Olive E. Fox, 41, who recently came to this city from Portland for treatment in a local hospital, died Saturday. The body was shipped to Portland Sunday by the Webb & Clough company, where funeral services and burial will be held. She is survived by her husband, J. C. Fox of Portland.

Bazaar at the Hotel Marion Tuesday Dec. 16th. Opens at 10 a. m.

Officers of the humane society are offering the suggestion to those persons of Salem who are feeding the birds, to take care and feed them out of reach of cats, as there is as much danger of the little songsters being killed in that manner as there is in starving or freezing.

The bazaar postponed on account of the bad weather, will be held Tuesday Dec. 16th at Hotel Marion. Opens at 10 a. m.

David Hutcheon, 31, whose home was at 1660 Wilbur street, and who has been accepting treatment at the state tuberculosis hospital, succumbed to that disease Sunday afternoon. The body is at the Rigdon company's parlors. No funeral arrangements have been made. Hutcheon was born in Buchan, Scotland, November 14, 1888, and came to this country when a boy. He is survived by his wife.

The Chautauqua Desk and Blackboard makes an attractive Christmas gift for children. Phone 400 evenings for personal demonstration.

The W. C. T. U. meeting which was to have been held Dec. 16, has been postponed until December 30, when they will have a scientific program followed by the silver tea.

C. H. Gram, state labor commissioner, and Wm. A. Marshall, chairman of the state industrial accident commission, went to Portland today to attend a session of the executive committee of the state federation of labor.

W. J. Irwin, supervisor at the state hospital farm, who has been seriously ill with pneumonia for several days, was reported today as being considerably improved and as practically out of danger.

J. C. Byrd of Spokane is a visitor in Salem and will remain until after the Christmas holidays. He is the brother of Dr. W. H. Byrd and Dr. Roy D. Byrd.

The Misses Vesta Smith and Dorothy Davidson will entertain a number of friends this evening with an informal dancing party at Cotillion hall. Invitations have been sent to a large number of the younger set, and the affair promises to be one of the prettiest informal affairs of the season.

The tri-weekly business men's billiard tournaments at the Y. M. C. A. have been postponed until after the cold snap. This was decided by the captains, Alder and Huffman. Several of the players have been on hand at each meeting night and games played, but no scores have been kept.

Arthur Conklin, for the past year a resident of Portland, and before that a resident of Eugene, has been named by C. H. Gram, state labor commissioner, as assistant labor commissioner. The addition to the bureau is necessitated by reason of the increased duties of the department.

In spite of the inclement weather, the social hour at the Y. W. C. A. yesterday was very well attended. These affairs, held every Sunday afternoon, are becoming extremely popular with the young women of the city. A short program is always featured, followed by a friendly hour of conversation and the serving of refreshments. Miss Pake, girl's secretary of the organization, reports a great amount of interest in Y. W. C. A. activities, especially in the Professional and Business Woman's club, formed recently.

Louis Maudine Colwell, five months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Colwell, died Friday evening at the family residence, 2605 Laurel avenue. The funeral was held this afternoon at one o'clock at the chapel of the Webb & Clough undertaking company, with burial following in the Lee Mission cemetery. Rev. Thomas Anderson officiated.

Dance Wednesday night at Moose hall.

The bazaar, sponsored by the women of St. Paul's church, which was to have been held last Thursday, but was postponed because of the unfavorable weather conditions, will be held Tuesday, December 16, at the Marion hotel, Commercial street entrance. The women have been working tirelessly in an effort to make the affair a success, and each department has been supplied with everything needed to accomplish the ultimate object.

Mrs. Alta A. Martin of Los Angeles, Cal., arrived in Salem this morning for a holiday vacation with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. L. G. Altman. Mrs. Martin is a graduate of Williams university, and well known in Salem, where she has resided in Los Angeles for the past several years. She was expected to arrive last evening at 7:45 o'clock, but owing to transportation difficulties, the train did not arrive until early this morning.

The Standard Oil company has broken the road between Salem, Turner, Aumsville and Stayton, making a trip to supply their patrons with oil. With no extreme changes in the weather the road will be in fairly good condition in a few days. Local officials of the company announce that there is plenty of oil on hand in Salem at present, the only difficulty being the question of making delivery under very difficult conditions.

Mrs. Walter McDougal, accompanied by her two children, Louise and Walter, have returned to Salem after an absence of several months. They have been summering in England, later spending an extended visit with relatives in Buffalo and other New York cities. Mr. McDougal did not accompany them on their trans-Atlantic trip, and the eldest child, Miss Marjorie, has been staying at Sacred Heart academy during her mother's absence. They are at present domiciled at the Marion.

Damage of approximately $3000 was done to a passenger car of the Oregon Electric system yesterday morning when a trolley wire broke standing on Minto siding, in south Salem, and was due to leave for Portland a half hour after the fire occurred. No one was in it but the conductor and motorman, who escaped without injury. Only the top of the car and outboard engine responded to the call, but became stalled in the snow drifts and could not lend assistance in combating the fire.

Plans for the O. A. C. Salem club dance to be held in the armory on the evening of December 30, are progressing rapidly. President Kerr of O. A. C. probably will address the guests at the dance, and it is planned to invite Governor Olcott to give a short lecture. Many prominent business men and society women of the city are lending their assistance to the students who have the dance in charge.

One of the particularly attractive features of the bazaar to be given Tuesday, December 16, by the women of St. Paul's Episcopal church, is the cooked food booth. The Utility booth, baby boudoir booth, and apron booth, are also occupying a large share of the time of the ladies in charge. They will have on hand a number of timely Christmas suggestions for housewives and professional women.

D. W. GRIFFITH PARTY REPORTED SAFE TODAY

New York, Dec. 15.—D. W. Griffith and party in Nassau. Will wire again when I receive further details. The telegraphic news received from Assistant Director Smith of the Griffith Motion Picture company in Miami by the New York office today. Earlier reports had said the producer and company of 38 persons since Wednesday when they left Miami for the Bahamas were safe but this was the first official word. Griffith's office here still believed he would "be home for Christmas."

Milk Men Beg Patrons to Aid In Delivery Troubles
The milk man is having his troubles along with the rest of us. In addition to having to get around over the blockaded streets with a team and wagon and wading snowdrifts up to his waist in order to reach his customers, he finds that upon reaching the door step of the anxious consumer that there is no return bottle waiting for him, and consequently the dairyman has used his entire surplus of bottles. So, please Mrs. Housewife, empty up the milk bottles and put them where the milk man can get them.

Henry Ridgeway Drops Dead While Splitting Wood In Yard

Henry H. Ridgeway, 62, a farmer residing two miles west of Liberty, dropped dead while splitting wood in the woodshed Saturday afternoon. His body was found by Mrs. Ridgeway who, growing alarmed at her husband's absence after the noonday meal, went in search of him. Ridgeway is survived by one son, Chester, and wife, who live at Liberty, and two daughters, Mrs. Helen Carlton, Portland, and Henrietta Hirsch, Juneau, Alaska. No funeral arrangements have yet been made. The body is at the parlors of the Webb & Clough undertaking company, Court and High streets.
