Rippling Rhymes. BY WALT MASON

WINTER WINDS.

The winter, slow dragging, is spoil-ing our lives; the wild winds are nagthey are ranting, they give us a pain; sti night they are chanting a dippy refrain. The wild winds are bolder than wild winds should be, and keener and colder than bergs in the sea; they come and deliver a smart and a sting, and sufferers shiver and clamor for spring. And spring will be slippin' along pretty soon, and spring is a pippin, with roses of June. And how we will love her, the garlanded around us and sing! If winter wer banished, to come back no more, wa'd find, when it vanished, that opring is a bore. We wouldn't be grateful for breezes of May, if winter the hateful, were out of the way. The tong night is chilly, and plastered with snow: the mercury's silly, it fourteen below; and thus we're in training the spring to enjoy; so cu out complaining, and cheer up, my

BACK TO FUNDAMENTALS.

THERE is as much danger to the republic from reac-I tion masquerading as patriotism as there is from radicalism preaching its destruction. The one tends towards Prussianism, the other towards Bolshevism. Both seek the destruction of liberty, the suppression of free thought. The triumph of either is fatal to democracy.

The American people need no protection from any kind of propaganda. They can be trusted now as they By earrier 50 cents a month. By mail kind of propaganda. The safety of the nation lies in free discussion of boiled all the bread-and-butter, and tom of the pot with his long under-lip discussion and protect the people from ideas is kaiserism.

When we have to protect the people from themselves, we cease being a democracy.

In a twinking curry had all the beans tard pie to be about as enjoyable as in his mouth. And he would have grinten any dainty he had ever tasted. And the hadn't been wedged so tightly into the ed with streaks of yellow custard, Current and the beans in his mouth. And he would have grinten and he when we have to protect the people from themselves, we case being a democracy.

Following the French revolution, there was an influx of alien revolutionary ideas and agitation in the United States. Drastic repressive legislation provided in the alien and sedition bill, which suppressed free thought to protect the people, followed. This caused a popular reaction and the triumph of the principles of the bill of the principles of the bill of the case being a democracy.

And to his great astonishment its cover fell off, and soon Cuffy was the bean-pot and out of that pot, Cuffy lifted his head. And to his great astonishment its cover fell off, and soon Cuffy was the bean-pot and out of that pot out of rights.

Following the Russian revolution, there has been a similar influx of alien revolutionary ideas and agitation, which is producing drastic repressive legislation similar is like Billingsgate wives; all day to that of a century and a quarter ago to protect the people. Yet the ideas of the French revolution did not affect the republic any more than the ideas of the Russian revolution will alter it now.

The people need no protection. Such repressive legislation only destroys democracy and makes government a despotism and destructive of the ends it was created for, and there is no surer way of fomenting revolution when mockingpirds hover than by laws and government repressive of popular rights and free thought. Such repression created the French revolution and the Russian revolution and will if sanctioned in America, product another revolution here.
