exchange student who wrote a letter calling Nigeria's government "corrupt and irresponsible" says it was constructive criticism and "certainly not meant to be derogatory."

The letter, mailed to a friend in Santa Barbara, Calif., by Craig Walker, 22, of Bala Island, Calif., has been printed in a newspaper, the West African Pilot of Lagos, Nigeria.

Walker claimed Friday the letter was stolen.

"It's entirely possible that those parties unknown who would be guilty of violating the sanctity of the mails... Might also consider it expedient to distort such a letter for their own political purposes," Walker said.

Relatives get Davies estate

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI)—Actress Marion Davies has left most of her estimated $8 million estate to her husband and other relatives.

Superior Court Judge Orlando H. Rhodes Friday approved the actress' will when it was admitted for probate. The document was dated Dec. 5, 1959.

New speed mark eyed

EDWARDS AFB, Calif. (UPI)—The Southern California - Nevada sky will become the world's largest hot rod track next week when the X15 rocket ship tries to reach its maximum speed, nearly 4,100 miles an hour, or six times the speed of sound.

The North American Aviation-built plane with Air Force Maj. Robert M. White at the controls was expected to streak through the sky at 6,000 feet per second, or more than a mile-a-second until all its fuel is consumed, or about 82 seconds.

The X15, whose primary objective is the exploration of manned hypersonic flights, already holds the world's speed and altitude records. White set an altitude mark for manned aircraft Oct. 11 when he piloted the X15 to a height of 217,000 feet. Test pilot Joe Walker of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration reached a speed of 3,920 m.p.h. Oct. 17 in the needle-nosed craft.

Walker's speedy record in the black dart, powered with a 57,000-pound thrust engine, found him using brakes on the upper and lower vertical stabilizer to slow down the X15 during re-entry. White's flight will be brakedless.

The X15 ultimately was designed to fly about 4,000 m.p.h. and reach an altitude of more than 80 miles.

MUSEUM GETS DIAMOND
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—A canary-colored, emerald-cut diamond—believed to be the world's largest and valued at more than $250,000—has been donated to the Witte Museum.

The diamond once belonged to the Marhatta Kingdom in the Gujarat area in India. The gift was made by Mr. and Mrs. E. B. McFarlin. It weighs 49.40 carats and is set on an 18-carat gold mounting, surrounded by specially-cut emerald beads.

Pair charged with attempted car-bomb death

SCRANTON, Pa. (UPI)—The 30-year-old son of a meat packer and his attractive divorcee girl friend were charged Friday night with a nearly successful attempt to car-bomb her former husband to death for $34,000 in life insurance.

Robert C. Kaufman, a husky former salesman for Eastern Provision Co., his father's meat packing firm, and Mrs. Sarah Molter, 32, were freed in $5,000 bail on charges of conspiracy and the illegal use of explosives.

State police said the couple tried to kill Floyd Molter, 33, of Jutland, N.J., May 12 with a dynamite charge set off under the floor boards of his car with an automatic timing device.

Molter Severely Injured
Molter was severely injured when the explosion went off outside a roadhouse near here where he had just been drinking with his former wife.

Investigators said the brown-haired Mrs. Molter carried $34,000 in life insurance on her former husband. Police said Molter knew she had insurance on his life but he thought it amounted to about $20,000.

Kaufman, father of four, and Mrs. Molter, who had one child, admitted they were "romantically involved" before and after the dynamiting" the district attorney's office said. But they denied knowing anything about the explosion.

Romance Is Over
The couple told the district attorney's office that their romance was over now.

Police said they learned that Kaufman had purchased dynamite from a friend shortly before Molter's car was rigged.

Molter received extensive leg injuries in the blast and was in critical condition for several weeks in Hahnemann Hospital here. His injuries required repeated surgery but he has been able to work recently.

Mrs. Molter, who lives in Madisonville, Pa., works in a beauty shop.

S. California hit by quakes

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A series of rolling earthquakes rocked Southern California Friday, forcing evacuation of two schools, but leaving no injuries or serious damage.

The tremors were felt over a 50-mile area stretching southeastward from here into Orange County.

Seismologists said there were at least five tremors and numerous after-shocks.

Dr. Charles Richter of the California Institute of Technology at nearby Pasadena said the strongest shock measured 4.5 on his scale. The disastrous San Francisco earthquake of 1906 would have measured about 8.25 on the Richter scale, experts believe.

Authorities in Huntington Beach and Westminster ordered schools evacuated as a precautionary measure.

Warm weather spurs work on Christmas Lake project

Special to The Bulletin
FORT ROCK — Continuous warmth of Indian Summer has been a boon to work at the Christmas Valley development in the Christmas Lake country. It has permitted completion of pouring of the cement slabs for the lodge, and for several model houses.

Buildings now completed at the new community are the Christmas Valley Store which doubles at present as a warehouse. Until the settlement requires its own market it will be used as office space for those in charge of construction, survey work and local real estate services.

The first of several four unit motel sections is being completed on the interior. Both these units and model homes are to be equipped with electric heat. The motel facilities will skirt the artificial lake.

Clearing has been completed for a 40 acre model farm located one mile south and three quarters of a mile west of the trailer settlement. An irrigation well is ready to furnish water to the several types of farming to get under way in the spring. Grain, alfalfa, pasture and mint are among crops planned, according to Phil Pitman, local real estate manager. Costs of production records will be kept. Framing of the house was completed last week by John Short of Bend, who has contracted the job.

A second DC-3 load of potential land owners is scheduled to arrive this weekend. Several cars drive to the area each day on their own to investigate opportunities or view land already purchased, according to Fort Rock and Silver Lake businessmen who receive inquiries as to location of the new rural development sites. Completion of the lodge and trailer court facilities, surveying, road building and fencing have work priority, according to Harold Boyer, construction superintendent. Timbers and framing materials are on hand for building the lodge which will be of rustic style. Some 25 men are on the payroll at present.

Taylor tours near Red lines

ALONG THE 17TH PARALLEL, South Viet Nam (UPI)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, President Kennedy's special military adviser, today carried his on-the-spot survey of the situation in this Communist-threatened nation to less than one mile from Communist North Viet Nam.

Taylor traveled from Saigon on a flying trip around South Viet Nam that will help him decide whether U.S. troops are needed to defend this southeast Asian country against mounting Communist aggression.

"We are at the end of our military aid program, my friend," Gen. Taylor told White House Security Adviser Walt Rostow as they stood at the Gio Linh outpost, less than one mile from the Ben Hai River marking the border with Communist North Viet Nam.

Taylor and his party of Vietnamese and American officials landed at Dong Ha Airport, some 10 miles from the 17th Parallel and went from there to the Gio Linh garrison.

After a two-hour tour of the area, Taylor proceeded to the resort of Dalat where he was scheduled to meet President Ngo Dinh Diem tonight for a second talk on what more the United States can do to bolster this embattled nation against the Communist buildup.

U.S. officials say there will be no announcement about any decision Taylor may reach as a result of his tour of Viet Nam until he has returned to Washington.

Installation for officers of the Bend Senior High and Junior High chapters of Future Homemakers of America was held Monday at the Senior High School.

Carol Beaver, president of the senior chapter, who was elected last spring, was the installing officer for the candle-lighting ceremony.

FHA chapters install officers

Other senior officers are: Anne Moakes, vice - president; Joanne Cook, secretary; Linda Matson, treasurer, and Kristy Pomeroy, historian.

Junior officers were installed as follows: Nancy Kittridge, president; Donnell Lyons, vice - president; Billie Stevens, secretary; Mary Ruble, treasurer; Sheila Berg, historian; Ann Trumble, parliamentarian, and Terry Loper, student council representative.

Each officer was presented a red rose in the ceremony.

Brought to the stage for introductions were Mrs. R. S. Park, senior adviser; Mrs. Don Pence, junior adviser, and Mrs. M. W. Lyons and Mrs. Walter Kittridge, junior chapter mothers.

Refreshments were served after the installation.

Bed pushing fad out—now it's football running

WATERLOO, Ont. (UPI)—Bed pushing is out. The newest college fad is football running.

Thirty University of Waterloo students were scheduled to run a football from Waterloo to Hamilton, Ont., today—a distance of 40 miles.

The football will be used as part of a ceremonial kickoff in a game between the U. of Waterloo and the McMaster University in Hamilton.

Each student will run the ball about two miles.

Service program eyed at session

Special to The Bulletin
FORT ROCK — Community service plans were a major topic at the October session of Fort Rock Grange.

A committee headed by Edwin Eskelin has determined the need for 95 signs for identifying both points of interest and individual ranches in the Fort Rock - Christmas Lake area.

Eskelin, Bud Parks and Richard Morehouse were appointed to investigate costs of obtaining better markers for the cemetery.

Roy Meuns, Oregon State Grange Gatekeeper and deputy for this area, was a guest. He stressed the values of community service and also reported on the new State Grange headquarters in Portland, Mrs. Means was also a guest. Both are members of the Redmond Grange.

Rube Long, legislative committee chairman, recalled that in the final days of the congressional session funds were appropriated for the rehabilitation of rangeland damaged by fire. This would include both reseeding and replacement of fences destroyed, according to Long, and would apply to the Cougar Mountain area fire this summer which swept over 18,000 acres of lava beds and open range. Fifteen miles of fence were destroyed.

Nick Klerk, fire insurance agent, urged patrons to be aware of their coverage. He reported having insured quantities of hay this summer and pointed out that specifications are for stacks to be at least 50 feet apart.

A tentative date for December 9 was set for the showing of movies which tell the story of the building of the telephone line to this area. Jerry Wiley of Bend, manager of Pacific Northwest Bell, will be in charge.

Corder sentence due on Friday

ASTORIA (UPI)—Chauncey Jake Corder, 45, Warrenton, was found guilty of manslaughter by Circuit Judge Avery Combs here Friday.

Corder pleaded guilty to the shooting of his wife, Edith, last July 12 at their home. The trial lasted four days.

Judge Combs set sentencing for next Friday in Clatsop County Circuit Court.

Take your problems to Church this week

millions leave them there!

Young Man On The Way Up!

Children who are taken to church regularly with their parents usually continue to attend after they are grown. It becomes as much a part of their lives as going to school. Especially does church-going become a fixed part of their lives if both parents are regular in their own attendance. That which Daddy and Mother do, the young son and daughter like to do also. When going to church is a family custom the children seldom depart from it when they leave home and have families of their own. It soon becomes a source of strength, of power and of comfort to them. Don't just send the children to church... TAKE THEM!

This series of advertisements is published each week in The Bend Bulletin in the interest of all churches of the Central Oregon area, and is made possible by the following interested individuals and establishments.
