Windstorms wreak havoc; sunshine kills pesky germs

· Oregon goes dry tomorrow night, so far as the sale of liquor is concerned. From Saturday morning on, it will be illegal to make or sell intoxicating liquor of any kind for a beverage in the state, or to give it away. Any "wet" goods on hand may be consumed by the owner, but he may not dispose of it to others only at the risk of prosecution under one of the most strict and carefully drawn statutes in the United States. In this county the new constitutional amendment will close three saloons, two in Joseph and one in Lostine.

• Sunshine is an amazingly potent germicide for the farm housekeeper and in the dairy and stables. The practice of exposing cooking and other utensils used in connection with food to direct sunlight makes use of this fact, although comparatively few appreciate exactly the work done by the sun in this regard. Probably only those who are acquainted with tests which have actually been made realize how quickly sunshine kills disease germs exposed to it.

• Damage estimated at $500 or $600 was done to the Bob Inn Tuesday night by a fire which apparently started from a short in the Frigidaire. The fire was discovered shortly before midnight by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harmon who were going by across the street. The fire department had to break in the glass door to get in.

Ever since he entered the business world he has occupied positions of trust and responsibility. He has a record of over 50 years on the school boards of Joseph and Wallowa and in post offices in both places. Mr. McCully will be greatly missed in the church and civic life of this

· One of the worst windstorms in the history of Wallowa county struck with 100-mile-per-hour fury Monday creating havoc from one end of the valley to the other. Buildings were wrecked, trees uprooted, power lines knocked down and debris scattered far and wide, from demolished signs, roofs, fences and other demolished facilities. Hundreds of home owners reported window and roof damage throughout the

• Photo caption: At Joseph, Santa Claus, said to bear a striking resemblance to one of Walter Brennan's mimics, showed up last Thursday and handed out treats to a large number of children at the Civic Center. Among those hanging around for a glimpse of old St. Nick was little Diane Daggett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Daggett. Santa was as much attracted to her as she was to him.

• Photo caption: This was the scene that greeted John Burritt when he entered the auditorium of the Elks lodge Christmas morning and found that burglars had broken into the building and stolen a considerable quantity of currency and liquor. The robbers chiseled out concrete blocks in the east wall of the building, made a 2-foot hole, and knocked off the wall panels when they got through the concrete.

· While the two Arctic sub-zero fronts that blasted the region during the past two weeks haven't set any records, they made life plenty miserable in Wallowa County. The minus -25 degree reading experienced in Enterprise Friday night is the coldest since February, 1989.

· From the classifieds section: For sale - seasoned lodgepole firewood, $70 cord. For rent - Enterprise 3BR 2BA home, $385 month. For rent - 2BR house near Joseph. Stove & refrigerator $250 month.

• The Wallowa County Court on Wednesday voted to consider hiring District Attorney Mary Grote as the county's legal representative in civil matters amid threats of a recall election

· The residents of Wallowa will enjoy its second old-fashioned Twelfth night of Christmas celebration bonfire, fueled by discarded Christmas trees Sunday, Jan. 6, at the empty lot next to Wallowa Hardware. The Wallowa Improvement group will provide hot chocolate, and some residents brought along other goodies last year when the event featured music and Christmas carols.

Several readers contacted us with guesses as to the location of last week's photo of a local diner. One caller said it was the Range Rider, as you could see the Bowlby stone of the old Chieftain building through the window. However, the photo was from the 1950s, and the Range Rider didn't move into its current location until much later. Jerry McCully of Mesa, Ore., emailed to say it was "The "Bob-Inn," I think. It was about three doors east of corner across from Ford dealer." Another email said: "I believe this is a photo of the old Circle T Restaurant in Enterprise. I don't know the year, but that's Carlene Johnson-Small called to say it likely was the Frontier Club, located at the current site of Thai Enterprise at 215 W. Main, and that if you walked through the diner there was a bar to the side at the back. She also said that at the time there also were two taverns - Range Rider and Headquarters — side-by-side across from the theater.
