Bob Webb and Heidi Muller will perform the concert "Dulcimer Moon in the Shadow of the Elkhorns" on Saturday, June 18, in Haines. This performance is the final of the season for the Grande Ronde Symphony's Chamber and Small Ensemble Series (CASES).

Festival, Northwest Folklife and Kentucky Music Week. She organizes Dulcimer Week annually at Wallowa Lake Camp, bringing in nationally recognized dulcimer teachers to the week-long workshop.

Muller will be joined by her partner, Webb, who will accompany her on guitar, mandolin, dulcimer and cello. Webb was a member of the original Mountain Stage house band of NPR fame. From their home in Joseph, Muller and Webb have produced four CDs together: "Up Hurricane Creek," "Dulcimer Moon,"

"Light the Winter's Dark" and "Seeing Things."

"Heidi and Bob always impress me with their talent, musicianship and originality in folk music performance," said Cilla Coe, chamber concert series organizer for the Grande Ronde Symphony Association. "Heidi's clear voice rings with authenticity and love for our local landscape and culture. Bring the folks to hear and toe-tap along with Heidi and Bob's folk music."
