Tomorrow 2 Days Only Monday

Towering redwoods, mile on mile—and two men who loved them. Then the hand of the spoiler, and a war to the bitter end.

A picture of the lumber camps and the clash of giant woodsmen. Throbbing with red blood and physical strength. Majestic in its natural beauty. Warm with a romance sweet as any ever told.

From the famous Red Book story by Peter B. Kyne.

It Was War!

They had gone too far. The friends of his youth—his redwoods—towering on the slopes he loved, to these vandal "pioneers" were only "lumber."

And when they felled the hoary giant that guarded his mother's grave—then it was man against man, camp against camp—to the death—

A HOME MADE WATER FILTER

To make a cheap water filter, take a large garden-pot and stop the hole in the bottom by placing a piece of sponge in it. Cover with a few inches of powdered charcoal, fill with water and let it stand over a pail or tub supported by two or three sticks laid across. The water filtering through the charcoal will be freed from all impurities and will be fit for family use. The charcoal should be changed every three months and the sponge several times a year.

CLEANING A COMB

Instead of washing combs, clean by brushing and pulling a piece of cotton through the teeth, always changing it as it gets soiled; then rub with a clean cloth.

FIGHTING CRABS OF JAPAN

In Japan there is a species of crab which is always looking for a fight. As soon as two of them meet they challenge each other by scraping their claws together and then they rush at each other and struggle until one is exhausted, but he still keeps on scraping his claws in defiance of the other. The victor then twists off one of the claws of the vanquished one and carries it off as a trophy of victory.

TIRESOME TALES

There's One Thing That Hasn't Gone Up

I
Said Mrs. McGuff to Mrs. Van Bright, As they chatted one day on the Drive, "I should not be surprised to be some day advised Of a tax for just being alive!"
II
"The Landlord lifted my rent—which was high As it was for the service they give— The butcher, baker, the tailor, dressmaker, Have doubled their rates—as I live,
III
"I can't understand how you manage, my dear, To still run an automobile? Why, the cost of a tire must be frightfully higher— And they're poorer by quite a good deal!"
IV
Said Mrs. Van Bright, "Oh, I fully agree That the sharks have us all by the ears, And it's sad that we must calmly stand for the lust And the greed of these bold-providers."
V
"But you're wrong, I must say, in one instance, at least: As to tires, I cannot agree; Mine cost less than before, while their mileage is more— They're Kellyn, of course—as you see."
