

Sir Winston calls it quits as House member

LONDON (UPI) — A grateful Britain regretfully accepted today the reluctant decision by Sir Winston Churchill to call it quits in the House of Commons after 60 years.

The former prime minister, 83, plagued by old age and an injured leg, announced Wednesday night he would not be a parliamentary candidate in the next election. The sudden announcement virtually closed the pages of a remarkable career that spanned two world wars and countless personal adventures.

Sir Winston, now confined much of the time to a wheel chair, said his reason for quitting politics was his game leg, which prevented him from getting to Commons "as I would wish."

British newspapers generally agreed that Churchill's retirement from Commons will end one of the greatest British parliamentary careers of all time.

The Daily Mail called Sir Winston "the supreme member of the House of Commons."

"No one living has served the House of Commons for anything resembling such a period and few have served it with so deep a respect," said the Daily Telegraph. "He is, as he said himself, 'A child of the House of Commons.'"

The Daily Express said the House of Commons owes its prestige and authority among democratic assemblies "above all to the man who filled it with the flame of his inspiration and the majesty of his eloquence."

Whether Sir Winston would accept a title is not known. He declined an earldom in 1955 when he stepped down as prime minister, the post in which he achieved his greatest glory during World War II. He said he preferred to remain in Commons rather than move to the House of Lords.

Some observers believed Churchill might accept a title now that he has decided to leave the House of Commons, which he dominated for many years. He comes from a dual family.

Bend's annual clean-up, paint-up and fix-up season opens tomorrow, again under sponsorship of the Bend Junior Chamber of Commerce with Bob Dunlap as general chairman.

Calling attention to the cleanup program and awards to be offered in the contest to beautify the city, a tabloid section will appear in The Bulletin tomorrow.

The city improvement contest will continue until June 16, with judging to be done on the following day. Four major prizes will be offered.

As part of the clean-up season program, the Jaycees will undertake several projects in which the entire membership will participate.

One of the projects calls for the painting of the dressing and shower rooms at the Bend Municipal Pool.

In another undertaking, the Jaycees are to replace street refuse cans in downtown Bend.

Club members are asking residents of the entire city and downtown business places to join in the project of sprucing up Bend in advance of the 1963 tourist season.

This will be the Jaycees' third annual city beautification project. Prizes to be offered by the club will go to local residents who make the best showings in the improvement of their properties.

Top award to the first prize winner will be a folding picnic set. Second prize will be a three piece lawn set, and third, a barbecue unit. Fourth prize will be a chaise longue.

Jaycees report fine advance cooperation in plans for "prettifying" the city.

Enrollment for beginners' day has been slow this year, according to A. W. Nelson, assistant superintendent. He urged parents to sign up their beginning pupils at the school nearest their home, if they have not already received an invitation. To enter school in the fall, children must be six years old on or before Nov. 15, 1963.

Primary teachers in each building are completing preparations for entertaining both the children and their mothers. For the mothers, talks will be given by representatives of the health department, school administration and parent-teacher organizations.

The following teachers are beginners' day chairmen for their buildings: Evelyn Sather, Yew Lane; Nadine Harmon, Marshall; Joyce Bethany, Reid-Thompson; Mildred Poole, Young; Solveig Fox, Kingston; Bonnie Hollinshead, Kenwood; Olga Kjos, Allen; Lorraine Lohner, LaPine.

The survey is sponsored by the Tri-County Health Department, the Deschutes County Tuberculosis and Health Association and Deschutes county physicians, in cooperation with the State Board of Health and the Oregon Tuberculosis and Health Association.

The X-rays not only disclose early pulmonary tuberculosis in the curable stage, but are useful for showing other chest disorders such as tumors, cancer and certain heart conditions. It is pointed out by Mrs. L. B. Krebs of Bend, Deschutes county chairman.

Persons who have the X-rays will be advised of results by mail.

Beginners' day programs set for next week

The Bend Public Schools will hold annual beginners' day programs next week. Programs will be held Monday at LaPine, Tuesday at Young, Wednesday at Kenwood and Kingston, Thursday at Allen and Marshall and Friday at Reid-Thompson and Yew Lane. Chamber gets new manager

CORVALLIS (UPI)—Norris E. Johnson, manager of the Astoria Chamber of Commerce, will replace Bill Catlin, manager of the Corvallis chamber, James McEl-downey, president of the Corvallis organization, has announced.

Catlin submitted his resignation earlier, effective July 1.

Johnson, 44, had been manager of chambers at Willmar, Minn., Bozeman, Mont., and McMinnville before going to Astoria in 1960.

He did not meet with reporters, but sent an aide from his 40th floor suite in the Waldorf-Astoria Towers to the lobby to hand out the statement.

The aide said: "This is purely a legal matter and there will be no interview."

After Nixon's defeat last year in the California gubernatorial race by Gov. Edmund G. Brown,

Nixon announced he was leaving politics and criticized the press for what he said was bias against him.

The former vice president has been acting as consultant to a Los Angeles law firm.

The Nixon statement, handed out by Ned Sullivan, a friend, said:

"On June 1, 1963, I shall move my residence to New York City and shall become counsel to the firm of Mudge, Stern, Baldwin, & Todd. After I have met the six-months residence requirement of the New York law I shall apply for admission to the New York Bar. When admitted to the bar I shall become a general partner in the firm. Pending my admission to the New York Bar, I shall engage principally in matters relating to the Washington and Paris offices of the firm."

It had been rumored that a realty firm here had been asked recently to help locate a new home for the Nixon family. His wife and two teen-aged daughters were reported planning to visit Europe with him this summer prior to the move to New York.

Nixon's announcement of the move from the state which he represented for years in Congress as both a representative and senator came just 15 years after his dramatic maneuvering of Alger Hiss and Whitaker Chambers, the former Communist underground agent, into the same hotel room in a move that sparked Nixon's rise to national prominence.

That confrontation, during which Hiss, the former State Department "bright young man," said he had known Chambers, was held at the Commodore Hotel, seven blocks south of the scene of today's announcement.

Firm reveals plan to put outlet here

The construction project now under way to provide new quarters for the Montgomery-Ward order office will be expanded to include space for a new business on the corner of Wall Street and Franklin Avenue, it became known today.

The corner location will be occupied by a local outlet of Coast-to-Coast Stores, a national chain handling hardware, household and automobile goods and related items. Construction costs for the two tenants will probably be approximately $60,000.

The service station on the corner is to be demolished to provide room for the double building. Demolition of the present Montgomery-Ward store is being done by Duncan Brothers of Bend. Construction of the joint quarters is expected to start around June 1, with bids to be let the second or third week in May.

Robert C. Mention, of the architectural firm of Stearns, Mention and Morris, said today that the construction will be a duplication of that originally planned for the Montgomery-Ward store, with Coast-to-Coast to have entrances on both Wall Street and Franklin Avenue. Exterior will be of pumice block with wood facing, with the use of a special type face, being considered.

The property, owned by the Sawyer-Foley estate, is administered by the trust department of the First National Bank of Oregon. Neal Setich, in charge of the bank's construction and maintenance department, was in Bend this week to confer with the architect.

There are no plans at present for removal of two buildings facing Franklin Avenue, at the southwest corner of the property. Both are unoccupied at present, except for storage, and the bank has made no announcement of future tenants. Utilization of that space in the new construction project was at one time considered.

The take was 147 pints. One hundred fifty-eight prospective donors appeared, but 11 were rejected because of temporary health conditions, for their own protection.

The galleons are Paul Hightree, Carl Bernsten, Mrs. John M. Murner, Mrs. Robert Potter, Gerald L. Todd, Owen Rader, Tony Shine, Tom Welborn and Mrs. Melvin Rosebrook, Silver Lake.

First-timers were Mrs. E. G. Duberow, Mrs. Alan Libby, Lee Daniels, Ken Nairns, Mrs. William Ray, Roger Gibson, Mrs. Lyman Johnson and Mrs. Ted Emery, Silver Lake.

The usual refreshments were augmented this time by hot bouillon provided by the Deschutes County Cow Belles. It was served by Mrs. Don Peterman and Mrs. Lloyd Parker.

Volunteers expressed special appreciation to the high school students who assisted in setting up and dismantling the equipment. In the group were Mike Clark, Jerry Wetle, Jim Tye and Ron Wood.

The fire had destroyed a commercial building, a bar, a grocery, the Cordova Airlines office and a new bowling alley.

There were no immediate reports of injuries.

The Coast Guard cutter Sedge was standing by about 900 feet offshore, serving as a communications ship.

United Church Women of Bend will sponsor their annual May Fellowship Day service Friday at 1:30 p.m. at Trinity Episcopal Church. An informal tea will follow in the parish hall.

Commissioners set wheels in motion for resumption of Bend paving projects

By Gerald Drapeau
Bulletin Staff Writer

Local city commissioners last night gave the signal to go ahead with resumption of some long-delayed paving projects in the city.

Cautious about street improvement programs since the unfavorable Third Street appeal, the board nevertheless decided that paving of certain streets is vital to the flow of traffic.

First paving project will be on a three-block portion of W. 11th Street between Newport and Quincy. This section is considered an arterial or "feeder" street for motorists living in West Hills homes. Other roadways slated for paving operations are E. Seward, Sixth to Eighth; E. Kearney, Fifth to Sixth; E. Lafayette, Seventh to Tenth, and an alley between blocks 21 and 28 in the Wiestoria Addition.

About ten affected property owners, who will have to shoulder part of the financial paving costs for W. 11th, appeared by commissioner request at the regular meeting. Most appeared to favor the project. Opinions of other property owners, stated in letters sent the city, were about 50-50 in approving or disapproving.

The paving of W. 11th will cost an estimated $13,664.94. Of this amount, the city will pay about 21 per cent. The remainder will be shared on a 50-50 basis by abutting property owners and those living in an adjacent district. Assessments for improvements on E. Third, last year, were contested in circuit court by property owners because they were made to assume all of the costs.

An exacting street improvement policy has not yet been formulated, but the fact that dirt street maintenance is so costly to the city demands the formulation of one soon. Maintaining dirt streets in 1962 cost the city $17,028.33; paved streets only $16,542.02.

In other business, commissioners:

1. Tabled a request by Gordon and Wilma Hallin to operate a concession stand in the Juniper Park swimming pool area. The board said first choice for a franchise should go to the Rotary Club, whose money contributions have aided the park considerably.

2. Announced they would open an alley in Block 34, Center Addition, if a majority of abutting property owners request it. The alley is bounded by Lafayette on the north, Kearney on the south, between Fifth and Sixth Streets.

3. Tabled a request by contractor Walter Marken to open E. Quimby between E. 11th and 12th, until a definite street policy is formulated. Marken is building houses on Quimby lots.

"This has not been an easy decision for me to make, because I have loved my years with the Camp Fire Girls organization," Mrs. Elder said in her letter of resignation. "I know, though, that my place is with Joe in Madras."

She expressed her appreciation to board members and other workers in the program, and all friends of the Camp Fire movement. "The many friends and associations that I have had in Camp Fire will always be a cherished memory for me," she said.

MRS. JOE ELDER
Mrs. Elder resigns post

Mrs. Joe Elder, Deschutes county executive secretary for Camp Fire Girls, Inc., submitted her resignation at a Camp Fire board meeting last night. She has held the position for 19 years.

Henry H. Hall, board president, expressed regrets on behalf of the board, and thanked Mrs. Elder for her "long and dedicated" service.

When she took over the office in 1944, it was pointed out, there were only 27 girls in the Camp Fire program in Bend and Redmond, in three groups. Now the enrollment numbers over 600 girls, in four age levels, with 49 groups in the county.

Adult participation has shown corresponding growth, with one or two leaders in charge of each group, and a committee representing each sponsoring group sharing responsibility. The board now consists of 31 persons.

Mrs. Elder gave the customary 30 days notice, and if a replacement is obtained by then, plans to move in early June to Madras. Her husband is parts manager for H. S. Michaels Motors there, and took over his duties last October. He is looking for suitable housing in Madras.

"This has not been an easy decision for me to make, because I have loved my years with the Camp Fire Girls organization," Mrs. Elder said in her letter of resignation. "I know, though, that my place is with Joe in Madras."

Richard Nixon reveals he's moving to New York

NEW YORK (UPI)—Richard M. Nixon announced today that he is moving to New York and will become a general partner in a law firm, working mainly on affairs in Washington and Paris.

The former vice president and California native, who missed being elected president in 1960 by the narrowest of margins, announced his move here from Los Angeles in a brief written statement.

He did not meet with reporters, but sent an aide from his 40th floor suite in the Waldorf-Astoria Towers to the lobby to hand out the statement.
