'Storm' grabbed hold of nerve fibers, held tight

By Fred Danzig
UPI Staff Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—Formula for a nail-biting binge: take one raging thunderstorm, add one frightened housewife, a black cat, an isolated country house, spooky noises, ominous background music, wild shadows, props that include the traditional dead body in a cellar trunk.

Subtract heat and electricity from the house. Divide all this into three suspense-filled acts. Voilà! "The Storm," which honored the "Thriller" title on NBC-TV Monday night.

Nancy Kelly, as Janet Willson, took charge of William Gordon's teleplay and built up an exciting, credible portrait of a woman battling to maintain her sanity while beset by a series of panic inducing noises and coincidences.

Directed by Herschel Daugherty, the hour grabbed hold of my nerve fibers early and kept squeezing and twisting all the way.

Plot? You know the one. Miss Kelly returns to her country home after a brief absence and during, of course, the R.T.—raging thunderstorm. Unbeknownst to her, a woman has been murdered outside her house. We, the audience, know this, thanks to a vivid prologue.

Now that Nancy is home and things are going badly for her and her pet black cat, BAA-Baa, she must try to control the normal anxieties which beset her. One involves her hubby's whereabouts. Hubby, mean and cool in David McLean's hands, finally arrives during the final act and brings matters to a shattering conclusion.

The fact that such tried-and-true, tired-and-true suspense ingredients can still work, thanks to great production skills, causes me to overlook a couple of itchy bits sillies that crept into the plot. "Thriller" was out to scare the battens out of the hatches. And they did. As for Miss Kelly's performance, Barbara Stanwyck and her telephone never did it better.

"Watching your child's programs with him at times, and inviting him sometimes to watch your own favorites, will give you clues to what he enjoys and why, and what distresses him. . . . Good taste develops slowly through a process of sampling. We cannot insist that the children like what we like, but we can set standards of taste by our own selections." —From "Children and TV," by Josette Frank.

What follows is a bedtime story for adults:
My daddy let me watch a TV show with him Monday night. There was a lady named Gladys. She was married to Pete. Pete and Gladys went for a ride to Colbyville. Pete and Gladys were married in Colbyville 10 years earlier. They saw the old man who married them.

The old man was called the justice of the peace. He found out Gladys really was married to Clyde Entwistle. He said this was because Pete wrote his name on the wrong line. Gladys left Pete.

She said she would stay away until Pete married her all over again. She wanted a big garden wedding. Pete bought her a big garden wedding. Pete and Gladys were married again. Pete and Gladys are on television at night.

Here's capsule report of JFK's economic report

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy's economic report at a glance:

Outlook: He views 1962 "with optimism but not complacency." The gross national product, the output of goods and services, will rise to a new peak of $570 billion.

Gains: His administration helped break "the grip of recession" in 1961. After-tax income climbed by $92 per capita and net income per farm rose by $350.

Antirecession: He wants stand-by authority to cut personal income taxes by as much as 5 percentage points for at least six months in recessions, power to add up to $2 billion to public works spending, and expanded coverage of the unemployment insurance program.

Inflation: Management and labor should recognize that "gains achieved in one turn of the price-wage spiral vanish on the next." Increased productivity is the way to higher real profits and higher real wages.

Goals: Full employment and sustained prosperity without inflation, accelerations of the nation's economic growth to 4 1/2 per cent a year, extension of equality of opportunity, and restoration of the balance of payments equilibrium in foreign trade.

Taxes: He will send to Congress later this year a major program of tax reforms for 1963. Officials have said it would broaden the definition of taxable income and cut rates.

Legion planning to circulate bonus petition

Special to The Bulletin
MADRAS — Oscar S. Nissen, Madras, vice-commander of District No. 5 of the American Legion, has announced that Legion members in Central Oregon will be asked to assist in circulating a petition to place the proposed Korean bonus on the November ballot.

This matter will be discussed at the regular meetings of the Madras post on Thursday, January 25, and the Redmond post, on the same night. Nissen said all veterans are being invited to attend these meetings.

A total of 42,429 valid signatures must be obtained before July 5 if the bonus proposal is to appear on the November ballot, Nissen said.

OPPOSES PASSPORT RULE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman Francis E. Walter, D-Pa., of the House Committee on Un-American Activities has introduced a bill designed to nullify a recent State Department passport regulation.

The Jan. 12 order would allow passport applicants charged with being Communists to question their accusers. Walter charged this would either permit Communists to examine secret government files or grant them passports.
