KLIEWER: Center seeks to educate community about mental health care

We want the people of Wallowa County to know that we are doing all we can to provide this kind of compassionate, effective care. The fact is that treatment works, and we can help almost every kind of mental health or addiction issue.

We can deal with many levels of severity. And we are good at what we do.

We hope, in the coming months, to help you understand more about mental health and addictions issues, and what we can do to help. Keep your eye on the Chieftain.

Next time: the mental health/addiction issues you don't see.

Our phone is 541-425-4524. Our crisis number is 541-398-1175. Or visit our page on Facebook.

LETTERS: Reader calls for more access to falls

In 1947, the Boy Scouts purchased the land from PP&L, and allowed the public access to view the falls. If there was a Boy Scout camp in session, they would place a sign on the gate and people would not enter until the camp was over.

My family purchased a cabin in the Methodist Church Camp area in 1954. We have stayed at the lake every summer since that time. We used to walk to the falls every day, and my children and grandchildren have done the same. Over the years, there have been thousands of people who walk by our cabin on their way to the falls. Many of these people had returned to see the falls, many were new visitors who heard about the falls. They come from the state camp ground, cabins, and other places to stay while visiting the Lake.

We appreciate the vision and hard work of Ken Coreson and his Board of Directors for "Creating Memories." We understand that the camp will have its first guest in the near future. However, for us, this beautiful place is Holy Ground, and we believe God created it for all to enjoy. Consequently, we are requesting that the Board of Directors continue the tradition of allowing the public access to the falls when camp is not in session.
