David Arthur Snodderly
Age 76

David had a love for life. He was dedicated to business, family and friends.

David wanted the best for everyone. David was born in Garfield County, Pomeroy Washington 7/22/41 at 4:00 a.m. to parents Clara Delia Lynch Snodderly, age 34, and Ed William Snodderly, age 37. David died at 5:15 p.m. 10/29/17 at home with family. Parkinson’s disease was the cause of his death. David was the 6th generation decedent of Nicholas Gibbs who fought in the American Revolution. David was the 6th child of 7. Brothers and sisters: Edgar, Lorna, Diane, Laddie, Tim, and Terry. He was preceded in death by brothers Edgar and Laddie, father Ed, mother Clara, step-father Lawrence Bennett, and granddaughter Cassandra Hood.

Graveside services were held at Lostine Cemetery in Lostine Oregon November 6, 2017 at 11:00 a.m. with family and friends attending. His wife Diana, his friend Jim Victor, and his son Drew Spoke. Rahn Hostetter said a prayer. Drew Snodderly played violin on his grandmother’s violin: Mary Young and Fair, Amazing Grace, and Irish Washer Woman.

David served in the Air Force, so Brian Bork, his nephew and his sister Diane arranged for an Honor Guard, Flag Ceremony, and firing of arms. A special thanks goes out to John Stonebrink of Enterprise, who was in charge of assembling the Honor Guard, and to everyone involved. Pallbearers were Edward Terry Snodderly, Jim Victor, Dan Markes, Drew Snodderly, Bradley Stein, Rick Stein, and David Gravelle. A reception followed at Wallowa Senior Center in Wallowa, OR.

David attended Lostine school in Lostine Oregon, 1st-8th grade. Then he moved to Enterprise Oregon and graduated from Enterprise High School in 1959. David attended OSU in the fall term. He ran out of dough for the next term, and worked for Duchy on the Union Pacific Railroad that winter before returning to school in the spring. He started out in engineering, but drawing was not his strong suit, so after working in the woods out of Eugene OR, that summer David transferred to U of O in the fall of 1960, and got in two terms again that year towards a degree in business. He bounced around from southern CA to Eugene OR over the next two years. Married Sandy Palanuik from Springfield OR. in 1962. Daughter Brenda was born and David joined the U.S.A.F. on July 25th, 1963. The U.S.A.F. trained David as an air traffic controller and he performed that task for them for four years in Glasgow, Montana, Udorn, Thailand, and Riverside Ca. David opted for school over a civilian controller job in 1967. While in the U.S.A.F. he gained another language (Thai), his private single-engine-land pilot’s license, and enough transfer units to re-enter U of O as a junior. David graduated in 1969 with a B of A in International Business, not a sloth path to the degree, but after 10 years it finally happened. David also built an airplane with his brother Tim.

In 1969 David went to work for the Louis Courtemanche Organization (he owned the Oregon Bank and Northwest Acceptance Corp.) David worked for Northwest Acceptance until 1974, starting as a collector and finally working as an outside salesman, selling lease and purchase money for trucks and heavy equipment in northern CA.

In 1974 using the contacts generated with the Acceptance Corp. David took on the challenge of forming an association of contract loggers, providing a presence in the California legislative process (lobbying) as well as agglomerations for purchasing Ins. and other services. David stayed with ACL (Associated California Loggers) for the next 5 years until 1979. Having sold his interest in ACL, David purchased a marina called Brono’s Island. That purchase was a training ground for doing something the hard way. In 1988 David married Diana Hall (Diana Bartmess) originally from Lostine Oregon. They were partners in life. Their son Drew was born in 1991. Diana’s mother, Winnifred Maxwell Bartmess-John lived with them in Lodi CA. until she died in 2011. For those who know Dale Bartmess, Winnie is also his mother, David’s father-in law Arther Bartmess, Oscar Maxwell was Winnifred’s father to demonstrate our Wallowa County roots.

After 23 years the marina was pretty well paid for. Then David came out of semi-retirement to renew his real estate brokers license at age 68. He wanted his son Drew to learn about work ethics and responsibility. He also borrowed a fair sum against the Island and invested it in a development firm that was worth a large sum in 2005 before going belly up.

David subscribed to the Jim Roen saying “Being broke is a state of account; being poor is a state of mind”. David had been broke a couple of times, but was never poor. David worked with his brothers and sisters to do family planning for their mother Clara Bennett. Which for him was an honor. He loved them all dearly. Survivors include Wife Diana, Daughter Brenda Stein, son-in-law Rick Stein, grandson Bradley Stein, son Drew Snodderly, daughter-in-law Anna Snodderly, Granddaughter Eleanor Snodderly, daughter-in-law Nadine Senderling, Grandson’s Sean Senderling, and Dylan Senderling, Sisters Lorna Greeley, Diane Sweek, Harvey Sweek, brothers Tim Snodderly, Edward Terry Snodderly, nieces and nephews.

George “Doug” McDaniel,
September 12, 1935 - August 15, 2019

George “Doug” McDaniel, 83, passed away peacefully on August 15th at Wallowa Memorial Hospital. He was born on September 12, 1935 in Wallowa, as the youngest son of Lawton and Florence McDaniel. The Wallowa Valley has been Doug’s home for over 83 years; as it has been the home of the first four generations of his family. His lineage goes back to one of the original founding families who settled in Wallowa County. His home residence is Lostine.

Coming from a humble beginning, Doug began working at age 13, putting in 30 hours a week at a local dairy farm. From an early age, he demonstrated work ethic that was unparalleled. He graduated from Wallowa High School in 1953 and worked as a logger from the ages of 17 to 30, all while attending classes at Oregon State University. Over the course of his life, Doug was a successful entrepreneur, starting five companies and was also directly involved in many different business endeavors. In 1965, on a foundation of only two chainsaws, a rented 1955 Chevrolet station wagon, and less than $3,000, he started DMcD Corporation. With unwavering effort and determination, he transformed the company from a small logging operation into a respected company employing over 100 people. After leaving the logging and construction industry, Doug owned and operated a successful cattle business that he ran on the old B & H Ranch located on 7,300 acres on Chesnimus Creek in a remote area of Wallowa County. Embracing a work ethic that can be characterized as “if something is worth doing, it’s worth doing right” he exemplified to our family time and time again what it meant to work your hardest and be proud of what you could accomplish with only your two hands and some of that unique brand of McDaniel stubbornness and determination.

Ever the outdoorsman, Doug had a love of many outdoor passions including hunting, fly fishing, hiking, skiing, and drift boat adventures. He was always happy to share his love of the outdoors with friends and family alike, usually out-performing us all. This love of natural environments translated into his fierce advocacy for natural resources management, as apparent by his role as one of the founding members of Wallowa Resources and 25 years of service with the organization. Complementary to his role and involvement at Wallowa Resources, he took every opportunity to educate himself and others regarding the vital importance of sustainable land management practices. Doug was so passionate about his natural environment, for a land that he knew like the back of his hand and loved so well, that he pioneered an ambitious river restoration project. Every step of the way, he saw to the implementation of the river project on his property and inspired others to implement the same type of stewardship project on their lands.

In addition to sharing his love and passion for the natural environment, Doug shared many other of his life’s pursuits with those he loved. He loved taking every opportunity to grab the hand of his cherished wife of 21 years, Gail Hammack, and pull her onto the dance floor. He also took every opportunity to learn more as he was always quick with a book recommendation and was known to buy multiple copies of books he felt were particularly impactful just so that he might share them with others. Quick-witted as he was, another favorite pastime of his was sharing in countless games of a McDaniel favorite card game known as “Oh Heck” where he beat us all a majority of the time.

Doug was also passionate about giving back and encouraging our family to do the same. He set an example of commitment to the community as he and Gail hosted a community Thanksgiving dinner for over 20 years so that others would always have a place of light, love, and great food, to celebrate the holiday.

The impact he left on his family, community, and the land he loved so much is an everlasting and exquisitely beautiful testament to his life and what he stood for. While the inspiration of his life will live on in us and so many others that he impacted, we will all miss him dearly.

Doug was preceded in his passing by his parents, Lawton and Florence McDaniel; his stepmother, Claire McDaniel; his sister Donna Lee (John) Skovlin; his brother Keith (Noma) McDaniel; and his daughter, Terri McDaniel. He leaves behind his wife of 21 years, Gail Hammack; his brother Richard (Nan) McDaniel; his son Todd McDaniel, granddaughter Ashlee (Matthew) McDaniel, and grandson Austin (Jacque) McDaniel; daughter Darcy (Carl) Luer and granddaughter Hannah Luer; his son Mike (Tammie) McDaniel, granddaughter Haley (Jesse) McDaniel, and great-grandson Oliver Keim; his son Patrick (Katrina) McDaniel, granddaughter Kendra McDaniel, grandson Braden McDaniel, and grandson Douglas McDaniel; Grandson Josh (Denise) Harris; Granddaughter Kyra Harris, great-grandson Ben Upward, and great-granddaughter Natalie Upward; his stepson Thomas Johnson (Cindy), granddaughters Abby and Cait Johnson, and grandson David Beckham; his Sister in Law, Noma McDaniel; and his daughter in law, Sandy McDaniel.

A celebration of Doug’s life will be held at Beth Johnson Room at the Wallowa Elementary School, August 31st, starting at 1:00 PM, with a catered lunch to immediately follow at the Wallowa Senior Center at 2:30.

The family would request that, in lieu of flowers, those wishing to honor Doug’s memory may donate to Wallowa Resources, the Wallowa Buddhist Temple, or the Florence and Lawton College Scholarship Fund at Wallowa High School.

Early in his youth he was a postal carrier on the upper Imnaha. Wilfred then began a life of ranching and investing. He was a partner in Daggett Sprinkler Co. and Daggett Hereford Ranch with his father Roy. Later in life, Wilfred worked in real estate and property management. He developed properties in Oregon, Washington and Idaho.

What Wilfred loved the most was spending time outdoors: fishing, hunting, mushrooming, and huckleberrying picnicking with friends and family. Many fond memories are shared with his family on Sheep Creek, camping in the upper Imnaha, floating the Imnaha and Wallowa Rivers, and vacationing on the Oregon and Washington Coasts. Wilfred and Sandra in later years enjoyed traveling abroad and spending winters in LaQuinta, CA.
