

CONFERENCE GAMES SET FOR TOMORROW HOLD BIG INTEREST

PACIFIC COAST AND NORTH-WEST CONFERENCE GAMES SET FOR SATURDAY.

At Seattle—University of Oregon vs. University of Washington.

At Berkeley—Oregon Agricultural College vs. University of California.

At Pullman—University of Idaho vs. Washington State College.

At Palo Alto—Stanford University vs. St. Mary's College.

Saturday's gridiron contests in the Pacific Coast intercollegiate conference are to establish at least one thing—between what two teams is to be the battle for championship honor.

With Oregon Agricultural college and the University of California eliminated from the running by defeats last week at the hands of Stanford and Washington State college, respectively, the race for honors now lies between W. S. C., University of Oregon, University of Washington and Stanford, with the latter the weak sister of the quartet.

By critics Stanford is not considered as a serious contender and the contest is thereby narrowed to the three north west schools, and interest centers on the Oregon-Washington game, which will entertain Seattle fans tomorrow afternoon. The Eugene artists have a slight edge on the dope, but the 120 to 9 drubbing which the northerners handed out to Whitman college last Saturday has not instilled any great amount of confidence in Coach "Shy" Huntington's Oregon lads.

Washington State, rated on paper as the strongest team on the coast, should have little trouble in disposing of Idaho, and secondary interest in tomorrow's game is, therefore, centered in the O. A. C.-California battle at Berkeley. Here California is a slight favorite, due to its performance in holding W. S. C. to two touchdowns last Saturday.

MOTHER SHOTS TWO CHILDREN AND SELF

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 31.—Obsessed with a passion to end her earthly troubles and exterminate herself and children, Mrs. Winifred M. Graham, 24, shot her little boy, Billie, age 6, who died almost instantly, fired two bullets into the body of her daughter, Betty, aged 4, and then turned the gun on herself, at her home on Thistle street shortly before 10 o'clock this morning.

The little girl and the mother are in a hospital near death. Both are wounded in the stomach.

The police were unable to get a statement from the mother, who lapsed into unconsciousness.

But they found a letter, addressed to the husband, which the police said revealed that Mrs. Graham had "lost her love" for her husband five years ago.

Oregon And Aggie Babes To Play In Corvallis Saturday

Corvallis, Or., Oct. 31.—Second only in interest to college football fans of the state to the annual gridiron classic between the varsity teams of Oregon Agricultural college and the University of Oregon is the clash between the freshman eleven of the two institutions, which is to take place here Saturday afternoon. A large delegation of Oregon packers are expected to arrive with the Eugene team Saturday morning.

C. H. Gram, state labor commissioner, and Wm. A. Marshall, chairman of the industrial accident commission, left this morning for Eugene, Springfield and Wendling where they will open a state wide campaign in an effort to reduce accidents in industry. Films depicting preventable accidents in the logging industry are to be shown at mass meetings of men employed in lumber mills and logging camps. The films will be shown next week at meetings in various towns in the Coos Bay country. Accompanying Gram and Marshall on the trip are W. R. Rasmussen of Chicago, field secretary of the national safety council, and H. F. Coffin of Portland, secretary of the Oregon branch of the council.

Canadian Mines Can Assist None In Shortage In States

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 31.—British Columbia mines can ship no more coal to the United States than the 87,000 tons monthly which they are now sending, W. A. Webb, of the Canadian Western Fuel company, said today.

"The present demand from Seattle on the coal mine of Vancouver is now so heavy that no more can possibly be supplied."
