

FOOTBALL GAMES IN COAST CONFERENCE IN 1920 SCHEDULED

Football schedules of the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate conference teams for next year are to be much more evenly balanced in the distribution of major games than they were this year according to the schedule just announced by the officials of the conference.

To the manner in which big games of the various colleges were bunched close together this year is attributed the system of upsets of the "dope" in the contests. Practically all of the colleges played at least three hard games in as many weeks during the height of the season and were, consequently, afflicted with reversals of form in the latter engagements.

The schedules are arranged for next year as follows:

- Oregon Agricultural College
 October 23—Washington at Seattle
 October 30—California at Portland
 November 6—Open
 November 13—W. S. C. at Pullman
 November 20—Oregon at Corvallis
 November 25—Multnomah at Portland

CARPENTIER REGRETS PACT WITH COCHRAN

Paris, Dec. 11.—Georges Carpentier, the 142 lb. pugilist, does not want Jack Dempsey to sign up with Promoter Cochran for a fight.

The French has signed with the English promoter to meet Dempsey in London before February but the contract is not binding unless Dempsey signs.

Manager Descamps has received several larger than Cochran made and he does not want to see the fight go through.

"If Dempsey does not sign we can hold the fight some place else where there is more money," he said. Descamps said today that he did not believe the fight would be held in the United States.

LEONARD IS WINNER BY KNOCKOUT ROUTE

Jersey City, N. J., Dec. 11.—Benny Leonard, world's lightweight champion, knocked out Mel Coogan, Brooklyn, in the second round of a scheduled eight round bout here last night. Coogan was floored three times in the second round. The referee was counting him out, his second were heaving water in his direction, Leonard was half way through the ropes trying to kick the water throwers when the referee stopped counting and dragged Coogan to his corner. Joe Benjamin, Leonard's stable mate, knocked out Tommy Touhey and Al Reid scored a technical knockout over Al Roberts, Staten Island heavyweight.

FLAX SEED SOLD

R. B. Goodin, secretary of the state board of control announced today that 6000 bushels of flax seed has been sold by the state to T. A. G. Gordon of Sarnia, Ontario, Canada, at $6 a bushel. The shipment will be made at once. It is probable that the carload will be filled out by the Oregon Flax Fiber company of Salem.

OPEN FORUM

Editor Journal: The rigid enforcement of our peculiar Salem dog ordinances at this time of the year is causing great inconvenience to dog owners and suffering to the animals. While this ordinance was enacted by the people, and many voted for it unadvisedly in preference to paying a high license it works great hardship on people who still think they cannot get along without a dog. At this season, when there are no flowerbeds or gardens to suffer from dogs, when the city is short, by police, many people keep dogs as a protection against burglars. As no form of sanitary dog toilet has been invented, the animals have to be let out of the house several times a day, and the owner's premises cannot be kept on the owner's very few people have their property fenced. So it amounts to denying anyone to keep a dog in the city of Salem. Hunting dogs, collies and watchdogs generally must have a chance to exercise. Women living in houses with no one to protect them against house breakers keep a dog for that purpose. With a state prison and state insane asylum Salem is subject to dangerous characters being released or escaping at all times. Only last year an insane patient who escaped attacked a woman living on the Slough road with a knife, saying he was licensed to kill people, and was driven off by a faithful watchdog. In Kansas the other night burglar broke into a man's store and one of them drew a gun to shoot the proprietor who appeared. The man's dog flew at his throat and received the deadly bullet in his breast, saving the life of his master. Many a loyal legion man who served his country in Europe and saw the valuable work done by dogs in the army and Red Cross work on the battlefield, comes home to find a law enacted making it a crime to keep a dog in a humane manner. It would seem as if the city officials could find some way to allow people to keep dogs in this city on the same terms as they are kept in other sane American cities, and not put us in a freak class. The present system costs the city good money and provides no revenue, produces ill-feeling, and still dogs run at large day and night. There are a few extremists who would have all dogs and cats killed but they are not persons with human hearts, loving pets and children and recognizing civilizing values in the affections children feel for a kitten or puppy. It is to the credit of Poundmaster Walt Low that he is reported as being very much against the present dog ordinance but feels it is his duty to enforce the law. There is not a city official but says he is opposed to the present system of handling dogs. The city attorney announces that the state law conflicts, as it requires a state license and with the law allowing dogs to be assessed as property the city has no authority for taking and killing dogs paying a state license or tax. A friend in the city has an old bird dog, too old to hunt but refuses to be left behind. He climbs into the machine and sleeps there all night so as not to be left out of the hunt. His hind legs give way and he gets out of breath. But he insists on going across the fields with the hunters and the younger dogs. Sometimes he gets stuck in a fence or crossing a creek and has got to be helped like a baby. He is in his second puppyhood. But he loves the hunt and when younger dogs find a bird he will "stand" and wag his tail valiantly, backing the younger dog, and after the kill come up humbly and get a sniff of the feathers. Once in a while when the birds are plentiful old Tuck will stand a single bird himself. The live-long day he will trail along, although crippled up with rheumatism and old age, as game as the gamest human, and a lesson in endurance that no one who ever saw him will forget. We talk about the dog as man's best friend. But what kind of a friend of the dog is man. I hope some way may be found that dogs may be allowed to live in our big beautiful city and play their part in usefulness and cheer of human beings.

COL. E. HOFER.

The author of the following poem is unknown, but it expresses the sentiments of the undersigned, in regard to the "Salem Closed to Dogs" idea of those who were never children and know not the friendship of the boy's best playmate nor the "old swimmin' hole." Verily, it's a cruel world.

CANIS FIDES, GENTLEMAN.

I own a dog who is a gentleman. By birth, most surely, since the creature can boast of a pedigree the like of which holds not a Howard nor a Metternich. By breeding. Since the walks of life he never wagged an unkind tale abroad. He never snubbed a nameless cur because Without a friend or credit card he was.

HEAL SKIN DISEASES

Apply Zemo, Clean, Penetrating, Antiseptic Liquid. It is unnecessary for you to suffer with eczema, blotches, ringworm, rashes and similar skin troubles. Zemo, obtained at any drug store for 35c or $1.00 for extra large bottle, and promptly applied will usually give instant relief from itching torture. It cleanses and soothes the skin and heals quickly and effectively most skin diseases. Zemo is a wonderful, penetrating, disappearing liquid and is soothing to the most delicate skin. It is not greasy, is easily applied and costs little. Get it today and save all further distress. The E. W. Rose Co., Cleveland, O.

By pride. He looks you squarely in the face Unshrinking and without a single trace Of either diffidence or arrogance Assured as such as upstarts often flaunt.

By tenderness. The littlest girl may tear With absolute impunity, his hair. And pierce his silken, flowing ears, the while He smiles upon her—yes, I've seen him smile.

By loyalty. No truer friend than he Has come to prove his friendship's worth to me, He does not fear the master—knows no fear— But loves the man who is his master best.

By courtesance. If there be nobler eyes, More full of honor and of honesties, In finer head or broader shoulders, Then have I never met the man of ho—nd.

Here is the motto on my lifeboat's log: "God grant I may be worthy of my dog."

No Word Received Relative To Mexico's Note Answer

Washington, Dec. 11.—Neither the state department nor Mexican Ambassador Bonillas had any word as to when there will be a reply from Mexico to the last American note relative to Consular Agent Jenkins. A crisis is believed to be near in Mexican internal affairs. Carranza had a special train at Tacuba for a fortnight ready for immediate departure from Mexico City, according to dispatches here. These preparations apparently are due to a belief that a clash is likely at any time between the Carranza forces and those of General Obregon, the strongest candidate for president at the elections next July.

A total of 1745 accidents of which 11 were fatal reported to the state industrial accident commission during November.

Total disbursements of the various state departments through the secretary of state's office for the month of November were $1,860,000.

Sportsmen To Care for Game Birds This Week

Few people know it, but the Oregon Commercial club has a department devoted to the interests of the sportsmen and the welfare of the game birds of this vicinity. This department is composed of Dr. H. H. Olliger, chairman, Edward Hostein and Paul H. Hauser. In response to calls from the sportsmen of this vicinity, Mr. Hauser this morning called on Carl Shoemaker, state game warden, who said that while the present weather conditions were not particularly harmful to the birds, no doubt when the snow started to melt there would be grave danger of the birds starving on account of their feet and tails collecting sleet and ice and in which condition they would not be able to rustle food. Mr. Shoemaker stated that the fish and game commission would like to have every sportsman take it upon himself to put out some feed in available places for the game birds, and that the commission would be glad to stand one-half the expense, the same having been approved by Mr. McCroskey of the Commercial club, or any of the members of the committee.
