

SEATTLE TOURISTS VISIT CITY ON LAST LAP OF LONG JAUNT

After traversing 7500 miles in a 1917 model Elgin Six from Seattle to Chicago and return, W. H. Kienholz and wife, Mrs. Lewis Keiman and Cecil Lytja passed through Salem yesterday afternoon on route back to Seattle. They left their home in Seattle June 17, and departed from Chicago September 30, after a lengthy visit with relatives, for the return trip.

The party took the Sunset route on the trip east. On the return they came over the Pacific highway as far as Salt Lake, then went south to Los Angeles on the Arrowhead route, returning north on the coast line.

Of all the roads they have traveled, Mr. Kienholz said, California's were the best. In Wyoming there are no "read" roads to speak of, he asserted.

In the entire trip, Mr. Keiman said, he did not get stuck with the Elgin Six. To prove the efficiency of the car he said that his wife weighs 185 pounds, Mrs. Keiman weighs 215 pounds, Mr. Lytja tips the scales at 145 and he weighs 150 pounds himself. In addition to this weighty cargo of human beings, he said he had about 400 pounds of baggage strapped to the car.

The worst roads he encountered on the return trip were in Southern Oregon, he said. The detours, now in use during the work on the highway, are almost impassable, and teams stand ready to pull the unfortunate motorist from the ruts and mud, he said.

The auto maintained an average speed of 27 miles an hour. The party usually made 170 miles a day.

Former Polk County Saloon Keeper Held As Moonshiner

(Capital Journal Special Service.)
 Dallas, Or. Nov. 1.—James S. Baker, who was arrested by Portland police officers in that city this week on a charge of conducting a moonshine still, was formerly a saloon keeper in the Black Rock vicinity of this county and has a wide acquaintanceship among the loggers in that part of the county. Baker left this vicinity about two years ago and since that time trace of him has been lost until his arrest this week.

For some time Baker was thought to have been in a bootlegging gang that was operating about the logging camps but the arrest later on of the ring-leaders of the outfit proved to the Polk county officials that Baker was not a member of the gang.

Farmer Pulls String; Finds Body Foully Murdered Man

San Francisco, Nov. 1.—When a thrifty Italian farmer began winding up a piece of string today that he found on the roadside near Baden, it led him to the cold body of Michael Needham, hidden in bushes at the roadside.

The farmer dropped the string and fled.

Needham had been beaten, bound, gagged and then murdered. His skull was crushed.

His wife said he disappeared two days ago.

The heavy string the Italian wanted to save was part of the cord the robbers had used to bind Needham before they murdered him.

PORTLAND SUICIDE FORMER DALLAS BOY

(Capital Journal Special Service.)
 Dallas, Or. Nov. 1.—Vernon Hinshaw, the 20-year-old boy who committed suicide in Portland Tuesday night by jumping to his death from a railway bridge, was the son of Mrs. Anna Hinshaw. The act is supposed to have been caused because of the jilting of the young man by a 16-year-old girl whom he loved.

Hinshaw lived with his mother in this city until about a year ago when he went to Portland to work in the shipyards. He was known to practically all of the Dallas residents and was considered an exceedingly bright youth. The body will be brought here for burial.

APPROVAL OF BOXING CONTRACTS REFUSED

The advisory board to the boxing commissions of the state has no authority and is not required to approve contracts between promoters of fights and the commissions, according to an opinion handed down Friday by Attorney General Brown. Members of the advisory board are Governor Olcott and Attorney General Brown.

The opinion was given to settle a question submitted by John Snyder, mayor of Milwaukie, Or., to Governor Olcott. Mayor Snyder enclosed contracts between the boxing commission of Milwaukie, the members of which are C. A. Bossert, R. E. Cooper, and W. H. Council, and George Moore, who is considered to be a fight promoter.

The letter asked approval of the contracts and the matter was turned over to the attorney general by the governor for an interpretation of the law in the case.

PRICES TAKE BIG LEAP IN LOS ANGELES TODAY

Los Angeles, Nov. 1.—November 1 saw prices in Los Angeles go sky-larking.

Milk went up two cents a quart this morning. A blanket increase of $1 per pair on all standard makes of shoes has been announced by dealers.

Sugar went up to 13 cents a pound, an increase of half a cent.

Many dealers predicted higher prices immediately for butter and eggs.

United States Attorney O'Connor declared he was acting to protect the public's interests. He went into conference with sugar refiners and expected to secure data which he will lay before the federal grand jury and which may lead to prosecutions.

Rickey News.

(Capital Journal Special Service.)
 Rickey, Or. Nov. 1.—L. Dickman was a Salem visitor Wednesday afternoon.

D. A. Harris and M. M. Magee have purchased a registered Durham bull.

K. F. Wheeler and son, Eugene, of Salem were callers at the W. D. Horner home Wednesday.

Miss Myrtle Whitney and Miss Marie Evans of Portland were recent guests of Miss Whitney's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Whitney.

E. A. Lewis and M. M. Magee made a business trip to Crooked Finger last week.

We are sorry to lose Mr. and Mrs. Ackerman from our neighborhood. They will make their home north of here where they have purchased property.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. T. De Santos who has been quite ill, is much improved.

Mrs. C. Krimm and Mrs. K. F. Wheeler of Salem came out to attend the meeting of the Thendara club.

Mr. Callison and family are moving onto the J. B. Ash farm.

The Thendara club ladies were entertained by the president, Mrs. John Caplinger, Wednesday afternoon. They will meet in two weeks with Mrs. George Edwards.

Luie Magee of Scotts Mills came down on business Wednesday.

A little son, Robert Earl, arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Unruh October 18.

Mr. and Mrs. Unruh have recently moved to the neighborhood and live where the C. Grimm family formerly resided.

"LOMBARDI, LTD." PRESENTS RAPID FIRE SERIES OF SIDE-SPLITTING SITUATIONS

Bert Lytell in "Lombardi, Ltd."

"Lombardi, Ltd.," the big Screen Classics, Inc. production starring Bert Lytell, is booked as the feature attraction at the Liberty theatre beginning Sunday next. It is a picturization of the famous Oliver Morosco stage success by those gifted collaborators, Fred Eric and Fanny Hatton, which enjoyed a run of an entire season in New York and more than a year of continuous performances on tour.

"Lombardi, Ltd.," was, in fact, one of the outstanding hits of recent theatrical seasons, and it is said to have been translated to the screen with a minuteness of detail and a wealth of special settings that make it even a more alluring comedy in the silent drama than it was in the legitimate theatre.

Bert Lytell, whose following has grown to tremendous proportions, enacts the stellar role in this picture as Tito Lombardi, the eccentric genius whose fame has been won by designing fashion creations for the smart set of Fifth Avenue. It is a role of wonderful lights and shades and nuances of temperament.

The story has to do with Lombardi's love affairs and his business troubles. He is so trustful that he permits some of his rich customers to swindle him out of money due for gowns designed and fashioned. Then his sweetheart proves false by eloping with a man about town. Lombardi is pretty far gone in purse and affections when a loyal girl comes to his rescue.

Lovely mannequins, "perfect 36" models and a host of other beautiful women surround the handsome young star in "Lombardi, Ltd.," and they wear imported gowns that the producers say cost thousands of dollars. The highly decorative settings in the picture were designed by M. P. Stalcup.

tempted to negotiate the others, police said he told them.

Two others are under arrest in connection with the case.

DECEPTIVE PACKERS TARGET
 Washington, Nov. 1.—The house agricultural committee reported favorably the amendment of a pure food law prohibiting the use of deceptive packers and containers for foods and requiring that all must be completely filled.

Dallas Man Is Accused Of Stealing Neighbors Steer

(Capital Journal Special Service.)
 Dallas, Or. Nov. 1.—Dale Slater, who lives northwest of this city, was arrested by Sheriff John W. Orr this week, charged with the theft of a steer belonging to John Needham. Slater was brought to Sheriff's office where he was released on his own word to appear first of next week for trial before the Justice of the Peace John R. Sibley.

In an accident at McCord's Volalla, Otto Witowski sustained a broken arm and other serious

Can You Imitate a Phonograph?

Possibly not—but there are people in the world who do imitate the reproduction of a record so cleverly that it is sometimes called

Re-Created Music. No Phonograph Is Musically Perfect

But there is one phonograph above all others that will reproduce the work of all artists (regardless of what company makes their records) to a greater degree of perfection and with less needle and mechanical noises than any other phonograph in the world. It is the

"The inevitable choice of those who demand the finest phonograph that money can buy." The Sonora is designed for use in the home.

IT IS NOT A CONCERT PHONOGRAPH

The Sonora was recognized in 1915 by the highest musical authorities in the world as a phonograph capable of reproducing music more perfectly than any other phonograph in the world. It was not a perfect instrument then, nor do we claim it to be such today. The fact remains, however, that since 1915, the Sonora has made startling improvements in their instruments, and certain phonographs which boast of being perfect and capable of re-creating music, are no different today than they were FIVE YEARS AGO when they competed with the Sonora for first honors in Tone Quality award at San Francisco in 1915.

At the close of the Panama Pacific Exposition, Mr. O. H. Fernbach, secretary International Award System, wrote the following from San Francisco:

"I beg to inform you that the only JURY which heard and tested all the phonographs exhibited at the Panama Pacific Exposition recommended that the Sonora be given a marking for tone quality higher than that given to any other phonograph or talking machine."

The Sonora will reproduce any make of disc record more perfectly than any other phonograph in the world.

You can prove this fact to your entire satisfaction if you will bring any record you are thoroughly familiar with to our store. We will play it for you on the Sonora. We will leave it to your own judgment. Investigate Sonora merit today. We will gladly assist you.
