While driving into Salem Saturday night, R. D. Gray, banker of Turner, broke the springs of his automobile when he encountered the crossing of the Turner road and the Southern Pacific tracks near the state penitentiary. This is said by motorists to be a particularly rough crossing, as the county paving stops abruptly a few feet from the intersection, on both sides of the track. According to Mr. Gray, he was driving at a rate of 15 miles an hour.

THE BISHOPS BUY ANOTHER WOOLEN MILL

Telegraphic dispatches from California announce that the Woolen mills of Eureka, California, had been taken over by C. M. Bishop of Pendleton and R. C. Bishop of Salem, Or. As soon as possession is given the mill will be put in operation in the manufacture of Oregon textiles, more especially known as Bishop's Fabrics. These young men are also the owners of the woolen mills at Pendleton and at Waukegan, Wash., and the Columbia Knitting Co. of Vancouver, Wash., and through Roy T. Bishop they are allied with the Oregon Worsted Co. of Portland, in the manufacture of worsted knitting yarns.

MADE IN OREGON WEEK

The Associated Industries association of Oregon are asking the merchants of Salem to put on a "Made in Oregon Week" the latter part of January in which the several store displays will be made of Oregon manufactured products and special effort will be made to show and familiarize the people of Marion and Polk counties with products of our state. The Woolen Mill store is going to take an active part in this "Made in Oregon Week" campaign and has already made arrangements with a number of manufacturers for displays and it is plan of the management to put on a display that will be worth seeing and the entire public is cordially invited to view the exhibit. Capable salesmen will be provided to explain the different lines, and as this is purely an exhibit affair no one will be importuned to buy. A list of the Oregon made lines that we expect to represent will be given the public as soon as final details can be arranged.—C. P. Bishop.

To try to control railroad rates by arbitrarily limiting profits is to put the manager who makes his profits by efficiency and economy on the same level as the one who tries to accomplish the same result through extortionate charges.

—Hadley Railroad Securities Commission; Report to the President—1911.

THE old-time pack-bearer could carry a hundred pounds ten miles a day.

The railroad is the modern pack-bearer. For every employee it carries 2,000 times as much.

Back of each railroad worker there is a $10,000 investment in tracks and trains and terminals, with steam and electricity harnessed like a great beast of burden.

Without this mighty transportation machine the railroad worker could do no more than the old-time packer. But with it he is enabled to earn the highest railroad wages paid in the world, while the country gains the lowest-cost transportation in the world.

The modern railroad does as much work for half a cent as the pack-bearer could do for a full day's pay.

The investment of capital in transportation and other industries increases production, spreads prosperity and advances civilization.

To enlarge our railroads so that they may keep pace with the Nation's increasing production, to improve them so that freight may be hauled with less and less human effort—a constant stream of new capital needs to be attracted.

Under wise public regulation the growth of railroads will be stimulated, the country will be adequately and economically served, labor will receive its full share of the fruits of good management, and investors will be fairly rewarded.

This advertisement is published by the Association of Railway Executives.

Those desiring information concerning the railroad situation may obtain literature by writing to The Association of Railway Executives, 47 Broadway, New York.
