

DADS TO EAT—The Blue Birds annual Dad-Daughter banquet will be held at 6 p.m. in the Bend High School cafeteria. The photograph taken last week at the Camp Fire Girl's banquet shows part of the 250 people who attended. Over 400 are expected for the dinner tonight.

Neutrals favor 'third party' in Geneva talks

GENEVA (UPI) — Neutrals at the General Disarmament Conference suggested Tuesday that the United States, Britain and Russia let a third party settle their disputes about possible secret testing of atomic weapons.

But British Minister of State for Foreign Affairs Joseph Godber said the neutrals' proposal would work only if the Soviet Union permitted some inspection of its territory by others.

"If the Soviet Union continues to reject international inspection," Godber told the 17-nation conference, "it is highly improbable that any progress can be made."

The United Arab Republic, Mexico and Brazil joined in the viewpoint of four other neutrals who spoke Monday. They argued that although the United States and Britain must accept less international inspection of Soviet territory than they now demand, Russia will have to agree to some form of international inspection or arbitration in order to create international confidence and trust.

The three neutrals who spoke today said they were opposed to nuclear testing anywhere at any time. The Communist bloc promptly picked this up to demand that the United States refrain from testing nuclear weapons as long as test ban talks continue here.

The exchanges came on the second day of full-scale conference debate on the stalemate in the Anglo-American-Russian subcommittee on nuclear testing. The United States and Russia are to wind up the debate Wednesday with closing statements, although they may be subjected to further questioning by the smaller nations.

Mexico's Luis Padilla Nervo said the argument that nuclear testing is necessary to maintain an East-West military balance "is not justifiable because the health of the whole world is affected... Fallout exceeds national boundaries."

But he said minimum international inspection or control of a nuclear test prohibition is required. He suggested that both sides in the nuclear stalemate might be willing to submit to the findings of a third party composed of neutrals as to whether one or the other had tested secretly.

Way cleared for federal bridge aid

SALEM (UPI)—The way has been cleared for Oregon to get federal aid later on the $24 million Astoria-Megler bridge over the Columbia River, the Oregon Highway Commission said today.

An agreement has been reached with the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads. The state and the bureau have been ironing out details of the agreement for some time.

The commission hopes to award the first contract for the bridge in May.

The commission changed the name of Newberg State Park in Curry County to Floras Lake State Park, and approved a 160-acre addition to the park.

The commission decided not to increase the fee for camping overnight in a state park.

The commission voted to retain all present fees, including $1 per car with a trailer, $1.50 for camping overnight and 75 cents for certain camps with minimum facilities.

The State Parks Advisory Committee earlier recommended an increase in the overnight fee from $1.50 to $2 since a number of private park operators on the coast complained state park fees were adversely undercutting them.

Play is enjoyed at Silver Lake

Special to The Bulletin

SILVER LAKE — Community players at Silver Lake performed before a packed school auditorium here Saturday night, March 31 in their presentation of "Good Gracious, Grandma."

Ernie Messner as George Breckenridge also starred as "Grandma," sharing leading role honors with Melvin Rosebrook as Henry Breckenridge. Phil Menges, Jr. was outstanding as the house boy. His characterization was very pleasing to those attending from the Summer Lake, Silver Lake and Fort Rock communities.

The cast for the three act comedy also included Mr. and Mrs. Wayne DuBois, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Deadmond, Mrs. Vernon Pifer and Mrs. Gordon Emery. They presented their director, Mrs. Russell Emery, a bouquet of red and white carnations during intermission.

An original skit between acts featured Phil Menges, Jr., who stayed in character as P-Sam, as guitar accompanist for Larrie Porter, who sang, "Beautiful Dreamer."

Piano selections by Mrs. Ernie Messner and a Baton drill by primary children of the school also provided entertainment.

Proceeds of the play will go to a community project.

State session draws 4 women

Four Bend women will attend the state convention of American Association of University Women, which opens Thursday morning in McMinnville. Sessions will be held at Dillin Hall, Linfield College.

Representing the local branch will be Mrs. John Harpole, president; Mrs. Clyde Johnson, vice-president, and Mrs. William Niskanen, international relations chairman. Mrs. Sam Langmas, state international relations chairman, will also attend.

The session will run through Saturday, with a brunch at 11 a.m. as the final event. This will feature an address by Mrs. Derrick Sherman of Pittsburgh, Pa., second vice-president of the national organization.

Dr. Roy Llualllen, chancellor of the Oregon State Board of Higher Education, will speak at the banquet Friday at 6:45 p.m. in Dillin Hall. He will discuss the future of higher education in Oregon.

Other speakers scheduled for the convention are Governor Mark Hatfield, Dr. Harry Dillin of Linfield, Dr. Fred Decker of Oregon State University, Indreni Savundranavagam, Ceylon, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bauer, professional lecturers, who will show artifacts from Africa.

Businessmen hit JFK tax reform

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Business spokesmen today denounced President Kennedy's tax reform bill as an attempt to manipulate the private economy by forcing unwanted subsidies on businessmen.

At issue was the administration's proposal to provide up to $1.2 billion this year in tax credits to business to spur modernization of plants and equipment.

Harold H. Scaff, speaking for the National Association of Manufacturers, told the Senate Finance Committee the proposal seeks to "establish a precedent for tax manipulation and direction of our economic and social institutions."

A spokesman for the Chamber of Commerce, Walter A. Slowinski, said the tax relief feature would "compound the nation's fiscal and economic problems."

Rink in N.Y. painted pink

NEW YORK (UPI)—Many New Yorkers and tourists who had occasion to go to Rockefeller Plaza Tuesday probably took a second look when they passed by the ice skating rink.

The rink was painted pink. The popular rink was given its new coating in preparation for a television special, "Rockefeller Center Revue," currently being taped for viewing on NBC-TV April 17. Champion skater Dick Button and other top performers will appear on the show which, of course, will be seen in color.

It marked the first time the rink has been painted another color.

Paper drops 'Mr. X' contest

PORTLAND (UPI) — The Oregonian announced Tuesday it is ending its "Mr. X" contest after one week.

The paper announced termination of the contest "because of technical legal questions that had been raised regarding it."

Josephine County Dist. Atty. Lawrence A. Aschenbrenner last week sent a letter to the paper, asking it to refrain from advertising or circulating the contest in that county. Aschenbrenner said he believed it to be a lottery.

"While our legal counsel does not agree with this interpretation of the law, the Oregonian has decided to terminate the contest, rather than have any question as to its legality or propriety raised," the paper said.

The paper printed a picture of a well-known person with an "X" across part of his face. Contest workers then called a number of persons and the first person to identify the picture won a prize.

Gov. Rockefeller steadily looms bigger, better on GOP's horizon

By Lyle C. Wilson
UPI Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller steadily looms bigger and better on the horizon of 1964 Republican presidential politics.

Conservative Republicans will not like that. Conservative Republicans like Sen. Barry Goldwater R-Ariz. They do not much like Arizona, however, as a home base for a Republican presidential nominee. Big states make better political bases, states such as New York, California and Michigan.

Michigan might offer George Romney to the Republicans in 1964. Romney is a political maverick whom the conservatives don't like, either. Richard M. Nixon is the big Republican name in California. Like Romney, Nixon must be elected governor of his state this year to be eligible for further big league politics.

Nixon Out of Race

Unlike Romney, Nixon has taken himself out of the 1964 presidential contest on the reasonable assumption that President Kennedy cannot be denied a second term. Difficult and doubtful gubernatorial elections confront Romney and Nixon. It will not be so difficult or so doubtful for Rockefeller in New York.

Rockefeller also must be re-elected this year to remain eligible for further consideration in 1964. Moreover, he must be re-elected in a big way. Rockefeller won with a margin of 580,000 votes in 1958. He needs a margin of from 750,000 to 1,000,000 this year for an adequate blast-off toward 1964.

There are other big states such as Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois that might create a new big name Republican before the nominating conventions get going. This is possible but unlikely. The big names now established are Goldwater, Romney, Rockefeller and Nixon. Among them, Rockefeller has the early advantage.

The 1962 session of the New York legislature has just adjourned. Rockefeller emerged from that session in good shape. The big Democratic muscle in New York state is mostly in New York city, a community of numerous minority groups that usually combine to make the Democratic Party a majority party. New York Democrats seek always to make a Republican governor and a Republican legislature the bad guys in the campaign script.

Gov Is Fall Guy

The Democrats have complained that Republican state officials short changed the city on the division of tax loot, that whatever went wrong with rent control was the fault of the Republican state administration, that the Republicans withheld from the city adequate home rule, failed in most respects to consider the needs of the little people and represented—you guessed it—Wall Street.

Rockefeller and the 1962 legislature enacted legislation in these areas calculated to blunt and perhaps to stifle this kind of Democratic campaigning. Viewed from the banks of the Potomac, the Republican Party in New York state seems to be smartly led. That is a switch for New York state and would be ditto elsewhere.

The Old Guardsmen who don't like Rockefeller might take another look. He is a sound money man. The state is solvent and on a pay-as-you-go basis. Rockefeller has courage. He has the guts to slap on new taxes after he was elected in 1958 when more revenue was needed. This year he bucked and balked a bonus for Korean War vets. A good man.

Judge limits picket number

PORTLAND (UPI) — Circuit Judge Herbert Schwab Tuesday limited maritime pickets or union representatives at Terminal One here to six.

The order followed a request by American Mail Line, which has two strike-bound vessels tied up at the dock.

The line had sought a limit of three pickets after violence erupted at the dock last week when officers of the line went aboard a ship to adjust ropes.

HELD IN JAIL

Anastacio Perez Sanchez, 30, of Redmond, is held at the Deschutes county jail, pending sentencing on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon. Sanchez was arrested in Redmond, and pleaded guilty yesterday before Justice D. L. Ellis, in Redmond justice court.

Soviets critical of U.S. ships in Middle East

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Communist party charged today that the arrival of warships of the U.S. 6th Fleet in Beirut, Lebanon, constituted interference in Syrian affairs and amounted to "arrogant blackmail."

(It was reported in Beirut Tuesday that seven American vessels, including the aircraft carrier Saratoga, arrived on a visit which had been planned two months ago. There was no indication the visit had anything to do with a revolt by Syrian army officers against the military government in Damascus.)

The official Communist party newspaper Pravda said the United States was attempting to bring pressure on both Syria and neighboring Lebanon.

Change reported in angling times

SEATTLE (UPI) — All opening and closing fishing times were changed from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. PST. The International Pacific Halibut Commission announced Tuesday as it released its regulations for the coming seasons.

The time switch was only one of several changes made in the rules for the 1962 season. Another combined former areas 1A and 1B as Area 1, which includes all waters south of Willapa Bay.

Other changes concerned the length of the fishing seasons in the different areas and the travel of vessels through areas 3B and 3A.

CLOSED TO BUSINESS

DALLAS (UPI) — Grocer Fred Cheser was counting his receipts Tuesday when a masked bandit carrying a rifle came to the door. The door was locked, so the bandit walked away when Cheser refused to let him in.
