Women set style show at Prineville

Special to The Bulletin
PRINEVILLE — Femininity will reign unchallenged Saturday afternoon at the Prineville Golf Club house, when fashions, fables and fancies take over in the spring style show for 1962.

The varied look of fashions for this spring will be emphasized, with a marked variety of color, silhouette, fabrics and accessories.

A score of models have been chosen by seven shops to parade the new styles. Mrs. Ralph Brown will describe the costumes and accessories, with accompanying music by Mrs. Norris Bixby, organist.

Models representing the shops will be, for Erickson's, Mr. and Mrs. Dick McRae, Mrs. Earl Bankoff, Mrs. Hardy Rowland, Mrs. Ron Hudspeith and daughter Shelly, and the Misses Linda Munkres, Susan Sheik and Kathy Conroy; the Tog Shop, Mrs. Fred Gallagher, Miss Reta Robertson and Mrs. Troy Wilson.

For Judy's, Mrs. Jerry Gerke, Mrs. Johnnie Grimes and Mrs. Pete Sturza; the Country Store, the Misses Ann Hudson, Virginia Myers, Pat Hicks and Ruth Driskell. For Nourreen's Specialty Shop, Mrs. Barbara LeRoque and daughter Kathy.

For the Mode O'Day, the Misses Delores Casey, Roberta Bruce, Betty Sharp and Karen Arlington. And for Jerry Colinger's golf shop, Miss Susan Dreher.

He failed to get money to bank

A Charleston, Oregon, man who didn't make it to the bank with a deposit will have 30 days in the county jail to think about it.

Wayne Bruce Boyd, 39, was sentenced Tuesday afternoon by District Judge Joe Thalhofer, on a charge of larceny by bailie.

Boyd was returned here yesterday from Albany by Deputy Sheriff Melvin Newhouse and Bob Young. He was arrested on complaint of Mrs. Buford Rollins, who works at the Waldorf.

Mrs. Rollins had given Boyd some money to deposit for her at the bank. He didn't ever get there.

SANDRA MILLER
Prineville Roundup Queen

Queen selected for '62 Crooked River Roundup

Special to The Bulletin
PRINEVILLE — Sandra Miller, winsome blonde daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Miller, Culver ranchers, has been named as Queen of the 1962 Crooked River Roundup. She was chosen by the queen's committee of the rodeo board of directors, Wayne Houston and Alvin Grimes.

Miss Miller is 18 years old, and a 1961 graduate from the Redmond Union High School. She is currently attending Central Oregon Beauty College, in Bend. In addition to horseback riding, and her interest in hair styling, this year's roundup queen says her favorite hobbies are collecting arrowheads, and going fishing.

The two princesses for the royal court will be announced at a later date. Mrs. Houston has been named chaperon for the trio, to accompany them on their trips to other communities as they publicize the Crooked River Roundup.

Airline session due Thursday

A conference will be held in Bend tomorrow relative to a proposed re-routing of West Coast Airlines through Central Oregon and South Central Oregon.

The meeting will be at a Pilot Butte Inn luncheon, at noon, with all interested invited to attend.

The conference has been called at the request of Klamath Falls and Lakeview residents. They have asked Burns, Redmond and Bend delegations to attend, to consider a proposal that will be presented.

Robert Dunn, director of the Oregon State Board of Aeronautics, will be present for the meeting.

Also expected to receive top mention at the meeting will be the "use it or lose it" question. Because of light traffic, West Coast Airlines, which at present serves the area, may be forced to abandon its service.

Recently, the City of Redmond filed an objection with the CAB in reply to CAB's notice that Bend - Redmond and a number of other stops served by West Coast must show cause why service should not be suspended under the "use it or lose it" policy.

CLEAN GOVERNMENT
LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Democrat John C. O'Keefe, who is running for Congress, Tuesday mailed small bars of soap to voters urging his election for "clean government."

IT'S HARD TO BELIEVE BUT TRUE
By Gene Patterson

Uniforms that can be worn, then disposed of like facial tissues, are being tested by the United States Army Quartermaster Corps, the Army's supply organization. These disposable uniforms, made of paper, are being subjected to rigorous combat conditions to see how much harsh treatment they can undergo before they have to be thrown out. The advantages of such paper garments are several. The primary one, of course, is that they are inexpensive and easily replaced. Present uniforms are expensively made, and much is spent on maintenance and repair. With the new clothes, the garment that is damaged could be thrown away with relatively little monetary loss, sanitation would be improved, and a greater variety of uniforms would be possible.

Mrs. Skaggs, 41, dies suddenly

Special to The Bulletin
PRINEVILLE — Mrs. Agnes Claire Skaggs, 41, died suddenly Monday at her home in Prineville.

Recitation of the rosary will be Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at St. Joseph Catholic Church. Requiem mass will be said Friday at 10 a.m. at the church.

Mrs. Skaggs was a Prineville resident three years, coming to Central Oregon from California. She is survived by a daughter, Katherine, Prineville, and five sisters: Mrs. Christine Hayes, Wilsonville; Mrs. Mary Stocks, Tacoma, Wash.; Mrs. Ann Rahn, Salem; Mrs. Kathryn Danehy, Roy, Wash.; and Mrs. Ida Wooten, Renton, Wash.

The Prineville Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements. Burial will be in Juniper Haven.

Osborn rites due on Thursday

Special to The Bulletin
MADRAS — Funeral services for Max Ralston Osborn, 34, Jefferson County resident fatally injured in a truck accident on March 19 at Orient, near Portland, will be held Thursday, March 22. The rites will be at the Madras First Baptist Church at 2 p.m. The Rev. Asa Rice, Culver, will officiate, and burial will be in Mt. Jefferson Memorial Park.

The Madras Evergreen Chapel is in charge of arrangements. Mr. Osborn, born on May 19, 1923, at Culver, spent his entire life in Jefferson County. He attended the Culver schools and Oregon State College. Mr. Osborn was married on April 15, 1949, to Jeannetta Woodward and established his home in the Mud Springs area.

Aside from his widow, Mr. Osborn is survived by four children, Georgia Jean, Charles William, Dennis Max and Janeen Marie Osborn, all at home. Also surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Winfred Osborn, Culver and the following brothers and sisters: Winifred Taylor, Portland; George Osborn, Redding, Calif.; Dorothy Robinson, Powell Butte, and Nadine Combs, Holyoke, Mass.

The family has requested that those wishing to be remembered do so through contributions to the Oregon Society for Crippled Children, in care of the Madras U.S. National Bank.

District meet held by group

Special to The Bulletin
REDMOND — Plans for the district meeting of the Order of Eastern Star were made Monday at the regular meeting of Redmond chapter in the Masonic Hall. Chapters of the district will meet in Bend Monday, March 26. Those wishing transportation from Redmond are asked to call Mrs. Walter Hall.

It was announced that the dance which had been planned for Jobs Daughters and DeMolay a week ago will be rescheduled at a later date. The altar was draped in honor of the late Ray Dahl, worthy patron, and memorial services were conducted by G. Paul Johnston, acting worthy patron.

Mrs. John Eberhard and Mrs. Grace Frizzell reported that the Arme Club's smorgasbord Saturday evening was a successful event, with very good attendance. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Arthur Edmonds, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Blume and Mrs. Virgil Tuel.
