ENTERPRISE — Business planning classes are coming back in January, the Northeast Oregon Economic Development District announced recently.

For the first time in two years, the NEOEDD is scheduling in-person classes in La Grande on Wednesday evenings starting Jan. 19 continuing through March 2.

"Business Foundations," a six-week workshop series is designed to help entrepreneurs and small-business owners build the basis for a successful business, takes place in La Grande on Wednesdays from 6-9 p.m. The NEOEDD also is offering the class in-person in Baker City on Tuesday evenings starting Jan. 25, in-person in Enterprise on Thursday evenings starting Jan. 27 or online either of these evenings if there are at least five people interested in those options.

To register, visit https:// tinyurl.com/bizclasssignup. For more information, email lisadawson@neoedd.org.

The workshop will be taught by Lisa Dawson, who has taught Business Foundations for more than 10 years. Her students — existing and aspiring entrepreneurs in Baker, Union and Wallowa counties — continue to give her rave reviews. The hands-on class covers the basics of running a successful business: overhead and inventory costs; goal-setting and sales projections: marketing, taxes and licensing and other considerations; and brings it all together in a business plan.

With the help of a Community Development Block Grant through city of La Grande, the classes are offered free of charge. Preference is made to people with low-to-moderate incomes; income verification is required. The workshops last six weeks, with the following

• Gaining Perspective: your business Consider concept.

• Laying the Foundation: Define line of business and analyze financial essentials, from overhead costs to break-even point.

• Getting into the Flow: Cover the financial essentials of cash flow, sales forecasting and financial documents.

Mission and Markets: Mission, discuss market research, identify competitors, determine how to reach target markets.

• Get the Word Out: Discuss creative marketing strategies and give peer feedback on marketing materials.

· Goodbye and Good Luck: Present your business plan, share final pitch and plan for next steps.

Here's what former class participants have to say about Business Foundations:

 "This class was just what I needed to start moving forward with my business. Having the steps laid out in front of me has really helped motivate me to start taking the steps needed to launch my business. I now feel I have the tools to start making my business dreams a reality.' Participant in Enterprise

• "Learning how to do the cost of goods sold, breakeven point, variable cost and cash flow was extremely helpful to me. I had no idea what I was doing, and figuring out that my business model wasn't working and would have led to it's failure was huge. Now I've got a better way to go." — Participant in Baker City.

• "Writing my business plan was my biggest challenge because I couldn't organize all my thoughts and information into a neat format. This class broke that process down and helped me understand what each piece really meant." — Participant in La Grande.

• "I thought it was a really valuable class. I learned so much and enjoyed everyone in there. Wouldn't change a thing." — Participant in Richland.

• "You really hit on all the good things we need to think about in making/running a business. Our businesses were so diverse yet your topics applied to each of us." -Participant in Union.
