THE PROSTY MORNING

up a glad and brave hooray. The frost is gleaming on the hills, and gittering up in pills, the druggist weigh it on his sectes. I praise it in the highest terms: it is more precious than our rolls; for it's the stuff that kills the gerns, and makes the microbes hunt their holes. A mortal loses all his pep toils along with weary step and feels as though he weighed a ton. A slight exertion makes him groun, he's always in a grouchy mood; in every sine every bone, he feels a beastly lassitude. But when the autumn frost appears and eager winds his whiskers nip, he rolls his shirtsleeves to his ears, and looks for some one he may whip. The languor of the summer time, the wear iness of sizzling heat, no more oppres him when he'd climb around the town on busy feet. In August I am beastly cld, as old as graybeards ever are; but when the frost lies on the wold, I'm younger than a movie star.

YAKIMA IS WITHOUT FIREMEN; MEN QUIT

Yakima, Wash., Nov. 10,-This city is still without adequate fire protecmains locked while but half a crow is at the other as the result of the discharge of the entire force of 28 fire-men Thursday. A mass meeting Saturday of citizens failed to accomplish anything-or formulate any program.

It is therefore to the profit of the merchant to co-operate in building up the local newspaper, for as it is built up, his own business field is enlarged. The growth of the newspaper is dependent upon this co-operation, upon this The world outdoors is white with community of interest. The patronage makes possible trest at morning, when I leave the cost, put such increasingly good local newspapers that there will such increasingly good local newspapers that there will no longer remain any reason for subscriptions to outside here, the largest bifuminious mine in papers, with their mailorder bargains.
