OUT OF THE PAST

Compiled by Cheryl Jenkins

George Anderson was fined $250 by Justice Conaway after he entered of plea of guilty on the charge of having liquor in his possession. He had been working with others on upper Alder Slope, cutting wood, and somebody had been making moonshine there.

Large yields of wheat have been gathered by so many farmers that every part of the county has won honor. Poague Brothers, on the Creighton farm, had a splendid crop, on a field of 85 acres, measuring out to 58 bushels to the acre.

As Floyd Cole was driving toward Enterprise on the highway near W.F. Craig's home, the steering gear of his car went wrong and the machine went off the road and turned two somersaults. With the driver were two passengers. Dr. S.D. Taylor came up and he gathered the three into his car and took them to his hospital. There were no serious injuries.

Mrs. Wm. Ferguson, Mrs. E. Stearns and Mrs. Cecil Best each brought in her deer on Sunday.

The husbands were along on the trip, but as they shot nothing, can hardly be given much mention.

Jim Cheatham, president of the Bank of Wallowa County, says that the bank will lend money on a 'signature only' basis to people who want to install trash compacting garbage units or kitchen sink disposer units. It's a "small but important part in preserving the environment".

Emmett Eden, lineman for the TV cable company at Enterprise, broke his leg when his service truck overturned on Alder Slope. He had extended the boom when the outrigger gave way and the truck turned over, dropping Eden to the ground.

Between 500-600 people attended the 10th Annual Bear & Rattlesnake Feed celebration in Innaha Saturday. At the store, 350 had been fed by 2:30 pm when the supply of bear and rattlesnake ran out.
