

QUOTOS OF MAKION COUNTY CHURCHES IN DRIVE ANNOUNCED

Two hundred and forty thousand dollars has been announced as the Oregon diocese quota for the forty-two million dollar financial part of the national campaign of the Episcopal church. Of this national total twelve thousand five hundred nine dollars has been assigned to St. Paul's church at Salem and $440 to St. Mary's church at Woodburn.

Beginning December 7th an every member canvass will be made of every Episcopal in every parish in the United States. The Episcopal church is planning a remarkable development of its work. It plans to enlarge the scope of its usefulness, not only in the nation but all over the world, and it is to finance this work that all Episcopalians will be asked to pledge a small sum weekly to finance the work.

Oregon's Benefits Large

In addition most parishes will add their nation-wide quota the estimated budget of their church for the next three years making a combined effort to secure the total sum required both for the nation-wide campaign and for local use at the same time on the basis of weekly, fortnightly, or monthly pledges.

The Oregon diocese is expected to receive approximately two dollars for every dollar it offers in the nation-wide campaign. Many of the smaller parishes and missions will be financed to help them to carry on and enlarge their work. Five small automobiles will be provided for rural work in big rural districts. A religious community house will be built at the University of Oregon on land owned by the Episcopal church, to provide a social center for students and at the same time a religious center where their interest in church affairs may be kept up while they are in college. It is probable also that the University of Oregon will be the headquarters in the northwest for college work of the Episcopal church. Similar work will be carried on at Corvallis.

Educational Work.

In addition the church plans to equip logging camps with chaplains so that a program of education may be carried on which may combat bolshevism and I. W. W.ism with christianity.

Announcements made for the Oregon budget will be tentative as the Oregon commission in New York has not finally decided on the expenditure of the fund to be raised.

The nation-wide campaign is the proof of Billy Sunday's old utterance: "When the Episcopal church wakes up—look out."

The Episcopal church is truly waking up and realizing its responsibility and intends to be a greater factor in the future.

BUSY WEEK BEFORE "Y"; FROLICS ARE PUT ON SCHEDULE

The coming week will be a busy one for the entire staff at the Y. M. C. A. The permanent staff consists of the following: James Edwin, secretary; O. J. Hull, physical director; Miss Goldie Witzel, day clerk; Leo Fausaus, night clerk; Miss Gretchen Brown, pianist, and Sam Phillips, superintendent of building.

A new series of volley and buff ball begins on Monday evening at 5:30 sharp. At the banquet on Friday evening George D. Alderin and Edwin M. Hofnell were elected captains for the new series. They have selected their teams.

On Tuesday evening the boys rally will be held. Preparations have been made to entertain 125 boys, all under 14 years old. They will meet at the "Y" directly after school, have their exercises on the gym floor and a swim in the tank.

Rev. H. N. Aldrich will lead them in a rousing song service of popular songs. An excellent duet will be served. Miss Bertha Clark will whistle, and E. Cooke Patton will do some of his wonderful tricks. Harold Cook of the Boy Scouts and Dr. E. E. Fisher will deliver brief talks. After singing "America" the boys will be dismissed at 7:30.

Feed to Be Held.

Thursday evening at 6 o'clock the regular weekly "feed" of the members of the club will be held. This club now has about 30 members and 11 of them are delegates to the Older Boys conference meeting today and tomorrow at Albany. Sixteen boys are delegates from Salem to the convention. At the meeting Thursday evening reports will be made by the delegates from the Salem H. Y.

Friday evening a meeting of all candidates for the commercial basketball league will be held. Thirty members of the "Y" have signed up for this year's league. Captains of the various teams will be elected and practice will begin immediately.

Repairs to Be Done.

During the week paper hangers and painters will begin work papering and painting the game, reading and social rooms. When the rooms are finished a public reception for all friends of the local "Y" will be given.

Sunday afternoons at 3 o'clock the leaders of the dozen bible classes at the university meet with the secretary. There will be no public Sunday afternoon religious services until the rooms are renovated.

"GUILTY"

Would it be that when the jury came in?

Out there in the Indian jungle, her beast of a husband, murdered. The evidence all against her. Her love, her hopes, shattered and buried in England. The verdict would matter little after all.

Then came the witness for the defense! Surprise—suspense—scene after scene of appeal to the heart that is simply overwhelming! And an end—well, this is one picture you won't dare to miss.

MOORE BUYS IMPERIAL FURNITURE BUILDING

W. H. Moore today became the owner of the Imperial Furniture store building, a two-story brick block at 177 North Liberty street, paying the heirs of the E. P. McCormack estate $26,500 cash for the building. Mr. Moore came to Salem in 1910 from Hutchinson, Kansas, and entered the furniture trade. On December 1, 1918, he bought out the Imperial Furniture store and fixtures, put in a new stock and has increased his business 300 per cent. This is not all that Mr. Moore has done since he arrived in the capital city of Oregon.

He bought himself a home, helped organize the Salem Bank of Commerce, of which he is a director, and built the Moore block of two 2-story modern brick stores.

Mr. Moore is a progressive business man in the prime of life and thinks well of Salem because Salem has done well by him.

Republican Convention May Be Held In West

New York, Dec. 6.—Governor Sproule of Pennsylvania and Governor McKelvie of Nebraska will make the "keynote" addresses at the meeting of the republican national committee in Washington next Wednesday, according to an announcement by Will H. Hays chairman. Hays also will speak.

The chief business of the Washington meeting will be selection of a time and place for the national convention. Chicago, St. Louis, San Francisco and Ashbury Park are the chief bidders and the date is expected to be about June 15.

ALLIES TO RENEW WAR UPON GERMANY

military program will be supported if the pact is not signed, it was said.

Artillery Is Moving.

The Matin reports an important movement of French heavy artillery on the right bank of the Rhine already is under way, according to the dispatch. Numerous guns already have crossed the Kehl bridge.

Andrew Bonar Law, government spokesman, in a speech at Glasgow, declared the allies have the power to enforce the peace treaty and if necessary, will enforce it.

The London press today agreed action was necessary to enforce immediate and strict compliance with the terms of the treaty.

"Germany's fate is in her own hands," declared the Mail. "There already has been too much delay, evasion and talking. Germany must comply or suffer the consequences."

Other newspapers took a similar view, voicing the opinion there has been too much "impudent bickering and treacherous controversy."

By Henry Wood
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Paris, Dec. 6.—The allies today were prepared to start a new triple invasion of Germany if she refuses to sign the protocol to the peace treaty, in the opinion of well informed persons here.

Press and public alike were confident a virtual ultimatum will be dispatched to the German government within 48 hours.

Blow Under Way.

Preparations for a decisive military blow already are under way. Under the armistice terms the allies can renounce that agreement upon three days' notice, re-establishing a state of war. It was learned authoritatively, however, they probably will give Germany another chance to sign the protocol and agree to the execution of the peace treaty before renouncing the armistice.

Following conferences between Field Marshal Wilson of Great Britain and Marshal Foch of France military plans to enforce the terms of the armistice have been completed. These substantially are the same as those made in June when it was uncertain whether Germany would accept the treaty of Versailles, it was learned.

Foch at that time prepared a triple plan of invasion of Germany by Belgian and British armies by way of Essen and Munster toward Berlin. American and French armies from Frankfurt up the valley of the Main, completely separating northern and southern Germany and by French armies in Lorraine toward Ulm.

French Cors' d'ars Attack.

Owing to Germany's attitude, the French government is mobilizing all aviation as well as recalling the younger classes demobilized infantry. It was rumored today. If further occupation of Germany is necessary, these steps probably will be taken soon, it was said.

Dispatches from Germany announcing heavy movement of allied troops, indicate the allies are settling their forces for the drive should the situation demand it.

Huns Are Alarmed.

Meantime, the attitude of the German delegation in Paris, headed by Baron Kurt Von Lersner, has changed from one of bluff to alarm.

The French press today unanimously pointed out the general opinion of Germans was brought on largely by the failure of the American senate to ratify the peace treaty. Germany, in the opinion of the newspapers, sees in the American senate's action an opportunity to secure revision of the terms.

Many persons in well informed French circles today were confident the Germans eventually will accept the terms of the armistice, but it is all that is needed, they believed.

BUSINESS MEN FAVOR HIGHER PAY PROPOSALS

and ought to carry by a large majority. I fully endorse the proposed increase."

Four definite reasons are cited by Mr. Winslow for his support of the proposal, as follows:

"First, because, considering the education required for that character of service the teachers are underpaid."

Dollar Buys Less

"Second, because the dollar of today is only worth 47 cents in purchasing power and the teachers will still be receiving less than they formerly received in actual value."

"Third, because of the splendid attitude of the teachers toward the schools, the public and threatening to strike; they are only asking fair treatment, and their attitude should be considered."

"Fourth, because, while I do not fear for the remainder of this year,

N. M. Lewton at Moose Hall, Sunday

N. M. Lewton, lecturer and Bible student, will be in Salem next Sunday and will give one of his lectures on "Jesus Comes Again! How? When? Why?"

There are un-numbered reasons why he cannot come the second time in human flesh, and this regardless of the expectations of the majority of Christians.

All the wonderful events and signs of the times point to the present as the due time for the Second Advent.

The reasons for His coming, when understood as explained in the Scriptures, are full of hope and joy for the world. The "Golden Age" of poet's dreams, but awaits His command for its inauguration.

The late C. T. Russell, the most noted and recognized Bible student since the Apostles, has this to say in Jesus' Second Advent: "Who then are these who look for Him and to whom He will appear the second time, unto Salvation? We answer that in the Time of Trouble, and subsequently, the whole world will begin to look for the Deliverer. All nations will be desiring Him—not as a sinner offering again, but for their salvation. As mankind will get their eyes open to their need of salvation, they will be looking for this deliverance by the Christ in glory. They will never see Him with their natural eyes. But they will look for Him in the same sense that we now see Jesus—they will see Him with the eye of Faith."

Moose Hall, Sunday Dec. 7, at 2:30 p. m.

for I believe the teachers will fulfill their contracts, yet I do fear for the future, when it comes to making new contracts, if the public refuses to recognize the adverse conditions under which our teaching force is laboring."

Raise Good Business

What consideration of the proposed good business is evidenced by the support of the city.

"The law of supply and demand should not be considered in securing teachers," says Paul Wallace, "but we should consider what we are getting."

"The extensive preparation required of the teachers should be given due consideration. I am heartily in sympathy with paying higher salaries to the teachers and will support the movement."

E. H. Choate, director of the Salem Business Men's league, declares that "in my opinion the teaching profession is just as important and as noble as medicine or law, and should be paid for accordingly. We cannot afford to lose good teachers because of insufficient salaries. Therefore, we must support them in their efforts to secure proper remuneration. I believe a large majority of the business men of the city agree with me, but many are likely to be careless and neglect to vote. Here lies the danger of defeat. We ought to consider it our duty to our children, as well as to the teachers, not only to think favorably good teachers and to our city I must toward the increase but actually to vote for it."

Teachers Deserving

"I am in favor of the proposed raise of the teachers' salaries," is the endorsement of Isadore Greenbaum. "Conditions are very different from those of a few years ago. The teachers require a lot of preparation to fit them for their positions, and are entitled to a living wage."

G. E. Unruh is another of the professional men who favor the increase. "I believe that the teachers of the Salem public schools are entitled to the increase in salary they are requesting, not only by reason of the high cost of living, but from the standpoint of efficiency, and in order to better prepare themselves for the duties which they must perform."

Demand Too Modest

"In my estimation," says J. B. Litter, "the amount asked by the teachers is a very low advance compared to the advance of living costs, with the outlook of still higher costs on everything to eat and wear. It would be only just and fair to allow even more than $150 a year, or 16 2-3 dollars a month."

Theo. Roth puts his support of the movement in the following words: "In all fairness to our children we cannot lower the standards of our schools by employing incompetent teachers at low salaries. We must keep the salaries of our teachers on a level with those paid in other cities of our state. So in fairness to my children, to our children, as well as to the teachers, not only to think favorably good teachers and to our city I must toward the increase but actually to vote for it."
