

Wallowa Sun building burns down

100 YEARS AGO April 27, 1916

Under the direction of their teacher, Miss Josie A. Butterfield, eighth grade pupils of Enterprise visited Enterprise last week. They had planned to walk down, but four owners of automobiles would not listen to this and brought them down in their cars. While the chief object of interest in town was the plant of the East Oregon Lumber company, the pupils made their first stop at the Record Chieftain shop where they were most cordially welcomed.

An experiment with the object of learning whether the old red fish that filled the lake and the streams of the county in early days, can be brought back is being made by the state fish and game commission. A total of six cars or 2,100,000 fish will be planted in the lake.

The fish are blue black salmon, the correct name for the old red fish.

The public mass meeting to consider the site for the new home for the schools of Enterprise, has been called for Tuesday evening. At that time the board and committee will make report ... on all matters affecting both site and building. One site naturally is the block on which the grade school building now stands, with the addition of the block immediately west of it. The other site proposed embraces what is known as the old brewery property just south of the flume, on River street, and the tract west of this, extending through to Depot street.

to Cove where they enjoyed swimming and baseball. In the afternoon they moved on to La Grande and that evening had a banquet. After the banquet all went to the skating rink at Zuber hall. They were chaperoned by Mr. Hockett, Mr. Zike, Mrs. Coffin and Mrs. N. B. Sandlin.

Eight people were hospitalized as the result of injuries received in two car wrecks last week. A car driven by Fred Coker went off the highway just south of the Eggleston curve on the Joseph highway last Wednesday. Saturday night a truck driven by Frank McCulloch of Wallowa went off the highway near the Ed Hook place between Lostine and Wallowa and several of the McCulloch children were seriously injured.

Baseball had its comeback in Wallowa county last Sunday when the Enterprise town team went to Joseph for a game and won by a score of 17 to 7. Play of course was ragged due to insufficient practice and a rough field. Base hits were plentiful, as were errors. The Enterprise lineup included Lee Corbin, Harold Burgett, Bob Storm, Marvin Vancil, Klon Matthews, Deb Denney, Wingert Walker, Jack Hays and Jim Hombel. Others playing were Don Kirkman, Merwyn Zollman and Tony Goebel.

lowa went up in smoke Sunday when the Wallowa fire department burned it to the ground. The building was the original home of the Wallowa Sun, a weekly newspaper published at Wallowa for many years. It was also operated as a blacksmith shop by Bill Skelton. The structure stood at the corner near the McCrae residence and the old Wallowa County Creamery buildings.

Shown lowering the heavy stone into place are Leon Bock, in charge of block and masonry work on the project, and Elvin McCullough, superintendent for the prime contractor. McCullough is holding a box which contains current documents and a current copy of the Wallowa County Chieftain. The box was embedded in the cornerstone.

The wives of the third of three Boise Cascade crews at Joseph were paid tribute by the management of the corporation Saturday night for their part in the safety program at the Joseph mill. The occasion was a record of 800 days without a lost-time accident by the crew. Each of the ladies present received an electric carving knife as a gift from the company.

News from Lostine: Mrs. Kenneth Moffit ordered a monkey for her sons, Jerry and Gary, from Florida. They named it Ringo. They had it nine days and suddenly it died for no known reason.

Winners of the Wallowa Valley Eagles Auxiliary "What I Like Best About My Hometown" art program in grades 3-6 were recently announced for Wallowa County. Winners were Zac Byers, Michelle McNall, Lacey Vernam and Christine Pace.

The Enterprise Savages' 317-stroke golf victory at the Burns Invitational last Monday set Coach Dick Quinn's head spinning with thoughts of the future. Sam Morgan and Brent Eddy paced the Savages with identical, six-over-par, 76-stroke finishes. Brant Corak fired an 80 and Lance Homan rounded out the team effort with an 81.
