

FORD ENGINES DROVE NC-4 ACROSS OCEAN

The Ford Motor company has just received official advice from the navy department that it was four Ford Liberty motors—all built in the Ford Motor company's shops at Detroit—which furnished the power that drove the NC-4 to victory in its recent record breaking flight across the Atlantic from Trepassey, Newfoundland to Plymouth, England, a distance of 4900 miles. They were regular stock motors built during the war as a part of the Ford Liberty motor production. Upon his arrival in Lisbon, Portugal, Lieutenant Commander Read, said, "The engines functioned perfectly all the way from America to Portugal." And American naval officers who thoroughly inspected the NC-4 upon its arrival at Plymouth, England, stated that the big seaplane was in even better condition than when it left America. The NC-4 flight, which has meant a triumph for American engineering skill, also adds another record to Ford achievement.

Today a special effort was made to complete the campaign for the Roosevelt Memorial fund, and a number of prominent women, assisted by a group of young ladies, were stationed at desks in the State House, Court House, and banks for the purpose of receiving voluntary subscriptions. The executive committee for the drive consists of Dr. W. Carlton Smith, Paul Wallace, John Todd, Mrs. E. E. Fisher, Mrs. W. M. Hamilton, Mrs. David Gray, John Carson, James Linn and August Hucklestein.

At the various banks stationed Mrs. Ben W. Olcott, Mrs. R. E. Lee Steiner, Mrs. Arthur Benson, Mrs. James Linn, Miss Elizabeth Lord, Miss Mabel Withycombe, Mrs. T. W. Ford, Mrs. Thomas C. Smith, Mrs. W. H. Dancy, Mrs. Frank Schmidt, Mrs. P. E. Fullerton, Mrs. William McGilchrist, Jr., Mrs. Frank Waters, Mrs. Kenneth Brown, Mrs. F. D. Deckebach and Mrs. E. N. Gillingham. At the state house Mrs. Le. Page, Mrs. Youis Lachmund and Mrs. Edwin L. Baker had their stations, and in the court house and other places, Mrs. Earl Flegel, Mrs. Byron F. Brunk, Mrs. R. Monroe Gilbert, Mrs. John Waters, Mrs. William Prunk, Miss Lucille Watson and Mrs. Lawrence Simon received donations.

Hallowe'en favors marked the places of the guests at the charming dinner last Sunday over which Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Bollinger presided. Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Bollinger were guests of honor, the affair being given in honor of their thirty second wedding anniversary. Circling the handsomely appointed table were Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Bollinger, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McGilchrist, Mr. and Mrs. James McGilchrist, Miss Nellie Endicott and the hosts.

The home of Miss Alleen Bordner was the scene of a merry party Saturday evening, when twenty four invited guests enjoyed her hospitality. The house was prettily decorated with jack-o'-lanterns and autumn leaves, and the evening was spent with games and music. The hostess served a dainty three course lunch, at the close of the evening's festivities.

Miss Bordner is leaving soon for California where she will make her home.

One of the prettiest informal affairs for which Hallowe'en was the motif, was the dancing party sponsored by Mrs. Ralph White Wednesday evening. Cotillion hall where the affair took place had been transformed into a veritable fairyland, hanging baskets of sunny marigolds, and streamers of black and yellow, carrying out the acknowledged Hallowe'en color scheme. Corn and pumpkins enhanced the general appearance, and the refreshments of doughnuts and cider were in direct keeping with the season. Music was furnished by Sykes orchestra. Ninety two guests attended.

Mrs. Florian Von Eschea, was charming hostess at an informal evening Tuesday, honoring Mrs. Olive Hand, who leaves in the near future for Astoria where she will engage in settlement work. Mrs. Hand has been an instructor in the local high school for a number of years, and her many friends are regretting her departure.

Honoring William Robinson Boone, Portland organist, who played at the dedication recital at the First Christian church last Monday evening, Mrs. T. S. Roberts entertained with a six o'clock dinner at the Roberts residence on South 14th street. Chrysanthemums were used as an effective centerpiece for the prettily appointed table at which covers were laid for Mr. Boone, Mrs. Bertha Junk Darby, Frank Churchill and Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Roberts.

The North Platte Tribune of October 11th publishes the following account of the wedding of Millard M. Grable, a former Salem resident:

"At the court house last Saturday afternoon Judge W. H. C. Woodhurst officiated at a ceremony wherein were united Millard M. Grable and Madolyn Owens in the bonds of matrimony.

"Mr. Grable was born and raised in North Platte, but about ten years ago his parents moved to Salem, Oregon. About two years ago he returned to North Platte and entered the service of the Union Pacific as brakeman. Miss Owens is a stranger among us, but is welcome to our city. She is a young lady whom Mr. Grable met during the time he lived in Oregon. The young couple left on No. 15 Saturday night for Denver and other Colorado points for a honeymoon trip. They will return in about a week and will make their home in North Platte."

Mrs. Frank Davey was gracious hostess Tuesday evening when she entertained the Gaiety Card club. After a short business session at which Mrs. Davey was elected president for the coming season, Mrs. Earl Percy, vice president; Miss Gertrude Savage, secretary and Mrs. Thomas Burrows, treasurer, the time was devoted to 500. During the evening two vocal solos were excellently rendered by Mrs. Earl Percy. The dainty and ample refreshments were appropriate to the Hallowe'en season.

The Gaiety Card club will be entertained by Miss Gertrude Savage at her home, 355 Leslie street next Tuesday.

A very pretty and attractive wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Hastings, 891 South 12th street, Sunday, October 26, when Miss Clara Reineohel became the bride of Dorsey Reeves. Miss Reineohel is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Reineohel, formerly of this city. Mr. Reeves is employed in the Anderson Barber shop. They will make their home at 891 South 12th street. The guests present at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hastings, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hulse, Mrs. George Reineohel, Miss Eva Reineohel, Mrs. Chamley and Claude Reineohel.

The Masonic hall was the scene of much merriment Thursday evening, when the local lodge of United Artists enjoyed a Hallowe'en party. A short and interesting program opened the evening's entertainment, and was followed by an enjoyable dance. The affair culminated with the serving of a delicious lunch. About 35 guests attended.

The "Spinks," an organization of Washington Junior high school students, were guests at a pretty party Saturday afternoon, at which Miss Lena Baumgartner was hostess. The decorations were in accordance with the Hallowe'en season, and the same motif was carried out in the refreshments. About thirty five guests were present.

The many friends to Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Jones will be pleased to hear that they are moving into the house formerly occupied by Mrs. Henry Thielsen, 1054 Chemeketa street for the winter. They have with them their young daughter, Junette.

TIRESOME TALE

There's One Thing That Hasn't Gone Up

I
Said Mrs. McGuff to Mrs. Van Bright, As they chatted one day on the Drive. "I should not be surprised to be some day advised Of a tax for just being alive!"

II
"The Landlord lifted my rent—which was high As it was for the service they give— The butcher, baker, the tailor, dressmaker, Have doubled their rates—as I live,

III
"I can't understand how you manage, my dear, To still run an automobile? Why, the cost of a tire must be frightfully higher— And they're poorer by quite a good deal!"

IV
Said Mrs. Van Bright, "Oh, I fully agree That the sharks have us all by the ears, And it's sad that we must calmly stand for the lust And the greed of these bold profiteers.

V
"But you're wrong, I must say, in one instance, at least: As to tires, I cannot agree; Mine cost less than before, while their mileage is more— They're Kellys, of course—as you see."

"Eyesight"

In this day of push and hurry and worry, there are very few normal eyes—eyes that see with perfect ease and comfort, without strain of any sort. This strenuous age in which we are living and the proneness to allow eye defects of ourselves and our children to go uncorrected, are not promising for the eyesight of the coming generation.

Those who have the best eyes throughout life are those who protect them at the proper time—when nature asks for help. Pride and neglect have ruined more eyes than disease.

ONE PAIR OF EYES To a life time. Do not neglect and abuse them. HAVE YOUR EYES EXAMINED
