Another shipment of knit goods was sent to La Grande last week by the Enterprise Red Cross, consisting of nine sweaters, three mufflers, three pairs of wristlets and four pairs of socks. About 40 women and girls are now knitting, but the number is not large enough. The Red Cross has also begun making surgical dressings.

Enterprise School District has announced it will operate on a $25,070 budget for the coming year. The bulk of it, $15,390, will go to teacher salaries. Roughly $10,000 of the revenue needed will come from sources outside the district with the remainder borne by taxpayers.

training in San Diego and Susan will fly to Parris Island, S.C., in December for Woman Marine training. Two older brothers — John and Erroll — are also Marines.

More than 400 feet of interior wall framing at the new Joseph School was blown down Saturday during a violent wind storm that swept across the upper valley. The wind scattered lumber across the building site and moved the construction office shak six feet.

Arly Evans, owner of Evans Jewelry in Enterprise announced he plans to close out the stock of his store and discontinue business. Evans has been in business in the city since 1949.

Good Co, a Seattle-based six-piece electro-swing band, will perform a benefit concert for Wallowa Land Trust at 7 p.m. Friday, Nov. 3, at OK Theatre in downtown Enterprise.

Good Co to play Land Trust fundraiser Nov. 3 at OK

Wallowa Land Trust will bring vintage swing with a twist to Wallowa County Thursday, Nov. 3.

Good Co, a Seattle-based six-piece electro-swing band, takes swing music and mixes it with modern dance-beats. In addition to an evening concert, Good Co will provide a free outreach program to the children of Wallowa County.

The concert is 7 p.m. at OK Theatre in downtown Enterprise.

All ticket sales and proceeds will support Wallowa Land Trust.

Tickets are available at M.

Crow, The Bookloft, Joseph Hardware and online at wallowalandtrust.org.

Good Co's youth outreach program covers the history and origins of jazz music.

The free outreach program for Wallowa County youth will be 1:30 p.m. Thursday at the OK Theatre.

Students will have the opportunity to interact with a professional band including hands-on experiences to develop skills such as critical listening, performance technique, intonation and rhythm.

Wallowa Land Trust is coordinating with teachers throughout the county to include as many children of all ages and skill levels as possible.

Wallowa Land Trust is a nonprofit founded in 2004 by Wallowa County landowners and residents whose mission is to protect the rural nature of the area by working cooperatively with private landowners, Indian tribes, local communities and governmental entities to conserve land.

The Land Trust uses voluntary, nonregulatory tools to protect natural areas, wildlife habitat, open spaces and working lands.

Program offers warm coats for children and adults

Donations of children's coats are needed

The Wallowa County Rotary Club, in partnership with Building Healthy Families, has new and donated coats available for area children and adults.

Area residents are asked to donate warm coats, gloves and hats for distribution to children and adults in need in Wallowa County.

The program typically distributes 200 coats each fall.

In addition to the traditional donated Coats for Kids

Program, the Rotary Club and Building Healthy Families distribute new coats through area schools and Head Start.

Using input from area teachers and social workers, approximately 75 new coats will be distributed this fall.

Individual Wallowa County Rotarians and local benefactors donate roughly $2,000 each year to purchase these coats.

Donations of new youth size coats are also welcome; please bring them to Building Healthy Families at 207 NE Park St, Enterprise.

Coat drop boxes are located at Safeway, the Bank of Eastern Oregon and Community Bank branches in Joseph and Enterprise.

Wallowa residents are asked to donate coats directly to the Wallowa Resale Store on Main Street. The program is especially in need of child-sized coats this year.

In Enterprise, the coats are available at the Wallowa Valley Professional Building on the corner of First and Greenwood 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. New items will be added weekly as they become available until the end of November.

Contact Marilyn Dalton at Building Healthy Families 541-426-9411 or Rob at 541-432-4343.
