PIONEERS CELEBRATE WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Hon. and Mrs. Abner Lewis, 1525 State street, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last Friday afternoon and evening. Owing to the extreme weather conditions, the elaborate program which had been planned for the occasion was omitted, but hosts of friends and relatives braved the cold, and came to offer their congratulations. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis were both born in Oregon, and were married December 12, 1869, on the old Baker donation land claim, one mile east of the state training school. For nearly fifty years they resided on their farm 21 miles east of Salem, selling the place last May, and moving into Salem that same month. Mrs. Lewis was formerly Margaret A. Baker, a member of one of the state's most prominent pioneer families. Her husband served in the legislature during 1898. They have six sons living: A. N. Lewis, a merchant of Seattle; E. B. Lewis, a resident of British Columbia; O. E. Lewis, operator of a fruit farm near Salem; Dr. F. D. Lewis, a physician of Portland; J. C. Lewis, also of Portland; and C. A. Lewis, of the Salem Abstract company.

Jack Johnson, Once Prize Ring Champ, Now Toreador Premier In Mexico City

By Ralph H. Turner (United Press Staff Correspondent.) Mexico City, Dec. 14.—Jack Johnson, toreador premier. By such auspicious title is the former heavyweight boxing champion of the world being hailed in Mexico. 'Lil Arthur made his debut in the bull ring this afternoon before a huge crowd. He scored a technical knockout over two large bulls after a real fight during which he was felled twice almost for the count. He proved himself an able jumper on two occasions by clearing the high wall of the enclosure with an enraged bull's horns close to his anatomy. Jack was given a great ovation when he strode across the ring. He scorned the conventional outfit of the bull fighter and appeared attired in a stiff collar, shirt sleeves, white flannel trousers and duo-colored sport shoes. A flashy multi-colored toreador's cape was thrown about his shoulders. Wife Is Present. His head was bare and the sun beat down, illuminating the "million dollar smile" as of old. His white wife sat in a ringside box and, in accordance with the custom of bestowing the cape on the lady of the toreador's choice, Jack bowed elaborately and handed it up to her. The bull then entered and Jack waved a red flag. The bull rushed him and Jack feinted and jabbed with his old time cleverness. The bull, however, found an opening and charged at the mid-section of his negro opponent. Jack clinched his horns and then went down. After several more rounds Johnson rammied the spear before the front haunches and the bull was out for the count. Leaps to Safety. Some mistake was made by the "stage hands" and the second bull was released before Jack had completed responding to the applause. He was still bowing in low graceful sweeps when the new bull charged at his rear. He made a six foot leap and landed in one of the boxes. This exhibition took all the fight out of the bull and he absolutely refused to be anything but congenial when John Arthur returned to the ring. An assistant speared the animal but he refused to move and look-around as if to spot a sponge that he might toss in the ring. Jack finally became exhausted trying to pick a fight out of the bull and exited in a riot of applause. BOXING New York, Dec. 15.—Joseph D. RAILROADS BEHIND CUMMINS BILL IS CHARGED BY NORRIS

Washington, Dec. 13.—Charges that an organized propaganda has been started by railroad interests to force passage of the Cummins railroad bill were made by Senator Norris, Nebraska, in a speech in the senate. After voicing the allegations, Norris introduced a resolution asking the senate into interstate committee to investigate to what extent railroad executives are conducting a propaganda to influence congress and how much money they are spending. Norris read newspaper clipping declaring $1,000,000 had been raised by railroad officials to spend in a campaign to secure enactment of the Cummins bill. Pomerene, Ohio, declared that a propaganda is also being conducted against the Cummins bill and in favor of the Plumb plan. Norris offered to accept an amendment to his resolution covering this point. Senator Summins warned that he will keep his bill before the senate right through the Christmas holidays unless it is passed before that time. Should a filibuster develop, Cummins will demand application of the cloture rule. If Cummins stands by his determination, it is believed senate leaders will veto his aid and get the measure disposed of. The bill will then go to conference between the house and senate but delays incident to this proceeding will make it practically impossible to get new railroad legislation enacted into law before new year.

HEALTH CONDITIONS MUCH IMPROVED

Washington, Dec. 13.—Health conditions throughout the United States have greatly improved during the last year, Surgeon General Rupert Blue, head of the public health service, informed the United Press today. This improvement, he said, is due in part to prohibition and to the lessons of hygiene learned during the war. Relief from war strain also helped reduce sickness, he believes. Only a small number of Spanish influenza cases are being reported. Latest reports to the surgeon general from all sections of the country he said, show the death rate to be below the average. Linn county, which now claims to have more breeders of purebred stock than any county in the state, is planning to form a breeders' association.

The greatest masterpiece in the Art Gallery of Life is Nature's "Picture of Health". It is a marvelous portrayal of the human body at its best. It beholds in its composite detail a true symbol of strength. It presents a figure of striking appearance in its erect carriage, clear skin, sparkling eyes, strong limbs, steady nerves and firm muscles; fairly vibrating in animation—keen, alert, fresh, and spirited; with an air of unbounded confidence and a face radiant in color and illuminated with a glow of hope and cheerfulness. Could Nature have taken you for her model? Suppose you study yourself in the mirror of the present and compare your looks, your features and your condition with the general characteristics of this picture of the human body in perfect working order, all parts of which are sound, well organized and disposed, performing their functions freely, naturally. If you fall in any single point of resemblance, you are not the picture of health. It's imperative, then, that you look to a means to rebuild your strength, energy and vigor—to bring your body up to a normal state of efficiency in all of its parts. LYKO is held in original packages only. Like picture above. Refuse all substitutes. The Great General Tonic.
