

LOS ANGELES PLAY-GOERS JOURNEY FAR TO SEE G. BATES POST

What qualities Guy Bates Post puts into "The Masquerader," which is to appear at the Grand tonight, and what receptions have been accorded him in this unusual production in other cities are amply demonstrated in clippings from the dramatic columns of the Los Angeles papers.

Post, unable to secure a house for his production in Los Angeles took it to the neighboring town of Long Beach and the flock of Los Angeles people to that city indicated clearly the popularity of Post among theater-goers of the south.

The Los Angeles Evening Express says: "Guy Bates Post, in his greatest play, 'The Masquerader,' swept a critical audience off its feet at Hoyt's theater at Long Beach last night with his superb art and marvelous acting. Lavishly staged, a wonderful story converted into a wonderful play, and with a company of artists that excel in every character delineation and interpretation assigned to them, 'The Masquerader' is by far the most absorbing dramatic offering that has been seen in this section in many moons."

The Los Angeles Record says: "That Guy Bates Post could make the test of appearing in a neighboring city, and draw a full house, a goodly share of them Angelenos, was proof of this actor's magic fascination."

"Real art knows no barrier," says the Herald. "Its devotees will go to any length if assured that the effort is worth while. Distance is no drawback at all. For that reason, many Angelenos pilgrimaged to Long Beach last night for the purpose of witnessing Guy Bates Post in a new play called 'The Masquerader,' and they were amply repaid for the inconvenience of returning home long past midnight in a California midfall rainstorm."

The original resolution asked for information regarding efforts to obtain the release of Jenkins from Mexican bandits, but as this has been effected, the committee amended the request to give it a general nature.

Two discoveries have added greatly to human welfare. In 1835 Newton originated the vacuum process for condensing milk with cane sugar to a semi-liquid form.

In 1883 Horlick at Racine, Wis., discovered how to reduce milk to a dry powder form with extract of malted grains, without cane sugar.

This product HORLICK named Malted Milk. (Name since copied by others.) Its nutritive value, digestibility and ease of preparation (by simply stirring in water) and the fact that it keeps in any climate, has proved of much value to mankind as an ideal food-drink from infancy to old age.

ON the morning of February 26th, 1779, General Israel Putnam, the lion-heart of the American Revolution, stood before a mirror in the home of General Meade in Greenwich, Connecticut, his good, old-fashioned razor poised for the first long, shearing stroke. Suddenly he saw in the glass the figures of enemy cavalry sent to capture him. Acting for once in his impetuous life "on reflection," he leaped on his horse, his face still white with lather, and escaped down the perilous rocky stairway on what is now "Put's Hill"—to alarm his soldiers and disperse the enemy.

To just such rugged characters we owe the precious liberty that we have been helping to secure for the world today. And to just such common-sense razors as "Old Put's" we owe the most convenient and safest of all modern shaving implements—the guarded and detachable double-edged blade of the
