Odds and Ends

San Francisco.—When Mrs. George Taylor tried to heat a delicatessen plum pudding that came in a can, the blame thing exploded, landing her in the hospital.

Millmet, Ill.—Rev. Stephen A. Lloyd takes his texts from the streetcar ads. Next Sunday he will talk on the text "Ask dad, he knows." Last Sunday his text was "There's a reason."

Seranton, Pa.—James Calguire, 25, returned soldier, and his widowed stepmother, Josephine Calguire, 24, will be married Sunday. James will become stepfather to four stepbrothers and step sisters.

Des Moines.—M. W. Churchman carried money on his hip for eleven years and didn't know it. He opened a blister on his hip and a ten-cent piece, coined in 1908, dropped out.

New York.—Joe Levy's clients couldn't sit down because gamblers stole his furniture, then got themselves raided, and the police refuse to relinquish the evidence.

Los Angeles.—The "high cost of water" is the main factor in the high cost of milk, writes the farm bureau to the mayor. The letter explains the water is for irrigation.

Kansans Respond To Governor's Appeal

Topoka, Kan., Nov. 25.—Seven hundred volunteer coal diggers today responded to Governor Allen's appeal for men to mine coal in southeastern Kansas.

Governor Allen declared the power of the state would be used "to relieve the coal famine and protect the lives of those engaged in carrying out this effort."

Other offers of assistance today included 350 Indian students of Haskell Institute, Lawrence, the entire football squad of Kansas university and students of the Kansas State Agricultural school.

CARRANZA'S ANSWER.

CARRANZA'S reply to the American note demanding the release of Consul Jenkins indicates that the Mexican government is following the same procedure as the United States would follow in similar cases--has followed in numerous instances.

Jenkins is accused of kidnapping and of perjury before a Mexican court. He is held in jail pending investigation and hearing, merely because he refuses to put up the moderate bail of 1000 pesos (about $500) which would free him, preferring instead to secure liberty through the demand of the United States government, which would probably mean immunity. The deliberate pose of martyr to Mexican perfidy is one that raises suspicion as to innocence.

At least this is the Mexican version and it will require official investigation to justify interference by the United States. Occasionally a consul, even an American consul, goes astray and takes advantage of his position to break the laws of the land he is stationed in--and when he does, he cannot expect his country to go to war to save him.

In Mexico there is so much prejudice against Americans that accusation frequently means conviction and a fair hearing is impossible. That may be the case in the present instance, for none of the Mexicans is more prejudiced against Americans than the pompous president of the southern republic.

On account of the propaganda in progress to force intervention, all stories about Mexico and Mexicans must be taken with a grain of salt and an official investigation only can establish the truth about Consul Jenkins.

ONE UNFIT OFFICIAL.

THE strong arm of the government reached forth last winter, seized numerous alien "reds" in Seattle and other coast cities and rushed them by special armed train to Ellis Island, where they were held for deportation. The aid of the courts was invoked by sympathetic wealthy parlor anarchists to delay action, but the deportation orders were sustained. The anarchists, however, were never deported, but paroled by Commissioner Frederick C. Howe, in charge of immigration work at Ellis Island, upon their promise to appear when wanted--but of course they disappeared.

Thus the work of the department of justice in ridding the country of dangerous avowed revolutionists was nullified by Howe and the alien reds freed to continue their propaganda of industrial unrest. This action resulted in Howe's dismissal from office and a congressional investigation of his regime is now in progress.

Mr. Howe is the author of several books on democracy, which portray his radical tendencies. Before the war, he pictured German efficiency in government as a model for the world. An avowed pacifist and the writer of numerous anti-war articles, he was active in peace propaganda when the war was declared. If he aided his country in its struggle for victory, it was in too obscure a way to receive public attention.

Whether or not Mr. Howe was pro-German, like most of the so-called "intellectuals" of anarchy, there is no question of his being pro-bolshevist in tendencies and sympathies. He never should have been placed in a position where he could influence the immigrant against the country of his adoption and thwart the will of the government by giving aid and comfort to those seeking its destruction.

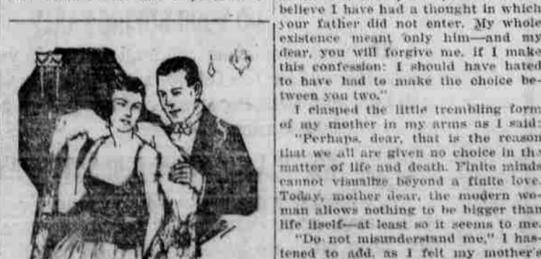

The "reds" held for deportation at Ellis Island are on a hunger strike. It is hoped the authorities let them starve themselves and so rid the world of a menace.

LOVE and MARRIED LIFE by the noted author Idaho McGlone Gibson

SOME MODERN IDEAS. "Come with me," said my mother, after a few moments. "I want to take you to your father."

Of course I couldn't say to my mother, who had all the old-fashioned notions, that I did not want to look upon my father's inanimate form.

Dear little mother would not have understood it. She would always have felt that I did not love him. Perhaps I am prejudiced, but it seems to me that when our names upon the form from which all life, all that we have really loved has fled, one's mind forever retains that last impression to tainly he attracts me more than any other man I have ever known. I think perhaps that should he suffer as father did I should take care of him in just the same way as you did, and would grow to feel that he was the object of my life.

But, my dear, sweet little mother, unless one has just the life that you and father had, I do not believe it is possible to have the oneness which is spoken of in the marriage ceremony. Modern life is too complex, and women have grown to understand that they are something more than men's playthings or men's servants. A woman no longer feels that when a man covers her with jewels that he is giving them only for her gratification.

Some of the saddest and most disatisfied faces I have ever seen have been those of women whose fingers and forms were covered with jewels. Mother clutched me with cold fingers. "Katherine, Katherine, you must not talk this way! If you let your thoughts run in this direction, you are laying for yourself the foundation of great unhappiness."

"What is one going to do, mother, dear, if modern thought and modern education have convinced woman that she is a human being after all? And looking about me, I am afraid that this knowledge has not brought any more happiness to other women than it has to me."

"I don't understand you at all," said mother. "That's the trouble," I answered. "That's the trouble with all the present day women--we are just finding ourselves."

Regular Habits Produce a Beautiful Complexion

Daily elimination rids the system of poisons. Women should realize that!

MANY women complain daily of their complexion, of their headaches and general ill health like realizing that the trouble is constipation. Women, too, are much more subject to such congestion than men, and much more careless of it. The result is seen in lusterless, weary eyes, in sallow, pimply complexion, in lassitude, bad breath, and in that word so often used, "indisposed."

At the first sign of these symptoms the wise woman will take a laxative, and will see that the young girl and others in her care do likewise. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the favorite with thousands of women because it is mild and gentle in its action and in the end trains the stomach and bowel muscles to do their work naturally without the aid of medicine.

This combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin can be bought at any drug store for 50c and $1 a bottle, the latter for families, for it is also a very sterling first-aid in colds, fevers and other ailments that make it advisable to always have a bottle in the home. It is free from narcotics and safe for the tiniest baby. In spite of the fact that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, there being over 6 million bottles sold each year, many who need its benefits have not yet used it. If you have not, send your name and address for a free trial bottle to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 311 Washington St., Mount-Cello, Illinois.

Druggists and Doctors Astonished At Wonderful Power of Nicotol To Stop the Use of Tobacco To Detect Harmful Effects of Tobacco Try These Simple Tests

New York.—Mr. Tobacco User, any druggist will tell you that a remedy to be successfully sold must, above everything, possess merit, otherwise failure is inevitable. Nicotol, the famous remedy for the tobacco habit, was a success right from the start, simply because it quickly does the work promised. We publish a few letters from some of the best known druggists in the country to give you an idea of what they think of Nicotol, and you may rest assured that they would not permit the use of their names unless Nicotol was something out of the ordinary. The Peoples Drug Stores have five of the best stores in Washington, D. C. They write: "Since we have handled Nicotol the sale has been greater than that of all the rest of the articles of this nature which we have ever held. The demand was so great that we were compelled to order it locally pending receipt of a shipment from you direct." Schramm-Johnson, who has six stores in Salt Lake City, says: "We take this opportunity of expressing ourselves relative to Nicotol. We have enjoyed a very large sale on same and it has given entire satisfaction to our customers." Jacob Brothers of Philadelphia, Pa., have this to say: "Our sales of Nicotol have passed our expectations. Our first order was placed late in March and we were forced to reorder before the end of April; the sales have kept up well ever since. There is no doubt that we are receiving many repeat orders from our customers and many expressions of opinion regarding the merit of this article have been very favorable." Dr. Conner, formerly of Johns Hopkins Hospital, tells how to detect the harmful effects of tobacco. Here is what he says: "Many men who smoke, chew or snuff incessantly and who are seemingly healthy are suffering from progressive organic ailments. Thousands of them would never have been affected had it not been for the use of tobacco to excess, and thousands would soon get well if they would stop. The chief habit-forming principle of tobacco is nicotine, a deadly poison when absorbed by the system, slowly affects the nerves, membranes, tissues and vital organs of the body. The harmful effect of tobacco varies and depends on circumstances. One will be afflicted with general debility, others with catarrh of the throat, indigestion, constipation, extreme nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of memory, lack of will power, mental confusion, etc. Others may suffer from heart disease, bronchial trouble, hardening of the arteries, tuberculosis, blindness or even cancer or the common affliction known as tobacco heart. If you use tobacco to excess in any form you can easily detect the harmful effects, by making the following simple tests: Read aloud one full page from a book. If in the course of reading your voice becomes muffled, hoarse and indistinct and you must frequently clear your throat, the chances are that your throat is affected by catarrh and it may be the beginning of more serious trouble. Next usual smoke, walk up three flights of stairs at a regular pace, then stop. If you find that you are out of breath, your heart beat is bored, trembling or irregular, you may be a victim of functional or organic heart trouble. If you feel that you must smoke, chew or snuff to quiet your nerves, you are a slave to the tobacco habit and are positively poisoning yourself with the deadly drug, nicotine. In either case you have just two alternatives—keep on with the self poisoning process irrespective of the dangers and suffer the consequences; or give up the habit and escape the dangers. You can overcome the craving and stop the habit in a very short time by using the following inexpensive formula. Go to any drug store and ask for Nicotol tablets, take one tablet after each meal, and in a comparatively short time you will have no desire for tobacco—the craving will have left you. With the nicotine poison out of your system, your general health will quickly improve." Note.—When asked about Nicotol tablets one of our leading druggists said: "It is truly a wonderful remedy for the tobacco habit; away ahead of anything we have ever sold before. We are authorized by the manufacturers to refund the money to every dissatisfied customer, and we would not permit the use of our name unless the remedy possessed unusual merit." Nicotol tablets are sold in this city under an iron clad money back guarantee by all up to date druggists, including Dr. J. Fry. (Adv)
