Dec. 30—O. A. C.—Salem dance at armory.

Due to the abnormal weather conditions, the Women's Missionary society of the United Evangelical church has postponed the meeting regularly scheduled for Wednesday, December 17, until Wednesday, December 31.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. McCluskey are spending a few days in the Capital city, while en route to their home in New York. While here they are at the Maroon.

The employees of the state industrial accident commission announce that they have put off the dance which was to have been given Friday evening, until a more propitious time. Detailed announcements concerning the affair will be made in the near future.

The Royal Vacuum Cleaner, Welch Electric Co., 379 State St.

Children coasting on Lincoln hill have wrought havoc to a fence around the property owned by John Carson. Today police were watching the coasting truck for careless "stealers" who run into the fence. Patrolman Thompson answered a call from Carson and found that the fence had been wrecked by sleds running into it.

Police today were investigating the burglary of the Elgin Six auto agency headquarters, South Commercial street, reported to have been entered some time Sunday night. The burglary was reported last night. Nothing was found missing, and it is believed that the quest of the prowlers was vain. Entrance was gained by jimmying the lock from the rear door of the establishment.

For the Laundry Queen Washing machine, Welch Electric Co., 297 State St.

The mechanical voting machine coming into use generally throughout the United States has been approved by the state board of control, according to a communication to the city council, read at last night's meeting, from Ben W. Olcott. The communication said that any elector may acquire as many of these machines as are desired, and that their use conforms to state law.

The entire stock of the Perrier-Bros. shoe company has been sold to Perner-Cohen, well known shoe men of Portland, according to an announcement at the Paris shoe store today. The purchasers will take hold of the business at once, and intend to hold a mammoth pre-holiday sale of shoes in the city.

With the Willamette slough frozen over from a point just above the mill to the end of the slough, Salemites who prefer outdoor sport of this nature have been ice skating for the last two days. There has been a thin coat of ice ever since the first day of the storm, but it was not until Sunday that it was considered safe to venture very far out on it.

F. N. Derby, I. Greenbaum and Tom Cronise, appraisers in the estate of the late William S. Mott have filed their valuation report concerning the property involved in the appraisal recently completed. The estate's holdings comprise personal property valued at $19,875 and real property held at $19,875,44 all of which is located in Marion and Polk counties.

Although scheduled to appear at the Grand, Saturday, December 20, the University of Oregon Glee club has canceled Salem and other appearances in Oregon towns. The closing of the Glee club's schedule can be blamed upon the inclement weather and the closing of the university for the holidays. Manager Bligh of the Grand has not received word that the engagement will be fulfilled.

Preparatory to an active year after January 1, teams of the Y. M. C. commercial basketball classes will form tonight at a meeting at 7:30, and captains will be selected. There were no classes in basket ball this year, and much interest in the tournaments during 1920 is anticipated. The teams will devote the remainder of this year to practice, and beginning January 1, scores will be kept. Teams are formed of members of business firms, who will select their own captains and players.

All trains of the Oregon Electric lines are running on regular schedule today according to J. W. Ritchie, local agent for the lines. During the recent storm the electricity propelled trains had little difficulty sections, but open country sections, but encountered the packing of ice and snow on the tracks. The company has had a large crew of men busy cleaning track and switch sections during the past three days.

Mrs. H. B. Scovell, residing at route 1, Salem, has received word from Dr. Scovell, who has been at Pittsburg, Pa., for the past few months, stating that the eastern and New England states are undergoing unusually severe weather conditions but that inclement conditions are even more radical in the western states. Dr. Scovell is taking a post graduate course chiropractic in the eastern city, but expects to return to Salem by the first of the year.

Adoption papers have been filed by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Luper in the adoption proceedings of Jeannette, 14, and Zella May Wellbanks, 12.—Jeannette Wellbanks became of age December 8, and her own consent to the adoption is attached to the other instruments in the matter. The girl's parents are both dead and in becoming the adopted daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Luper they acquire the name of their foster parents so that it is now Jeannette Luper and Zella May Luper.

Miss Grace Humphreys is among the Oregon Agricultural college who are spending their Christmas vacation with their parents in Salem.

The Glen hotel, 148 North Commercial street, has been sold to J. C. Smith, proprietor of the Hotel City of Portland, who will thoroughly renovate it throughout. Among other improvements, he will install a furnace and pipe the building so that there will be hot and cold water in every room.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Bayne is home for the holidays and is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bayne. Miss Bayne is secretary of the freshman classes at the Oregon Agricultural college and a member of the Delta Delta Delta sorority.

Officials of the Marion county children's bureau, have announced the postponement of the December baby clinic until next month the next clinic date to be January 15, unless changed by later announcement. Parents who have received notice pertaining to the December clinic as planned are requested to ignore such notice until the January date. The decision to postpone the clinic was influenced by the present unfavorable weather, the Commercial club rooms in which the examinations of the youngsters have been held being rather chilly these days.

Achievement day, the gala event of the year for the boys' and girls' industrial club work of Marion and Polk counties as represented by the United States National bank pig club of Salem, has been postponed due to the inclement weather. It is now planned to hold the club work conference on the final day of the Marion County Corn show, which has also been set back for future announcement. The boys' and girls' clubs of this section of the Willamette valley have just cause to celebrate this anniversary of their work, as representatives of the club have won recognition at stock holding in many fairs of the northwest, during the past season. One of the features of the coming meeting will be a county judging contest staged by industrial club members.
