

OBITUARIES

Barbara Callahan-Chappell
April 2, 1932 — Nov. 25, 2017

Our mother, Barbara (Barbie) Louise Callahan-Chappell, 85, of Spokane, Wash., passed away peacefully Nov. 25, 2017, surrounded by family.

Born April 2, 1932, in Kennewick, Wash., she was the daughter of the late Robert Christensen and Willa Christensen.

Mom had many loves: her family, the outdoors, fishing and hunting, her animals, and of course, her talent as a teacher and artist in many respects of painting, to name a few.

She was a dedicated sports fan to the Mariners, Seahawks and let's not forget Gonzaga. She had incredible knowledge of history and only mom could ever out talk you until 3 a.m. when you paid her a visit.

Her beautiful life will be forever cherished in the lives of her children. Mom was a great intellect, a strong woman, good friend to many and most of all a wonderful mother. We will all miss her beyond measure. Our hearts are heavy but are smiling as she is at peace.

She is survived by her six children; daughter Connie Williams and husband Willie of Greenacres, Wash.; daughter Chris Morrison-Berger and husband Mike of Maple Valley, Wash.; son Tommie D. Callahan III of Pilot Rock, Ore.; son Robert Callahan of Bullhead, Ariz.; daughter Patty Orcutt and husband Jim of Lewiston, Idaho; son Scott Callahan Sr. of Pilot Rock; five grandchildren, Zachary, Stephanie, Tommie, Scott and Sydney; and four great-grandchildren; Yesenia, Robert, Athena and Aiden. She was preceded in death by her parents, husbands Tommie Callahan, Jr. and Eugene Chappell and granddaughter Jennifer Prince.

Graveside services were Dec. 2 at Riverview Heights Cemetery in Kennewick. The family invites you to sign the tribute wall at muellersfuneralhomes.com.

Lila Moore

May 28, 1938 — Nov. 25, 2017

I was born May 28, 1938, on a ranch near Ashland, Kan. My mother was Capa Willard and dad's name was Faye Willard.

I started school in De Soto, Kan., before we moved to Portland, Colo., where my dad was a foreman at the Portland cement plant. I went to school in Florence, Colo., and graduated from Florence High School. While there, I met Lowell Moore at a dance.

He was stationed at Camp Carson near Colorado Springs. We were engaged for two years while I was finishing high school and he finished his tour in Germany. We married June 3, 1956, and traveled to Oregon to meet his mother Myrtle, father Raymond, and his family. We returned to Colorado where he worked at Pueblo Army Depot.

We lived in Pueblo, Canon City and Black Forest, Colo. After our daughter and son were in school, I worked as a teachers aide at the Air Academy grade school, retiring in 1993. After retirement, we moved to Troy, Ore., and later bought Lowell's mother's house in Asotin where we spent the winters.

We always raised a garden and fruit trees and canned many vegetables and fruit.

I am survived by my husband Lowell; daughter Gail Lynn Moore-Pivoda; and son-in-law Monte Pivoda; sisters Wanda and Waunita in Colorado and Carol in Arkansas; brother-in-law Orvis Moore of Troy, Ore.; sister-in-law Darlene Moore of Lewiston; many nieces and nephews in Lewiston and Colorado. I was preceded in death by son Duane; my mother and father; granddaughter Shana Lynn Pivoda; mother-in-law Myrtle; father-in-law Raymond; and brothers-in-law Marlin Moore, Louis Bononcini and Ben Baccarella.

A memorial will be held at a later date.

Rosemary B. Green

March 4, 1928 — Dec. 1, 2017

Rosemary Barnes Green, 89, passed away in College Station, Texas. A memorial service will be held at Christ United Methodist Church in College Station 11 a.m. Jan. 6, 2018.

Rosemary was born March 4, 1928, in San Diego at Mercy Hospital. She was the only child of Wilmeth (Chapman) and Hartwick Barnes, growing up in the Mission Hills district of San Diego. She attended elementary school there and Francis Parker private school, Roosevelt Junior High School and San Diego High.

Growing up on Cypress Way, she played with the neighborhood kids; played ball in the street with the boys; and pulled a Scotty dog named Glenna around in a little red wagon.

Rosemary was a gifted student, had piano lessons for eight years and belonged to the ZLAC Rowing Club on Mission Bay where she rowed competitively. Her father was a member of the San Diego Yacht Club where Rosemary learned sailing and enjoyed swimming. In summers Rosemary spent time in Julian, Calif., working with her uncle, Franklin Barnes, packing apples and pears. During the summer, she also took ice skating lessons at Glacier Gardens.

She entered Stanford University in 1949, studying biological sciences, psychology and Spanish. Later in life, she could speak four languages — Spanish, Portugese, German and French. She also studied Japanese.

Rosemary met Don Green at Stanford University, and they were married in 1948. They moved to San Diego County.

Four children followed in rapid succession: Catherine, Lucinda, Margery and Douglas. Vacations included sailing, camping, backpacking, skiing and visiting most of the National parks in the west. They bought acreage in El Cajon (San Diego County) where they developed an avocado ranch with Rosemary's parents. All their children attended school in El Cajon and became university graduates.

Rosemary was a wonderful homemaker and caring mother. She was an excellent seamstress, making dresses for her daughters and costumes for several community theatres. After the children left home, she became a certified Spanish and Latin teacher, teaching gifted and high school students. Her greatest joy was being with her children and grandchildren.

In 1972 Rosemary and Don bought a cattle ranch in Oregon. They also became licensed pilots, flying all over the Northwest. Rosemary became a member of the "99s", an international women's flying club. She would often fly a Cessna 182 solo to meetings.

In later years, their travels took them to Alaska, Brazil, Belize and the Caribbean, Germany, Spain, Turkey and Papua New Guinea.

Rosemary and Don were members of the Joseph United Methodist Church in Oregon and Christ UMC in College Station. They spent more than 50 years singing together in church choirs.

They moved to Texas in 2011 to live near their daughter Catherine. Survivors include husband Don, all four children, eight grandchildren and 10 great grandchildren.

ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

Jimmy Wells

This week's athlete of the week is basketball player Jimmy Wells of Enterprise High School. The amazing senior took the court by storm during the Outlaws 51-48 loss to Elgin in the championship game of the Enterprise Winter Classic tournament on Dec. 9.

Wells scored nearly half the team's points, using his laser focus and 110 percent effort in breaking through the Huskies' iron-curtain zone defense for his 23-point effort. Wells is a constant honor roll presence and participates in FFA. He intends to study wildlife sciences upon graduation.
