Who is sojourning in the east, being extensively entertained in Pittsburg this week. Miss Jones will leave her parents in Los Angeles for the winter.

Festering in the holiday season with a grand flourish, the bazaar to be held at the Marion hotel Thursday, by the women of St. Paul's Episcopal church, will be one of the big events of the coming week. Everything that has heretofore been a feature of a bazaar will be in evidence and many things that are original with the ladies, will be presented. There will be an apron booth at which may be purchased all of the 57 varieties, from the lace excise that a woman dons at tea time, to the rosy bungalow affair in which she does the spring housecleaning. There will be a booth containing dainty caps for milady's boudoir, and lovely embroidered towels and linens for the debutante's cedar chest, to say nothing of the baby boudoir booth upon which the young matrons will focus most of their attentions, and the utility booth, of incomparable interest to housewives.

The women in charge of the various factions of the bazaar are Mrs. L. S. Geer, manager; Mrs. George Bingham, Mrs. Joseph Baumgartner, Mrs. S. B. Edwards, Mrs. V. G. Shipley, Mrs. Amos Strong, Mrs. William Lytle, Mrs. Edames Walton, Mrs. Frank Spear and Miss Eliza Nolan.

The wedding of Miss Gene Lowe and Earl D. Carver, both of Donora, was solemnized Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. L. K. Page. Reverend T. S. Anderson, of the first Presbyterian church officiated, using the double ring ceremony. Yellow and white chrysanthemums were used in artistic abundance in the decorative scheme, and the entire house was transformed into a bower of the lacy flowers. The wedding march from "Lohengrin" was played by Mrs. Belle Brown, and Miss Oussel. Niles sang Chadman's "At Dawning." The bride wore a smart navy blue tulle and a corsage bouquet of bride's roses. A dainty wedding supper was served after the ceremony. Mrs. Carver came from Los Angeles a few years ago, and Mr. Carver was formerly a resident of Montana. At present he is connected with the firm of Mays, Carver & Grof, in Donora, and after a short honeymoon the young couple will make their home in that place.

Mrs. E. N. Avison was gracious hostess at a meeting of the Women's Home Missionary society of the First Methodist church, Wednesday afternoon. The lovely rooms of the parsonage were enhanced by the artistic decorations of late autumn flowers, interspersed with ferns and greenery. Daintily shaded crimson candles added a soft glow to the arrangement of the tables at which tea was served. The hostess was assisted in receiving and serving by Mrs. H. H. Vandervoort and Mrs. J. T. Kuntz. Miss Genevieve Seay pleased the guests with a well rendered vocal solo and responded to an encore. She was accompanied at the piano by Miss Laura Shipley. Mrs. M. Paroungian was in charge of the lecture, the subject of which was "Shall foreign languages be taught in public schools?" Mrs. Underhill presided at the business meeting. About 50 guests were present. The society meets on the first Wednesday of every month, and is always looked forward to as an event of importance from both a church and social standpoint.

Stealing a march upon her Salem friends, Miss Marjorie Kay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Kay, former state treasurer, and one of the most popular members of the younger social set of the city, announced her engagement to Kollis Huntington at Suzanne Wednesday night, at the Gannett.

40 WINTERS, 40 SUMMERS—SINCE THEN HAVEROLLED AWAY

Forty winters and forty summers have rolled away since persons who are living and well today first took the prescription for "Number 40 for the Blood." "Number 40" is compounded from ingredients that are set down in the U. S. dispensatory and other authoritative medical books as follows: Employed in diseases of the glandular system, in bloo poisoning, mercurial and lead poisoning, scrofula, rheumatism, catarrh, constipation, liver and stomach diseases. Under its use, sores, ulcers, nodes, tumors and scrofulous swellings that have withstood all other treatment disappear as if by magic.
No. 40 is sold by Schaefer's drug store.

prettily appointed table were Mrs. Charles Hays, of Portland, Miss Laura Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Peary and Mr. and Mrs. Zinser.

Matrons of the Junior Guild of St. Paul's church were delightfully entertained Monday, with a charming luncheon and an afternoon of sewing. Mrs. Ted Edwards and Mrs. Amos Strong were joint hostesses at the pretty affair, at which 15 guests were present. The guild will give a bazaar next week upon which the interest of the ladies in centering, and the sewing done Monday was in anticipation of the event.

Mrs. R. E. Carrier was charming hostess at a meeting of the Theatrical class of the First Methodist church on Monday evening. The class is composed of a group of teachers in the local schools, and is one of the most progressive in the church. Mrs. Florian Von Eschen is teacher of the class. A pleasant evening of sewing and social converse was spent, culminating with the serving of dainty refreshments by Miss Bell, president of the class. About twenty guests were present.

Honoring the birthday anniversary of Mrs. E. L. Stiff, Mrs. Delbert Burton and herself, Mrs. U. S. Page entertained a coterie of friends with an enjoyable card party recently. Mrs. Stiff and Mrs. E. C. Quinn received the honors and at the close of the games a delicious luncheon was served by the charming hostess. The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Stiff, Dr. and Mrs. Fred Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Quinn, Dr. and Mrs. Delbert Burton, and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Davidson.

Undoubtedly one of the prettiest affairs of the last week end was the dancing party for which Mrs. M. D. Claggett, Mrs. Mae Radcliffe, Mrs. Homer Incey, Miss Jennie Krutzger, Miss Ethel Fletcher.

The W. R. Cross residence on the Silveaton road was the scene of a delightful family reunion on Thanksgiving day. All the children and grandchildren were present with the exception of the family of one son, R. B. Cross of Kelso, Washington. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Olson of St. Helens, Ore., Mrs. Tom York and four children of Kelso, Washington, Isaac Cross of Hood River, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cross and three children of Gervais, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Cross and two children, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Ligon and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Cross, Edgar Cross, Melvin Cross, Homer Cross, Miss Gladys Cross and Miss Mildred Cross all of Salem.

One of the prettiest affairs of the week was the dance at the Masonic hall last evening, sponsored by the drill team of the United Artisans lodge. An elaborate decorative scheme was carried out with flags and greenery, and special music was a feature of the evening. One of the largest crowds ever in attendance at an affair of this kind was present. Plans are being made for another dance to be given in the near future by the lodge.

Marigolds and chrysanthemums formed a dainty centerpiece for the five course dinner given by Mrs. Mrs. Howard Zinser presided Tuesday evening, honoring the birthday anniversary of her husband. Circling the
