Drawint the admission from Lesher that the final selection of miners was left entirely to the secretary of the op-Smith. mittee in each field, Mr. erators comm Lewis asked:

What assurance can be given that the secretaries in selecting their 15 per cent did not select the 15 mines out of the 100 whose earnings were larger than in the remainder?"

"Our only assurance is entire confi-dence in their ability and honesty," replied Mr. Leaher.

The figures showed that in October the month preceding the strike the avthe month preceding the strike the average earnings of 44 pick miners work-ing 27 days were $213.27.
