

OLD STARS RETURN TO SPUR OREGON TO VICTORY OVER O.A.C.

By Paul Farrington.
Eugene, Or., Nov. 14.—With the arrival of "Johnny" Becket, "Bill" Snyder, "Bob" Bradshaw, and Glenn Dudley, four famous former grid stars of the university, here yesterday members of the formidable Oregon machine, lean, lithe and keyed to the highest pitch, were last night put through a stiff workout under the eyes of Coach Huntington's assistants.

Extremely enthusiastic and determined to insure victory for the local institution, the four former heroes are carefully watching the work of Huntington's men, offering suggestions and giving talks to the lads who are to face representatives of the Corvallis school here Saturday.

Unquestionably "dope" favors Oregon. Over Corvallis was considerable talk is being heard concerning what the Aggies are to do to Oregon, but when betting is mentioned it is said that O. A. C. supporters are asking for an eight point margin. A Corvallis student here last Saturday declared there would be little if any even money to be found.

"Shy" Huntington is apparently a little worried. "There is a mistaken impression about the effect that we are to have a walk away," he said today. "The Aggies are in much better shape, physically, than we are, due to the fact that their first string has not played a game for two weeks and they have had ample time to rest and be in perfect condition. Nobody knows who will win Saturday. If we are victorious it will be only after a hard fight and the score is bound to be close."

"Bear" stories which are encircling Coach "Bill" over at the agricultural college to the effect that some Aggie players have hospitals metaphorically staring them in the face, are given little credence here. It is known that Corvallis has had a comparatively easy season and that when the whistle shrieks at 2:45 Saturday Aggies will use about what he wants to in the way of players.

Ed Ströwbridge, Oregon halfback, known to be about as gentle as a whizz bang shell, will likely start the game, according to "Shy." Ströwbridge returned from Portland this week where he had been confined on account of illness.

Other members of the formidable Oregon backfield are "Bill" Steers 130 pound quarter, "Brett" Manerud his 123 pound understudy, Hollie Huntington, fullback; V. Jacobberger, half, and Chapman, half.
