Zadoc Riggs, proprietor of the Capital Drug store on State street, and Dr. Charles H. Robertson are among the Salem folk who left for Portland Sunday, to attend the Shriner festivities.

Pleading guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct, late Saturday, A. D. Spier was fined $10 when arraigned in the recorder's court. The charge was entered by the proprietor of the Capital Exchange, 337 Court street.

Mrs. Walter Low, wife of the city street commissioner, is confined to bed at her home, 245 Washington street, suffering a severe cold. It was thought Sunday that it would develop into pneumonia, but Monday she showed slight improvement.

Those taxi drivers in Salem who have not yet obtained new running licenses face arrest, according to City Treasurer Rice Monday. Mr. Rice said that several taxi drivers here have not yet obtained licenses, and he warned that the period allotted in which to secure the licenses was nearly ended.

A street lamp at the corner of 12th and Bellevue streets, where the driveway enters the Southern Pacific depot yards is greatly needed, according to several motorists who have narrowly escaped accidents there. Police said Monday that several taxi drivers have complained about the absence of a light there. One taxi driver reported that because of his inability to see the driveway in the darkness he drove up onto depot yard into a row of rose bushes.

J. H. Baldwin, brother of Colonel A. J. Baldwin, is visiting for several weeks at the latter's home on Nob Hill. Mr. Baldwin is a state senator in the Minnesota legislature, and connected with a prominent law firm in that state. He is in the northwest in connection with some large lumber interests.

Police received a report Saturday from W. G. Fisher, 995 South 12th street that while driving down 12th street near the woolen mills, he had collided with the delivery automobile of the Lebold grocery company. The front fenders of both cars were badly smashed. The proprietor of the grocery store immediately settled all damages satisfactorily.

Pat Devine, 49, arrested early Sunday morning on downtown streets by Officers Eramson and W. J. White for being drunk, was given a suspended sentence of five days in jail or a fine of $10 by Police Judge Race Monday. Pat told the judge that "moonshine" whiskey had produced his intoxication, but declined to tell where he got it.

The regular tri-weekly business men's billiard class will meet at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium at five thirty o'clock Monday night. Since the inclement weather that served as a check to the games only small teams have been out, probably half of the members of the teams. This has prevented the selection of captains on either side, and has held back the tournaments.

Attention of the public is called by the Home service section of the American Red Cross, to the fact that the government insurance may now be received in a lump sum if so desired, instead of in the monthly payments, as was hitherto the case. However, for those who elect to take the monthly payments, during the twenty year period, as was at first specified, thus allowing the government the use of the balance during that time, the accumulated interest will have amounted to $3800 at the end of the twenty years, for $10,000 policies. It is thought that the majority of persons will pursue the latter course, preferring the $57.50 monthly payments to the lump sum.

A permit to alter the one story frame dwelling on his place at 678 North Winter street was issued by Assistant City Recorder Paulson Saturday to O. W. Moon. Cost of altering the building will be about $400, Mr. Moon said.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Paris, 1725 South Commercial street, died at the Portland Maternity home Saturday. The child was buried in the City View cemetery here Sunday.

Special meeting of DeMolay Commandery No. 5, K. T. this evening. Work in the R. C. and the Malta degrees. Visiting Sir Knights welcome.

MAIL CARRIERS HOLD JOLLY MEET FRIDAY

The first social and get together meeting since war was declared by Uncle Sam against the Hun was held at the home of Clifton Ross, 3025 Hazel avenue, Friday night by the city mail carriers. Prior to the war the carriers held monthly meetings at the various homes of the carriers, and this meeting marks the resumption of this practice. The next meeting will be held at the home of Frank Toothacher.

The carriers spent considerable time discussing means of bettering carrier service in the city; and they enjoyed a splendid entertainment and dinner following the business discussion. The following carriers and their families were present:

Fred Barnick, Frank Toothacher, Clifton Ross, Arthur Welch, Joseph Benner, Superintendent of Mails Arthur Gibbard, Cy Howard, F. A. Baker, Jesse Prince and W. A. Persons.

WOMEN PROVE TO BE EFFICIENT PATROLS

Eugene, Or., Jan. 26.—The work of the women forest fire lookouts in the Cascade forest last summer was so successful that N. F. MacDuff, supervisor of the forest, wants a large number for next summer's work, he declared today.

Last summer five women were employed at high stations in the forest to report by telephone any indications of fire or smoke. Each of the women lived alone, camping out in the open a great part of the summer, with no other persons within several miles of them.

During the summer the forest service will employ 40 additional fire patrols and many of these are expected to be women. Many of telephone wires have been strung in the Cascade forest, connecting all stations.

Besides these 40 patrolmen or women the four regular rangers will be on duty all summer.
