Ok Theatre owner Darrell Brann is staging a reunion concert with brother Craig Brann at the OK Theatre on Friday, June 15. The event is fourth of the Countdown to Centennial fundraisers held for the theater's refurbishment.
 Craig Brann is a highly respected jazz studio musician in New York City who makes occasional forays to Wallowa County to visit his brother's family and perform music.
 The duo last performed at a popular 2015 concert at the Rim Rock Inn north of Enterprise. The show focused on blues and some roots music, but the OK concert will reach further afield and give listeners a glimpse of the brothers' respective musical journeys.
 Brann said it's possible that several music guests will appear to perform as well.
 "We'll probably create an arc to our musical journey as brothers," Brann said. "The idea is that we'll be doing some talking about our upbringing for those who aren't aware of it, and what led us to where we're at."

 The brothers will first play together as a duo with songs they learned from their father then on to songs they developed on their own.
 "Craig will play jazz, and I'll play whatever I come up with," Brann said with a laugh.
 Following that, the brothers will play with guests, possibly including Meredith Brann, Brann's daughter.
 Tickets for the event are $15 and available at The Bookloft and Dollar Stretcher in Enterprise, Joseph Hard-ware in Joseph and at the door as well as eventbrite.com.

OBITUARIES

Walter Joe Williams
 Dec. 10, 1939 — Nov. 10, 2017

Williams

Walter Joe Williams was born in Pomeroy, Wash., to Jasper Royal and Gladys Bertha (Olsen) Williams. He was a long-time resident of Enterprise.
 Walter had a machine shop and one of the first foundries in the area. He used die-casting, lost wax casting, sand-casting and injection molding methods.
 He was a machinist and a mechanic, builder, woodworker, welder and inventor. He loved to restore old cars and tractors. He had his own sawmill that he and his son Royal built.
 He used some of his lumber to build his cabin and also cut lumber for others. He was always willing to help anyone on their projects.
 Walter is preceded in death by his partner, Bonnie Beachy; two sisters, Bonnie and Norma Jean; and a nephew, Robbie.
 Walter's survivors include a brother David Williams, daughter Juanita (Jim) Misner, son Royal Williams, two step-sons Rod and Roger Foster, nine grandchildren, 13 great-grandchildren, two nieces Carolyn and Melissa and nephew Victor.
 A memorial service will be held at Abundant Life Assembly, 206 NE 1st St., Enterprise 3 p.m. July 7. The Rev. Micah Agnew will be the officiant.

CORRECTION

A quote in last week's sports story regarding the successes of the Wallowa High School Trap Shooting Team. "We have some kids who were not very athletic, and we finally found a niche for them where the kids are doing fantastic," should have been attributed to club coach Scott West. The Chieftain regrets the error.
