the team with 2.9 assists. She also had 5.4 rebounds and 2.6 steals per contest.

Two Outlaws also earned honorable mention: junior Maci Marr and junior Emily Love. Marr averaged just 4.5 points per game, but did a bit of everything for Enterprise. She averaged 4.8 rebounds, 2.7 steals and 2.7 assists, all totals that she was either second or third on the team in.

"I look at my two players, Maci and Emily, who were honorable mention. They could have just as easily been second team," Crawford said. "Very proud of all of them. They are definitely worthy of all they got."

Love came on strong late and finished with 9.3 points and 3.3 steals per game, second on the team in both categories. She also shot 42% from the floor, the best of anybody on the team with at least 10 field goal attempts in league play.

"I felt like I had four girls that were in the top 15 players (in the league), and so did everyone else," Crawford said.

In addition to the four members of the girls team, Jackson Decker was a second-team selection for the Enterprise boys, helping the Outlaws to a strong finish that saw them take two of their last three games after a 2-17 start to the season.

Decker averaged 10.2 points per game on the season with 62 assists and 54 steals. In league, he shot 35% from the floor, 31% from 3-point range and 67% from the free-throw line. Perhaps the highlight of the season for the senior was scoring 18 points in the fourth quarter to rally the team from a 16-point deficit to a win against Grant Union.

"I couldn't be more proud of him and his accomplishments this year," boys head coach Kyle Crawford said. "I know Jackson would agree that great individual performances only happen with the support of his team."

in the first two games of the OOL district tournament, the Cougars eked out a 35-34 win against Joseph in the third-place game for their first playoff berth since 2019.

"Our kids have worked pretty hard this year. We've improved from the start of the year to the end," Oveson said.

The Cougars' season ended with a rough loss to Jordan Valley in the first round of the state playoffs, but the future looks bright for Wallowa with four starters returning, including three players who earned all-league accolades.

Leading the way in the player awards for Wallowa was sophomore Zoe Hermens, whose efforts netted her a spot on the first team alongside Rachael Stirewalt of Imbler; Mersayus Hart of Nixyaawii; Dallee Bingham of Powder Valley; and OOL player of the year Sophie Bronson of Nixyaawii.

Sophie Moeller was a second-team player for the Cougars, and Libby Fisher was named honorable mention.

"Those are our three leading scorers. They each had up and down parts of the season, (and) while we starters from a team that finished 12-11 for coach Lance Homan.

Four earn honors for Joseph boys

On the boys side, Joseph saw four players recognized. Sharpshooter Blade Suto was tapped as a first-team award winner alongside Cole Morgan of Pine Eagle, Patrick Frisch of Cove, Aaron Barkley and Baron Moses of Nixyaawii, and Kaden Krieger and Reece Dixon of Powder Valley, with Dixon being named player of the year. Imbler's Tony Haddock was selected as boys coach of the year.

Chase Homan earned a spot on the second team, and honorable mention went to James Burney and Hayden Hite.

"I am super proud of all the players that made these teams," head coach Olan Fulfer said. "They worked hard to get there. The coaches showed our team a lot of respect with voting four players onto the all-league teams, and that is rare to ever have that many."

Wallowa's Willie Gibbs rounded out his basketball career earning honorable mention.

"(He's) a senior that worked hard to get where he ended up this year," Wallowa head coach Deon Chandler said of Gibbs. "Great young man."

didn't put it all together at the end, we're getting close, and hopefully we can do some stuff this summer and keep building," Oveson said.

The three combined for almost 75% of the team's offense. Hermens averaged 11.25 points per game, Moeller netted 8.5 points per game and Fisher had 6.5 points per game.

Joseph landed its top two players on the team, as Aimee Meyers finished with a second-team nod, and Cooper Nave was listed as honorable mention.

The Eagles fell just a couple points shy of a state playoff bid, but, like Wallowa, returns a slew of players, including four inated following a loss by fall to Hunter Mersch of Jefferson in the consolation semifinals, wrapping up his tournament at 2-2.

Joseph head coach Tim Kiesecker said Peterson wrestled well, and noted that "he won a match against a kid (Guest) that he lost to the week before at district. What I am most excited about (is) how the kids can't wait for next season."

Peterson's effort netted Joseph seven team points to tie for 33rd.

Peterson ended up being the only Wallowa County wrestler to win a match at state. Delapena, after a first-round bye, was pinned by Adam Reyes of Kennedy before the matchup against Peterson, which saw her fall in 2:04.

Tegan Evans suffered a loss by fall to Shade Starr of Colton with just 19 seconds to go in their first-round match, then ran into district rival Reece McConnell of Elgin, who pinned him in 3:52.

Will Ogden was handed a first-round loss by fall to top-seed AshBlomstrom of Toledo, then faced Clancy Rutledge of Culver, who eliminated Ogden with a 12-4 major decision.

And freshman Gunnar McDowell dropped a first-round match to Tommy Vigue of Coquille with less than 90 seconds to go, then was eliminated after a 10-0 major decision loss to Cameron Diaceticis of Regis.

"Even though we didn't have the tournament we really would (have) liked we're still super proud of the accomplishments of the kids," Enterprise head coach Court Fent said.

Culver ran away with the team title with 182 points, more than 80 ahead of runner-up Illinois Valley. It's the 13th OSAA wrestling title won by the program.
