

ARIZONA FLOOD DO DAMAGE RUNNING TO IMMENSE FIGURES

Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 28.—(United Press.)—Damage amounting to hundreds of thousands of dollars has been done by the floods of last night and today in Phoenix and vicinity.

While the crest of the Cave creek flood has not yet passed Phoenix, it is believed the greatest danger is over. Chief damage done was to highway and railway bridges, and to the canal systems.

Little apprehension was felt today that the flood now would reach the state capitol grounds although all officers moved out of the basement of the capitol building as a precaution.

The Arizona & Eastern railroad and the state highway bridges over the Agua Fria river were swept away.

So far as is known there has been no loss of life.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE SHOWS BIG INCREASE

Figures showing the great increase in school attendance in the city and county were released at the office of the county school superintendent today. The census shows 3655 boys and 2137 girls, or a total of 4192 children in the city's schools. City school attendance last year was 3650.

Attendance in the county schools this term is 13,161, compared with 12,162 last year.

2 NARROWLY ESCAPE WHEN MOTOR UPSETS

One person was lightly injured, and another severely shaken up when an auto, driven by a man whose name was given as Guy Young, ran off the highway east of the city, near the Oregon state penitentiary last night and overturned. The name of the persons hurt could not be learned by police.

According to information received at police headquarters Young was adjusting the spotlight on the car and he lost control of it, with the resultant accident.

Wife Of War's Greatest Hero Lonesome For Home

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 28.—The wife of the "war's greatest hero" wants to go home to Tennessee.

And so Sergeant Alvin C. York today considered cancelling his speaking engagement to take his little mountain wife back to the Tennessee hills, away from the smoke and grime of the big cities, which physicians think contributed to her present illness with influenza.

Aggies Overwhelm Gonzaga By 50 To 0

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 28.—With Captain Reardon, quarterback of the Oregon Agricultural college team, starting, Gonzaga went down to a 50 to 0 defeat here Turkey day.

Gonzaga played a hard game every minute but the O. A. C. aggregation was the better team.

The Aggies outplayed them at practically every point, although the Catholics started off with a rush that promised to endanger the Oregon team.

Gonzaga justified the promise that they'd fight yesterday. Their playing was much improved over the showing in the game against Idaho.

Because of the extremely cold weather only 1500 saw the game.

1523 Real Estate Dealers Licensed Under New Law

A total of 1523 real estate brokers have been licensed to transact business in Oregon under the act of the last legislature, according to C. Y. Johnson, manager of the real estate department of the state insurance commissioner's office. All licenses issued up to date will expire December 31 when new licenses will be required.

A new form of bond is also being adopted by the department and all brokers making application for the 1920 license will be expected to arrange for the substitution of the new bond form for that which has already been filed.

Local Briefs

Claiming that his wife associated too familiarly with another man while he was away to war, Ward N. Barrett in an amended complaint filed with the county clerk today, asks for separation from Rebecca Winifred Barrett. He filed his first complaint July 8. They were married in this city July 19, 1917. Barrett also charges his wife with desertion.

The date for hearing objections to the final account of W. M. Brown, administrator of the estate of Helen Howard, was set today by Judge Bushey for 10 a. m. December 29.

George W. Simery, who accompanied by his family, is en route to California to spend the winter, stopped over in Salem yesterday and spent Thanksgiving with friends. Mr. Simery's home is in Alberta, Canada.

H. B. Rowland of Baltimore, Md. was among the out of town visitors who spent Thursday in Salem.

E. B. Bohn, a resident of Astoria, was the guest of Salem friends on Thanksgiving day.

On a transcontinental trip, Otto Stubbert of Benton Harbor, Mich., stopped in Salem over Thanksgiving day.

The Foresters of America will enjoy a Thanksgiving dinner Sunday at 2:30 o'clock at their hall on North Commercial street. All members of the lodge are invited to attend.

Willamette chapter's total receipts for the Red Cross roll call at noon today amounted to $5398 as compared to $15,000 last year. Since Wednesday Jefferson has turned in $107; Monitor $44, Monmouth $140, Rickreall $17. Dallas, Independence and Aurora have yet to send in their receipts but the majority of other auxiliaries have reported.

A bench warrant for the arrest of K. M. Bennett, charged with driving an auto past a standing street car, was placed in the hands of police this afternoon. Bennett was to appear before Police Judge Race this morning at 10 o'clock, and his failure to do so caused the judge to issue the warrant for his rearrest.

Police headquarters has been besieged with questions about the new ordinance prohibiting cars from standing on the streets within the fire limits, between the hours of 12:30 a. m. and 5:30 a. m., and it is apparent that there is some misunderstanding as to the hours specified in the ordinance. Police wish to make it plain that the hours mentioned above are correct. The ordinance becomes effective December 2.

SECOND NOTE TO MEXICO ASKS DETAILS

fect knowledge of our penal laws. Imprisonment "justified."

"The imprisonment of Mr. Jenkins is neither unjustified nor arbitrary, as your note asserts, he himself having rendered and signed contradictory testimonies concerning the abduction of which he was the victim. The judge has had sufficient cause for supposing him to be responsible for the crime of rendering false judicial testimony, and this has merited his imprisonment. However, this imprisonment does not in itself signify that Mr. Jenkins is culpable, as this can only be established by a final judgment."

"During the course of the prosecution the accused may at any time request and obtain his liberty under bail. Mexican law is very liberal in granting it, the request and deposit of the amount fixed by the judge sufficient. Mr. Jenkins, by refusing to exercise this right, notwithstanding that he has been invited repeatedly to do so and that the judge has fixed as bond the sum of 1000 pesos, cannot, strictly speaking, call himself a victim of molestation which he voluntarily inflicts upon himself and furthermore he is being held in prison with all the attentions and comforts compatible with his condition."

U. S. Stand Attacked.

"The Mexican government finds itself unable to grant this demand for liberty contained in the note under reply and it is supported by strong reasons founded on the law of nations and considerations of a constitutional nature."

"The government of the United States appears to act under the notion that Mr. Jenkins is absolutely innocent, notwithstanding the fact that this matter is in the course of investigation. The Mexican government, without attempting to claim that Mr. Jenkins is culpable, limits itself to submitting the foregoing considerations to the United States, trusting that the department of state will postpone its judgment until the tribunals have pronounced their sentence, being assured that the officials of the Mexican government have no intentions of causing molestations or persecutions to Mr. Jenkins, but solely a sincere desire to act with justice."
