

STITCH by STITCH

Wallowa Mountain Quilters Guild hosts annual show

Touching the quilts Causes chocolate To taste like Liver!

P

Paul Wahl/Chieftain

Marietta Herincks inspects one of the quilts at the Wallowa Mountain Quilt Guild show Saturday.

Paul Wahl/Chieftain

Norma McDaniel and Pat Ulrich, both of Lostine, spent time looking over the entries in the Wallowa Mountain Quilters Guild show Saturday at Joseph High School.

Kathleen Ellyn/Chieftain

Crystal Bruce of Teton, Idaho, and Melody Bruce of Enterprise examine the quilt of their friend Laura Burton at the Wallowa Mountain Quilters Guild show in Joseph. Burton's Rhapsody in Blues appliqué quilt was a striking example of the quilting talent in the county

Kathleen Ellyn/Chieftain

Karen McIver of Joseph explains her answer to the "row by row" quilting challenge that Wallowa Mountain Quilters Guild undertook from Sept. 2017 to May 2018. She created six distinctive rows of embroidery for her quilt, which was pieced by Bobbi Thomson and quilted by Denise Kuppinger.

is n

