

ANNUAL MEETING OF WALNUT MEN HELD NEXT WEEK

The Western Walnut association will hold its annual meeting at the Multnomah hotel, Portland, November 12 and 13.

There is a very large acreage of walnuts and filberts in the state at this time, and nut culture is bound to become one of the strong horticultural lines of this state. The present interest in filberts alone will indicate an acreage of from 5,000 to 10,000 acres in the relative near future. Filbert growing as well as walnut growing, is proving to be profitable, and an attractive investment.

The officers of the Western Walnut association are: J. C. Cooper of McMinnville, president; C. I. Lewis of Salem, vice-president; and Knight Percy, Salem, secretary-treasurer.

A very strong program has been prepared for the meeting. C. A. Reed, chief of the division of nut culture, U. S. department of agriculture, is to come across the continent to meet the nut growers of Oregon.

The program is as follows: Wednesday, Morning session 10 a. m. Annual message of president, J. C. Cooper, McMinnville.

Report of the secretary-treasurer, Knight Percy, Salem.

Planting the nuts in the orchard, Chas. Trunk, Dundee. Nursery grafting filberts, J. C. Herren, Salem.

Walnut growing experiences, J. R. deNeul, Oregon City.

Afternoon Session. Statistics of nut culture, Earl Percy, Salem.

The California Walnut Growers association, J. F. Langner, associate editor Oregon Journal.

American nut culture literature, Ralph T. Olcott, editor American Nut Culture.

Nuts in confectionery use, Frank V. Brown, Dallas.

Filbert growing, John Norelius, Vancouver, Washington.

The Oregon Growers Cooperative association, and the Oregon nut grower, Robert C. Paulus, Salem.

Evening Session. Reports on yields, Trunk, Croner, Dearborn, Walgamot, Withycombe, Root, Shaw, Sourgeon, Norelius, Kruse Lewis, Page Nibler and others.

Filbert growing in the Northwest, Geo. Dorris, Springfield.

Nut growing in the U. S. C. A. Reed.

Thursday. Morning Session 9:30 a. m. Pruning the filbert, H. A. Kruse, Sherwood.

Growing walnuts on stump lands, N. E. Britt, Newberg.

A tree arboriculturist for our logged-off lands, Knight Percy, Salem.

New varieties, Kruse, Wilkins, Brixey, Groner.

Drying walnuts, Fred Groner, Hillsboro.

Question box. Afternoon Session. Increasing the consumption of nut products, Geo. Hall, Hall & Emory advertising agency.

Maintaining the visitor in nut trees, Prof. C. I. Lewis, organization manager Oregon Growers Cooperative association.

Notes on Filbert Varieties, R. Graves, Salem.

Promising Seedlings, J. C. Cooper, McMinnville.

Election of officers. The meeting of the association gives an unusual opportunity for those interested in nut culture to attend and gain helpful information. Nearly all the speakers are men who own large nut properties, who are making a success of their venture, and who are willing and glad to give information and help to the beginner. Salem has one of the largest acreages of walnuts and filberts in the state. A survey a year ago, showed in territory adjacent to Salem, over 1000 acres of walnuts alone. The famous Skyline orchards of 200 acres is typical of one of the better walnut orchards in the state.

 INCORPORATIONS. *****

Excellence of Harbor Facilities At Astoria Demonstrated By Docking of Big Battleships

The accompanying photograph showing the big Battleship Vermont, moored in the slip at the Astoria port docks, demonstrates clearly that Oregon possesses a harbor and dockage facilities adequate to accommodate all the great ships of the Pacific fleet.

For the first time in the history of the Pacific coast, excepting at a navy yard, an American battleship of the dreadnought class moored alongside a dock on September 6th of this year. The craft was the Battleship Vermont, of 16,000 tons displacement and drawing 27.6 feet, and the dock was in Astoria's harbor. She entered the river, came up the bay at half tide, ran into the slip and moored at Pier 1 without the aid of a tug. The Vermont lay at the wharf until the afternoon of September 10th, when she backed out and, swinging around without assistance, proceeded to sea. The feat was a most unusual one at any port in the world and clearly defines the splendid conditions in the Astoria harbor and at the port terminals.

There is probably not another commercial dock from the Canadian line to the Mexican line where such a thing would be attempted.

OLDEST SILVERTON WOMAN CALLED BY DEATH AT AGE 91

Mrs. Orrilla Wilson, mother of Mrs. P. W. Potter, passed away in this city at the home of her daughter, Friday, October 31. She was probably the oldest resident living in Silvertown at the time of death, being a little past 91 years old. Until just previous to her death she was bright and active to a remarkable degree. A slight cold, coupled with old age, apparently was the cause of her death.

Funeral services were held Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Potter, Rev. J. A. Bennett officiating and burial was made in the Silvertown cemetery.

Mrs. Orrilla Wilson was born August 7, 1828, at Pike, Wyoming county, New York, and died in Silvertown, Oregon, October 31, 1919, aged 91 years, 2 months and 24 days. She was married February 18, 1851, to Perry Wilson, who passed away nearly thirty years ago. To this union were born three children, the oldest dying in infancy.

The surviving children are: Mrs. Eva Potter and Fred Wilson, both of this city. She also leaves to mourn her two sisters and one brother, who live in Minnesota, and a large circle of friends.

In her earlier life she attended the Episcopal church and was always a believer in a Christian life.

She was one of the first members who organized the Mispah Circle of Silvertown of which she was always a very faithful worker and where her cheerful presence will be greatly missed.—Appeal.

VALE 'PHONE COMPANY ASKS HIGHER RATES

An increase in telephone rates to cover the increased cost of material and equipment and increased wages is asked for by the Malheur Home Telephone company, with its principal office at Vale, in a petition filed with the public service commission this morning. The requested increase involves an addition of one dollar to present rates for business telephone and an addition of 25 cents to present rates for residence service.

The company operates lines at Vale, Ontario, Nyssa and Fruitland all in Malheur county.

The $600,000 Umatilla project is included in the draft of a proposed bill for a $10,000,000 appropriation for speeding up work on existing reclamation projects.

Court News

The hearing with the county court Friday afternoon of about 15 truck drivers and operators to arrive at a schedule of weights permissible for hauling over certain county roads was taken under advisement by the court. After a conference with the district attorney the result of the hearing will be made known.

It was stated by the court this morning that the condition of some roads makes it imperative to establish a weight limit. The names of the roads thus adjudged unsafe for big loads will be named later by the court.

A suit to foreclose a mortgage and for judgment of $200, alleged due on a promissory note, and for $50 attorney fees, was begun here in district court today by William Beringer against Mr. and Mrs. Karl O. Winzer.

Marriage licenses were issued today to William H. Bolster, 22, Oakland, Cal., and Margaret Parks, 20, Salem; John A. Wright, 43, Portland and Jennie Walling, 42, Gervais.

Notice of appeal to the supreme court from the decision of District Judge Hingham several days ago in the suit of H. A. Holmes against the state fish and game commission, was filed with the county clerk this morning.

Mr. Holmes, in a suit to restrain the fish and game commission from establishing a game farm in Lane county, won the decision in department No. 2, district court. He contended that the commission has no legal right to appropriate its funds to establish such a game farm.

Dallas Curfew Ordinance To Be Enforced Hereafter

(Capital Journal Special Service.) Dallas, Or., Nov. 8.—City Marshal Oliver P. Chase of Dallas has served notices on the parents of children in the city that the curfew laws of that city is to be strictly enforced in the hereafter and that all boys and girls under the age of 15 years must be off the streets after 8 o'clock at night or the parents will be hailed before the police judge for a hearing.

Mr. Chase lays a lot of the petty thievery that has been going on in Dallas for months to children under the age of 15 years and he is bound to have the matter stop. He also states that it is improper for parents to let their girls roam the streets of the city at night without accompanying them contributing to the downfall of many a girl to the parents' neglect in keeping them at home at night.

Roseburg school directors have closed the high school auditorium to all public entertainments other than those given by the student body or under its auspices.

COUNTY BUDGET LAW STILL IS ENFORCED

The county budget law is not repealed nor set aside by the supreme court but is still in full force and effect, according to an opinion prepared Thursday, by Attorney General Brown for the information and guidance of Paul V. Maris, county agent leader of the cooperative extension division of O. A. C. Attorney General Brown explains that he has had numerous inquiries from all parts of the state relative to the status of the budget law.

According to the opinion the supreme court has held unconstitutional an amendment to the budget law passed by the legislature of 1915 because of the fact that the amendment merely referred to the title of the act and did not set out the amendment in full as required by law.

In declaring that the budget law is still in effect Brown further explains that county courts are still required to publish in official county newspapers of the county a tentative county budget and to hold open hearings thereon.
