New Rose Bowl tieup looms

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI)-The chance for a new Rose Bowl agreement between the Big Ten and the Pacific Coast was rated good today after the subject became a late addition to the agenda for the Big Ten's spring meeting

The faculty representatives and Athletic Association of Western Universities to the Big Ten's proposition the two groups agree again to furnish a team annually

Although the Big Ten sugges-tion, approved in December, was presented to the AAWU in January the response was not received until Tuesday and thus with sophomore Dick Jones and the West Coast compromise offer junior Larry French also capable had not been slated for consideration.

And Pendleton has a strong hitting club led by catcher Jim AAWU did not present any major christensen, Jack Baird, Robbie Cook, French, Shirley, Tim Temderon, Streement Cook, Streeme pected to approve an agreement and perhaps make it possible for the AAWU to reach a final and binding decision on both leagues at its meeting next month.

Americans own thousands upon thousands of acres of land which the law provides shall be open to the public for hunting, fishing, camping, and other recreational pur poses. Yet, many of these public lands are in fact closed to the public, in spite of the law. The reason for this is that through confusion and government mis-management of the land that is rightfully ours to use for recreational purposes, pri-vately owned land tracts deny public access to the government lands. With the great population expansion into the Far West, where most of these public lands are located, thousands more Americans are seeking new recreational facilities. Consequently, the problem ignored - is becoming critical.
