

OFFICES IN TRADE COUNCIL RETAINED BY CONSERVATIVES

Action assuring conservative control of the Central Trades & Labor council of this city was taken at a meeting Tuesday night of that organization when they re-elected President L. J. Brazier, and Vice-President Pascal Traglio to retain their offices for two years. The election came off without incident, the state having been prepared before hand.

Other officers elected were: U. L. Lehman, recording secretary; William Darby, treasurer; trustees, J. M. Newberry, J. H. Arnold, Johnny Humphrey; foreman, Henry Peterson, and recording clerk, H. H. Hubbard.

It is reported that there has been some effort in the ranks of the Central Trades & Labor council by radicals to gain control and several weeks ago a great deal was meted to this element in a heated debate at the labor temple.

BELGIANS AND DUTCH ADJUST DIFFERENCES

Brussels, Tuesday, Jan. 13.—A satisfactory solution of the economic problems arising out of the revision of the treaty of 1839 has been reached by the representatives of Belgium and Holland, but it is asserted that no final accord will be reached at present.

The question of the Scheldt is reported to have been settled by a plan for two commissions, one for the Scheldt which will sit at Brussels, and the other to deal with the Ghent-Ter Neuzen canal, to sit at Ghent.

In accordance with the provisions of the peace treaty a canal will be dug to connect the Scheldt with the Rhine, extending above the Meuse and reaching Duisburg. This canal will connect Strasbourg and Antwerp.

DEATH PENALTY BILL AMENDMENT LIKELY

Although 26 of the 29 members of the senate sponsored senate joint resolution introduced Monday and fixing death, with no alternative, as the penalty for murder in the first degree in Oregon indications, in the arguments waged around a substitute measure sponsored by the judiciary committee of the senate which were only cut off by adjournment at noon, are that the senate will compromise by inserting a provision in the measure which will permit the jury to recommend life imprisonment.

Fish And Game Fight Postponed By House Today

The fight over the fish and game commission was postponed until 3 o'clock this afternoon when the House convenes for the afternoon session. Consideration was delayed because the printed bill was received too late from the printers to be considered this afternoon.

The bill read as follows in part:

Sec. 1. There shall be and there is hereby created a state board of fish and game commissioners, which shall consist of nine members, eight of whom shall be elected by the legislature in the manner hereinafter provided. Five of said members shall be selected to represent the game interests of the state and they shall constitute the game commission of the state board of fish and game commissioners.

The members of the said state board of fish and game commissioners as elected by the legislature shall take office on the first Monday in March 1920, and the term of office of the members of said commission shall be four years; provided, however, that one game commissioner and one fish commissioner shall serve until the first Monday in March 1921. Two game commissioners and one fish commissioner shall serve until the first Monday in March, 1922, and two game commissioners and one fish commissioner shall serve until the first Monday in March, 1923, and hereafter the legislative assembly of the state of Oregon at its regular session next preceding the expiration of the term of office of any set of commissioners shall elect their successors for a term of four years and until their successors are elected and qualified.

Said state board of fish and game commissioners shall on the first Monday in March, 1920, and annually thereafter, organize and elect a ninth commissioner, who shall be independent and not identified with either the game or the commercial fishing interests, and said ninth commissioner shall be chairman of said board of fish and game commissioners. The chairman of the commission shall be elected by a majority vote of each commission. The chairman shall preside over all of the meetings of said commission, but shall have no vote, except as hereinafter provided.

San Francisco, Jan. 14.—Dairy producers starting sliding down the upper range of the H. C. L. ladder when the price of fresh extra eggs declined six cents to 91 cents per dozen, and butter, four cents to 82 cents per pound at the San Francisco dairy produce exchange.

Thrift Campaign To Urge Life Insurance As Protective Means

By James Elvin.

The first man was married. A beloved wife. Three darling kiddies. All in the best of health. Then, an accident. The widow and three orphans alone, without support—except—except for his life insurance.

He had supplied their bread and butter while he lived.

He had provided their bread and butter for the days when he had gone.

He had learned years before that life insurance is tomorrow's bread and butter.

The second man started work at 19. At 40 he was a success. His business thrived. His bank account was large. His credit was good. But at 50 he was penniless. Sudden reverses had ruined his business, depleted his savings, shaken his credits.

His Foresight Saved Him.

Years before he had been insured. He had paid his premiums promptly.

And now, his insurance money set him up in business anew.

In five years he was as prosperous as ever.

Today he has more insurance than before.

He has learned that insurance is tomorrow's bread and butter.

And the third man. He never seemed able to save. Every week he promised himself: "Next week I'll start a bank account."

Next week became next month; next month became next year. The account was never started. At 65, he hadn't saved a cent; he couldn't earn much any more. What was to become of his wife and himself in their old age? Where would their bread and butter come from?

From Their Life Insurance!

He had never banked his money, but he had insured his wife and himself throughout the years.

He had insured his wife and himself

NIMRODS PREPARING FOR BUMPER SEASON

The call of rod and gun is enticing many sportsmen of Marion county to take out 1920 licenses. A larger number of combination licenses are being issued than usual, especially at this time of the year. Many of the game-seekers state that the combination form is much handled to carry in addition to safeguarding the hunter from inadvertently trying to hunt on his fishing license, or vice versa.

Combination hunters and anglers permits were made out Tuesday to: A. Adams, Ed Hamel, Miles T. Bradford and E. E. Loose, Salem residents.

Hunters licenses were made out to the following: E. W. Cooper, H. G. Leudletter, A. G. Wulfweyer, C. O. Dennis, Delbert Moore, Y. Mentzer, J. C. Herren, James Imah, Holland Jory, F. H. Shedeck, Earl T. Anderson, Alex Smith and E. B. Wood, of Salem; E. N. Browning, Portland.

One fishing license was issued Monday to Clifford Ratcliffe, Salem.

NEW JURY Disagrees; Sent Back For Deliberation

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 14.—The jury in the case of Harry S. New, on trial for the past month charged with the murder of Miss Freda Lesser, reported at 10 o'clock today that it had been unable to agree.

Judge Gavin W. Craig ordered the jurors to retire again for further deliberation.
