spoke to the women of the city in the First Congregational church, of her vastly interesting experiences in India. Previous to her appearance at the church, Miss Hill was guest of honor at a prettily arranged luncheon in the Y. W. C. A. rooms on North Liberty street. The table was centered with a bowl of lovely lavender chrysanthemums and covers were laid for Miss Hill, Miss Hamnerly, Mrs. F. A. Elliott, Mrs. A. N. Bush, Mrs. Charles A. Park, Mrs. William Kirk, Mrs. P. E. Graber, Mrs. H. C. Epley, Mrs. H. S. Gilie, Mrs. A. F. Marcus, Mrs. James Elvin, Mrs. Carl Gregg Doney, Mrs. W. C. Kantner, Mrs. W. W. Emmond, Miss Nina McNary and Miss Fiske, club secretary.

One of the most pleasant Thanksgiving gatherings in the city was the one at the Court Street Christian church, when 50 or 60 members of the congregation met for a festive celebration of the feast day. A Thanksgiving sermon was preached by the pastor, Reverend R. L. Putnam at 11 o'clock, and a sumptuous dinner followed, served in the assembly room. A gay array of variegated flowers ornamented the long tables upon which the feast was spread, and the repast was followed by a pleasant social hour. Prayer service at three o'clock, augmented by special music, culminated the day's enjoyment.

A quiet home wedding of November 23 was that of Miss Mary Long and John McGee. The ceremony was read by Reverend Leland W. Porter, at the home of the bride's brother, Dr. and Mrs. Will J. Thompson, of the Court Apartments. After the ceremony dinner was served to a few friends and relatives, the table decorations being prettily carried out with an old rose color scheme. Mr. and Mrs. McGee will make their future home in Portland.

The Dutch Treat club were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Miles last Monday evening. Season's flowers were used in abundance around the spacious rooms and a delightful informal evening was spent. The guest list included Dr. and Mrs. B. L. Steeves, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Legge, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Alden and Mrs. W. G. Allen.

The fourth anniversary of the organization of Chemeketa chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was celebrated recently, when Mrs. C. C. Clark and Miss Edith Benedict were joint hostesses at a meeting of the chapter. The business session was taken up chiefly with a discussion of the topic "Americanization" which has been chosen as the subject of practice for the present year. A pretty birthday cake with red, white and blue candles was a special feature of the delicious refreshments which followed the afternoon's business meeting, and was cut by Mrs. Seymour Jones, regent of the chapter. Mrs. C. C. Clarke presided at the urn.

A huge pumpkin filled with fruit centered the handsomely appointed table over which Mrs. P. E. Fullerton presided Thursday, when she entertained a coterie of friends at a sumptuous Thanksgiving dinner. Orange shaded candles assisted in carrying out the pretty golden color scheme, and added their cheery glow to the happy event. In the living room art baskets of marigolds were used to advantage in enhancing the motif. Covers at the tables were laid for Mrs. M. F. Hull, of Newport, Mrs. Emma Young, of Spokane, Mr. and Mrs. Elmore Tyrell, of Brooks, Mrs. Charles Burnett, Mrs. Ada Peterson and sons Merle and Donald, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Burnside, and children, Gladys, Edward and Clara Belle, and Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Fullerton.

A cablegram has been received by the National Young Women's Christian association, announcing the safe arrival in Colombo, India, of Miss Elizabeth Wilson, formerly head of the secretarial department of the Y. W. C. A., Miss Stephenia Hartwell, of Montclair, N. J., and Miss Margaret Weir, of Oakland, Calif., all of whom left New York City recently for the far country. Miss Wilson and her helpers went over to establish a Y. W. C. A. in India for native workers. Miss Weir and Miss Hartwell have gone on to Bombay while Miss Wilson is remaining for a while in Colombo. Miss Hartwell is a dietitian and was head of a large war time cafeteria for the Y. W. C. A. in Washington, D. C. when the association in that city helped to feed the thousands of women war workers.

Serving as a pretty little social complement to his two little nephews, Charles Kay and Robert Bishop, of Pendleton, who are spending the Thanksgiving holidays in Salem as the guest of their grandmother, Mrs. C. D. Gabrielson, Carl Gabrielson entertained a coterie of young belles and beaux with a charming party Tuesday afternoon. Christmas atmosphere vied for the honors of the occasion with the Thanksgiving season in the dainty decorations and delicious refreshments. Mrs. Gabrielson and James Young assisted the host in entertaining the children, and taxed their ingenuity in devising games and amusements for the twenty happy little guests who took possession of the Gabrielson residence and transformed it into a child's kingdom during the glorious afternoon. The lads and misses who enjoyed the hospitality of the host were Charles Kay and Robert Bishop, Sherman and Janet Plimpton, Henry and Nancy Thielson, Marion and Brainerd Rowley, Mildred and Helen Roberts, Caroline Lambirth, Henrietta Bishop, Harold Olinger, Chandler Brown, Jack Harbison, Charles Geir, Clarence Hamilton and Dorothy Livesley.

Mrs. W. A. Penny was charming hostess to the South Circle of the First Christian church at her lovely home, 250 Meyers street, last Wednesday afternoon.

noon. Complete plans for the annual bazaar to be held December 5 at the Gingrich Motor company was the business of the meeting.

Yellow chrysanthemums were used effectively about the rooms. The members present were: Mesdames H. Stevenson, Clifford Elgin, Harvey Stanton, E. H. Benton, Martha Mortenson, Charles Davis, Cass Gibson, F. T. Smith, A. J. Basey, W. Christian, J. F. Walker, J. Hall, R. F. Walcher, Ralph Hensley, Martin Viecko, Clarence Townsend, John Humphreys.

The next meeting of the Circle will be December 10 at the home of Mrs. Clifford Elgin, 1449 South Liberty street.

The social hour sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. last Sunday in their rooms on North Liberty street, was as great a success as the directors had anticipated, and consequently will be made a weekly event during the winter. The short and entertaining program was followed by the serving of dainty refreshments, about 25 girls being in attendance.

The cheerful solicitude of the association, and its kindly interest in the girls of the city is winning for it the ready appreciation of the citizenship of Salem, and assuring for it the hearty support of the community in any undertaking it may choose to further.

The annual banquet of the Philadorean society of Willamette university was held last week end in parlors of the First Methodist Episcopal church.

Yellow and white, the colors of the society were used as a decorative color scheme, and chrysanthemums of the chosen shades combined with ferns were used in carrying out the effect. Covers were laid for 80 members, following the banquet the guests repaired to the C. M. Sherwood residence where their annual reception was held.

Miss Jessie Gibson, who is attending the Oregon Agricultural college, is spending the holiday period at her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Gibson. The many friends of Miss Gibson will be interested in knowing that she is one of the recent pledges of the Sigma Kappa sorority there. Miss Marjorie Brown, daughter of Attorney and Mrs. George M. Brown, is also a pledge of the Sigma Kappa sorority and is at the college.

Mrs. William M. Plimpton entertained informally last Saturday afternoon in honor of Miss Ruth Cushing, attractive niece of Mrs. William Boot, who is spending the winter in Salem as the guest of her aunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Canfield, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Fullerton and Mrs. Lester Davis motored to Portland today to spend the week end. While there they will be the guests at the Seward hotel

Miss Ila Spaulding, who was a guest at the Kyle-East wedding this week, is a guest over the week end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles K. Spaulding.

Miss Bernice Craig, a student at the University of Oregon, is spending the holidays at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Craig, on South Commercial street.

Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Billingsly were the Thanksgiving guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James Whitehead, in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lowe (Reatha Hughes) of Forest Grove are spending the holidays in Salem as the guests of relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Ruef, (Florence Elizabeth Nichols) are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a daughter Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Meyers are in Seattle, spending the Thanksgiving

There's One Thing That Hasn't Gone Up

I
Said Mrs. McGuff to Mrs. Van Bright,
As they chatted one day on the Drive,
"I should not be surprised to be some day advised
Of a tax for just being alive!"

II
"The Landlord lifted my rent—which was high
As it was for the service they give—
The butcher, baker, the tailor, dressmaker,
Have doubled their rates—as I live,

III
"I can't understand how you manage, my dear,
To still run an automobile?
Why, the cost of a tire must be frightfully higher—
And they're poorer by quite a good deal!"

IV
Said Mrs. Van Bright, "Oh, I fully agree
That the sharks have us all by the ears,
And it's sad that we must calmly stand for the lust
And the greed of these bold profiteers.

"But you're wrong, I must say, in one instance, at least:
As to tires, I cannot agree;
Mine cost less than before, while their mileage is more—
They're Kellys, of course—as you see."

Our Ideal of a Six

After Sixteen Years of Experience

This new Mitchell Six is a two-year revision, based on a type which this famous factory had spent 14 years in developing. The Mitchell was among the pioneer Light Sixes. Our success with this type has won for the Mitchell an almost worldwide fame.

We have watched tens of thousands of these Sixes. Our experts have analyzed the service records on them. And this new Six is a two-year effort to utilize all that experience.

New in 100 Ways

But this new Six is not based on Mitchell experience only. We employed many new specialists—men who had helped develop other high-grade Sixes. Some of the ablest men in this field are now on the Mitchell staff.

They had plenty of time. Our factory was on war work. So this new model could not come out for a year after we expected.

Part by part, detail by detail, they worked out these new standards. Some worked on the motor, some on the chassis and some in our body department.

This new Mitchell embodies some 100 improvements. Many are very important improvements. Together they represent our ideal of this type after 16 years of car building.

Not Novelties

These engineers and experts have not aimed at novelties. The object has not been some catchy attractions. Most of the new things are simply advances.

The purpose has been to build a Six as it should be. To attain more strength and endurance, less operating cost, less upkeep; more of smoothness, comfort, room and beauty, less of wear and waste.

Our aim has been to correct every deficiency, little or big, which this type of car has developed. And to offer a Six such as men expect when they buy a car to keep.

The end in view is Mitchell prestige in the years to come. We are after lasting leadership in the type of car we build.

An Amazing Welcome

This new Mitchell, in the past few months, has met a surprising welcome. The first announcement brought dealers from everywhere. As the car became known, the demand overwhelmed us.

Today the great Mitchell factory is breaking all production records. Thousands of drivers of these new Sixes are spreading the facts about them. In nearly every center the Mitchell dealer is a leader. For the oldest, most experienced dealers now seek the Mitchell line.

These are new facts to consider when you buy a high-grade Six. This new Victory Model sets a new criterion. These new standards are advances one cannot overlook. So we urge you to compare this new-type Six with the type as it used to be.
