Dylan Lee Denton

August 26, 1995 — October 19, 2019

Dylan Lee Denton was born on August 26, 1995, in La Grande, Oregon to Robert and Teresa Denton. Dylan passed away suddenly in a tragic accident on October 19, 2019. Dylan was raised in Wallowa County where he attended school and graduated from Enterprise High School in May of 2014.

Dylan loved to spend his free time working and helping out on the Wentz Ranch. Dylan was active in 4-H, FFA, Cub Scouts, and playing football. Once Dylan graduated from high school he worked for Foss Maritime, in Seattle, for a short period of time before returning to Ione to work at Krebbs Sheep Company. He worked for Krebbs Sheep Company for a short time and eventually started working at Farm Supply Distributors in Enterprise, Oregon where he was a diesel mechanic and jack of all trades. It is at Farm Supply Distributors that he met the love of his life, Tiffany Smith.

Dylan enjoyed ranching and riding his horse, Ol' Bay and working his cows that he named Dilbertha and Dibblet. Dylan was a dedicated family man who put others before himself. Dylan worked hard and did whatever it took to provide for himself, Tiffany, and James. Dylan enjoyed the Friday night family dinners usually at Embers Brew House & Pub and spending time with family and sharing a few good laughs.

Dylan is survived by his mother Teresa (Kressly) & Kelly Fisher, and father Robert & Heidi Denton. Maternal grandmother Georgia Kressly and paternal grandparents Bob Denton and Donna & Derv Fortenberry. Dylan is survived by his seven siblings, Dustin (Jessica) Denton, Tara (Chris) Crader, Jenna Denton, Seth (Teresa) Fisher, Zack (Cassi) Fisher, Mandie (Todd) Wagner, and Matt (Jessee) Fisher. Dylan is also survived by numerous aunts, uncles, nieces, nephews, and cousins. In lieu of flowers, the Denton and Fisher families ask for donations to go to Triston Denning to help with medical bills and the recovery he will need. An account has been set up through Community Bank. Just let them know it is for Triston. This is what Dylan would have wanted, being the selfless man he was.

Chronic sleep loss is a serious public health problem among children

Johns Hopkins University

Fewer than half of the 6-17 year-olds in the U.S. get enough sleep each night.

Johns Hopkins University

Only 48% of school age children in the United States get 9 hours of sleep most weeknights, according to new research being presented at the American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP) 2019 National Conference & Exhibition in New Orleans. Those who do, the study suggests, are significantly more likely to show a positive outlook toward school and other signs of "childhood flourishing," a measure of behavioral and social well-being.

Chronic sleep loss is a serious public health problem among children," said Hoi See Tsao, MD, FAAP.

"Insufficient sleep among adolescent, for example, is associated with physical and mental health consequences including increased risk of depression and obesity and negative effects on mood, attention and academic performance."

Researchers analyzed responses from parents and caregivers of 49,050 children ranging in age from 6-17 year old in the combined 2016-2017 National Survey of Children's Health.

The researchers found that sufficient sleep, reported in only 47.6% of the 6 to 17-year-old children, was positively associated with interest and curiosity in learning new things; caring about doing well in school; finishing tasks, and staying calm when faced with a challenge.

The researchers also identified risk factors associated with insufficient sleep that included increased duration of digital media usage, increased number of adverse childhood experiences and the presence of mental health conditions.

Dr. Tsao said the study reinforces the importance of increasing efforts to help children get the recommended amount of sleep for their age. She said efforts should especially focus on digital media usage, bedtime routines, the length of the school day and school start times.
