

GEO. TROWBRIDGE, EDITOR OF OREGON JOURNAL, IS DEAD

Portland, Or., Dec. 1.—Newspaper men from all parts of the northwest gathered here this afternoon to pay their respects to George M. Trowbridge editor of the Oregon Journal, for whom burial services were held at 2:30 o'clock, previous to shipping the body to Chicago. Mr. Trowbridge died late Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Trowbridge was first stricken ill in January, 1916, when an operation was performed at St. Vincent's hospital. After nine months' illness, he recovered and returned to his office at the Journal.

In August of this year, a recurrence of the first illness took place and although his illness was serious, he recovered sufficiently to return to his home at the Arlington club.

Three weeks ago his condition made it necessary for his return to the hospital where he remained until the time of his death.

Mr. Trowbridge was 55 years of age at the time of death. He was born in Dubuque, Iowa, in 1861, his parents being the Rev. and Mrs. James H. Trowbridge. He spent his boyhood in and around Chicago.

He was a graduate of Amherst college in the class of 1882 and later studied law in Northwestern university of Evanston. For several years Mr. Trowbridge practiced law in Chicago and Arizona, but his practice was abandoned more than 20 years ago, when he entered newspaper work, which endeavor he had since followed.

He was associated with the Los Angeles Herald in the capacity of city editor, and later was political writer on the San Francisco Bulletin, prior to his coming to Portland.

It was six months after C. S. Jackson took over control of the Journal in the fall of 1920 that Mr. Trowbridge joined the editorial staff of that paper. Until April, 1906, he served as political writer on the paper, reporting several sessions of the legislature and covering the land fraud trials. In the spring of 1906 he was made editor of the Journal, in which capacity he served until his death.

Mr. Trowbridge was unmarried. He is survived by one sister and two brothers. His sister, Miss Cornelia Trowbridge, arrived in Portland last Saturday, having been called when it became known that her brother was in a critical condition. The two brothers reside in New York. James Trowbridge is with the Franklin Trust company and Mason Trowbridge is an attorney for Colgate & Co.

George M. Trowbridge was a member and director of the Arlington club, and member of the University club and of the Chamber of Commerce.

The Burlington rate was $1.50 in both instances.

TRAIN BEARING COAL MINERS IS WRECKED

Topeka, Kan., Dec. 1.—According to advices received here from Humboldt, Kan., the Topeka special carrying troops and laborers into the coal fields was wrecked in the Humboldt railway yards early today. No casualties are reported. Eight coaches in the middle of the train left the rails. It was stated at the Santa Fe general offices. The train had aboard national guard companies from Emporia, Lawrence and Topeka, and students from Kansas University, Kansas State Agricultural college and Washburn college, it was stated.

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 1.—(United Press.)—Wreck of the troop and volunteer miner train at Humboldt early today was caused by some on throwing a switch as the special passed over it, according to reports to Santa Fe officials here.

STATE PROPOSAL MEN TO CONVENE TUESDAY

Pierre, S. D., Dec. 1.—Trend of the 1920 political campaign was expected to be indicated by convention of state proposal men, which opens here tomorrow. The proposal men will "propose" candidates. A report which gained some circulation today to the effect that presidential nominations would be left open by the convention, was scouted by delegates who had arrived at the meeting. Senator Miles Poindexter of Washington state will address a republican caucus tonight—the only one republican will be permitted to hold during the campaign, under the Richards primary law. He is expected to sound the keynote of the republican national campaign. Thus far, Major General Leonard Wood has been the most talked of man for the presidential nomination. Former back of Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois had been active and a good sized boom is under way. Senator Hiram Johnson and William Kenyon are also in the running. In the democratic camp there was some uncertainty as to whether a presidential nomination would be made. James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois was here. He will express the administration's desires on that point, it was reported. William G. McArdoo, Attorney General Palmer or President Wilson for a third term was the choice the democrats apparently had before them. Non-Partisan League delegates apparently have decided to confine their efforts to the state offices. They may throw their forces with either the democratic or republican convention. The convention will be called to order at 11 a. m. tomorrow. Slight increases are included in rates for residence telephone service which was not effected by order of the commission instituting the rates in effect May first. Under the new order residence rates will be $2.00 per month for individual line service, $1.75 per month for two party lines and $1.50 per month for four party line at all exchanges with the following exceptions: Portland, where the rate fixed is $3.25 for individual line, $2.50 for two party lines and $1.50 for four party lines. Albany, Astoria, Eugene, Pendleton, Salem, Springfield and Warrenton where the rate will be $2.25 for individual line, $2.00 for two party line and $1.75 for four party line. An additional charge of 25 cents per month will be made for the use of desk telephones.
