Rippling Rhymes.

SORROW

My ears are often sore and aching, my heart is on the edge of breaking, I hear so much of woe; the men I know are all complaining, their briny tears forever raining, wherever I may go. In some poor chaps grief is abiding because the cars in which they're riding are made of tin and rust; it makes them sore when costly wagons whiz up the road like fiery dragons, and cover them with dust. Of course to swallow dust is hateful; but it were better to be grateful that they have cars at all, that they have boats in which to travel at any speed, upon the gravel, and by the junkyard wall. The man on foot is feeling bitter because his neighbor, pompous critter, rides in a boat of tin; upon his tribly he goes tolling, and in his veins the blood is boiling, he scorns the cher-up grin. Green envy, reader, is the answer; it's gnawing like a deadly cancer. In Harry, Tom and Dick, it takes the bloom from human pleasures it turns to dross the old world's treasures, and makes the spirit sick.

CENTRALIAN DEPUTY KILLED BY ASSOCIATES

Centralia, Wash., Nov. 18.—That John Haney was killed by a member of his own posse and not by L. W. W. outlaws as had been reported, is the latest development in the situation that has held Centralia tense since the murder of members of the American Legion here a week ago today. The body of Haney was brought back to this city last night by a party which was subjected to the difficult task of carrying it many miles over mountain trails and forest roads.

Bulgarian Treaty To Be Signed November 27

Paris, Nov. 18.—The Bulgarian treaty will be signed November 27, it was announced here today. The supreme council today again notified Premier Venizelos of Greece that the Greek occupation of Smyrna must be considered provisional.

New Strike Of Miners Ordered In Colorado

Denver, Colo., Nov. 18.—A new strike of union coal miners in Colorado has been ordered effective Friday by District President George O. Johnson, who charges operators with refusing to re-employ leaders in the recent walkout.

Catholic Party Loses Control Of Belgium

Brussels, Nov. 17.—The overwhelming Catholic majority in the chamber of representatives virtually has been wiped out by Sunday's elections. Incomplete returns indicated the composition of the new chamber will be: Catholics, 79; liberals, 38; socialists, 65; other groups, 4.

Now that we've got a party fair idea of what a miner makes, let's have some dope on what the operators make. A hustler never knows what time it is.

THE PROFITEERING PROBLEM.

GENERAL LUDENDORFF in his commentaries on the war admits that the one problem German efficiency could not solve was the war profiteer. All the other big problems, armies, transport, munitions, commissary, strategy and countless others were satisfactorily mastered, but the profiteer, like the cootie, continued in business despite the effort to eradicate him. Says Ludendorff: Profiteering was the deadliest sin, and our inability to eradicate it was a matter of the greatest regret to me from the point of view of morale at home and in the field. Many times I made an effort to get to the bottom of it. The war profiteer is a loathsome phenomenon, and he and the corruption of his influence have done us incalculable harm.

Not only did the profiteer flourish during the war in Germany, but in other countries, including our own United States. Every war millionaire is a profiteer who coined the agony of humanity into dollars, who placed selfish greed above patriotic service. The profiteering, unfortunately, did not end with the war, but with the removal of federal restrictions, became universal in a world suffering the evils of reconstruction. Peace profiteering is not under the same stigma as war profiteering, but its effect is likely to be as disastrous. We see it on every hand, in the high cost of living, in the high cost of labor, in the diminished production, in the industrial unrest.

And we are as far from solving the profiteering problem as was Ludendorff when master of imperial Germany. Strict law enforcement and a public realization of the consequences and the patriotic co-operation of all the people will help eliminate the voracious profiteer.

SMALL COMFORT FOR DRYS.

FINAL results of the recent election were not very comforting to prohibitionists and indicate plainly that if submitted to the people, national prohibition would never carry. This is one reason why the drys have done everything in their power to prevent an appeal to the people and used their secret political machine to coerce legislators and congressmen.

Most of the people believe in home rule on this question, and while voting their own states dry, are unwilling to dictate to other states. Ohio which voted for state prohibition in 1918, in 1919 refused to ratify the national dry amendment.

The election showed the resentment of voters of Kentucky, Maryland and New Jersey, and presages a hard time for federal officers in enforcing dry laws without cooperation of state officials in districts opposed to prohibition. The result cannot be otherwise than to create a contempt for the law in the minds of many people—as any effort at sumptuary legislation against public sentiment does. Even in dry states, prohibition was voted to eliminate the saloon.

The organized liquor traffic is a thing of the past—but all the laws in creation will not prevent people from their home brews and home wines as their ancestors did before the saloon was invented.

LOVE and MARRIED LIFE by the noted author Idaho McGlone Gibson. OUR NEW HOME. I am wondering if I have always been unduly sensitive or whether it is only human to be uncomfortable when one feels out of place among a gay party?

I think perhaps it is a human trait for I recall that John was as ugly as a bear when he appeared at an affair in a business suit, and found all the rest of the men of the party in dress clothes. He did not carry off his annoyance and chagrin neatly as well as I did although he was among old friends and who understood, while I was making my first appearance and was sure to be subjected to very critical analysis.

Remember John said, when he got home from his party, that he would never visit that house again—that the hostess should have told him that it was to be formal, and it was nearly a year before I could persuade him to accept another invitation there. Being married to the man who put me in this position only two days after my wedding day I could not very well get rid of him had I so desired, and poor, dear John, I didn't want to.

When we came home in the car he was so loving and sweet and so perfectly satisfied with all that had happened at the club that I hadn't the heart to tell him of my unhappiness. "Well, that's over," he said, "and you've been introduced to the gang. Pretty decent lot of folks, aren't they? The women are handsomest in town and the men are all good fellows. Karl Shepard, to whom I am glad to see you take a fancy, is my very best friend. Karl would do anything for me."

"Yes, even to taking pity on your wife when she was in a most uncomfortable position through your thoughtlessness?" I thought, but I did not speak. I could not hold this in my

Editor The Daily Capital Journal: I have just read your editorial headed "Newspaper and Merchant" and according to my opinion, you just hit the nail on the head when you say, "Its columns of store news should be as interesting reading to the buyer as its news columns and its classified pages secure work for the idle. The newspaper is really the mirror which reflects the community."

I feel sure that you will have the support to make the Capital Journal (if it is not already so) one of the leading newspapers of the state. Very truly yours, LAWRENCE GALE.

Road Building on a Desert.

There is now nearing completion a 17-mile tangent of Lincoln Highway which cuts across the Salt Lake Desert, shortening the highway by some fifty miles. The desert surface is broken up by means of gang plows and shaped by means of road graders hauled by caterpillar tractors. Owing to the nature of the soil difficulty was experienced in moist weather, due to the weight of the tractors which sank into the mud despite their broad bearing surfaces. The difficulty was solved by bolting timbers to the caterpillar belts so as to broaden the tread of the machines. As the road bed is completed the gravel is hauled and dumped over it by means of motor trucks mounted on broad steel-tired wheels which serve to pack the road material.

Raised Vegetables for Lunch Room.

Vegetables canned from the gardens cared for by the school children will be a feature of the school lunch rooms in Wyandotte county, Kan., this winter. The vegetables were put up by volunteers under the direction of the home demonstration agent of the Department of Agriculture and the State Agricultural College. At the school cannery 1000 bushels of tomatoes, among other vegetables, were canned.

Make Sure Water Supply Is Safe.

Water for domestic use should be clear, lustrous, odorless, colorless, wholesome, soft, neither strongly acid nor alkaline, and its temperature for general farm purposes should be about 50 degrees F. These characteristics, however must never be deemed proof of purity, for a glass of water may possess them all and yet contain millions of disaster-producing germs. Any suspicious water should be rejected until both the water and the surroundings where it is obtained are passed upon by competent sanitation authority, generally the state board of health.
