Exciting the suspicion of City Attorney Bert Macy who saw them peerling strangely into the shop windows downtown, police were ordered late Saturday night to be on the lookout for two men, ages about 40 and 50. The attorney's suspicions were unfounded, apparently, for the roughly dressed characters were not in jail Monday facing charge for any crime.

The guests invited to the C. Lachelle home last Friday evening enjoyed a pleasant surprise as well as a pleasant evening. They were gathered to initiate the new Baby Grand piano, a gift to their son Elbert, a coming musician. The evening was spent with music and playing games. Refreshments were served by the hostess at a late hour.

A suitcase containing a quantity of baby's clothing and among other valuables a discharge paper belonging to her husband was stolen from Mrs. W. T. Wickizer at the Oregon Electric depot Sunday. She told police that it was taken as she was in a booth telephoning.

Co-operation of local police in finding and returning a man named F. C. Jennings to the metropolis was sought by Portland police in a telephone communication to authorities here Saturday night. What charge is held against Jennings, other than he fled Portland, is not known here. He is described as being 22 years old, five feet ten inches tall, 150 pounds in weight, dark complexion, dark brown hair, front teeth protruding, and his right foot is lame.

With the aid of Officer Rowe Saturday a purse containing $40, lost by Mrs. G. W. Gerard, of Independence, was recovered and returned to its owner. Mrs. Gerard said that she lost it at the corner of State and Commercial streets. Search by the officer and questioning several men standing on the corner resulted in its recovery from a man named Ganshin, who said that he was holding it for its owner.

Slight damage was caused to the home at 1211 High street Sunday afternoon when a fire started in the clothes closet. Water thrown on the residence with garden hose before the fire department arrived prevented its spreading and any serious damage.

L. F. Faust, residing in Polk county, was fined $3 Saturday by Police Judge Race for driving his machine past a streetcar as it was accepting and discharging passengers. Faust was arrested by Officer Rowe at State and High streets, where the offense was committed.

Some damage was done to a desk in the office of the Waters Clear Store, 139 North Commercial street, by fire which began at about 10:10 a. m. Monday. City fireman responded to the call and prevented the spread of the flames.

Eight concrete walks through Wilson park, to replace the gravel ones there now, is sought in a petition prepared by the city park board for submission to the city council. The park board holds that the walks there now set muddy in wet weather and at times are high impassible.

Saturday County Judge W. M. Bushey appointed Ed Jory, R. G. Gosine and C. N. Ruggies as appraisers of the H. H. Ridgeway estate.

According to an application filed Saturday in the county clerk's office the farm name of the F. L. DuRette place near Gervais will be "Glen Hough." Mr. DuRette will be informed later if his application has been filed, as it must first be ascertained whether this name has been already registered by some other farm owner.

Harvey Priem, 12, who resides near McCleary, has brought the pelts of 175 grey dipper squirrels to the county clerk since October. The county pays a bounty of five cents for every pelt, and young Priem has the record in Marion county this year.

S. V. Krohn, of Portland, arrived in Salem Saturday for a week's visit in the city. Mr. Krohn was formerly engaged in the drug business in Roseburg.

Now that the tax roll for 1920 has been opened, the office of Sheriff W. L. Needham is being besieged by anxious taxpayers. During the past three days, more than 25,000 has been received from taxpayers who are anxious to clear up their taxes at the beginning of the new year. Sheriff Needham reports that statements are being mailed to all taxpayers who had filed their addresses in his office. The work is being rushed, an extra crew having been secured, working the full 24 hours, in three shifts of 8 hours each.

NEW STATE PARTY TARGET OF PRESS CLUB PRESIDENT

Warning that "there are dangerous insidious elements at work in the state seeking to organize revolt, spread the doctrine of discontent and to overthrow the sound business principles that we are now working upon," O. C. Leiter, president of the Portland Press club, and one of the best known newspaper men in the state, addressed the Commercial club Monday noon.

"Among these dangerous organizations I speak of," Mr. Leiter declared, "is the new land and labor league party that was formed in Salem here several weeks ago." After enumerating the many "strange, revolutionary and socialist principles" the party seeks support for—in the state, Mr. Leiter said: "I only pray and hope that the people will come to know the light and that they will not be led off to follow false goals of foreign lands."

The land and labor league is "a camouflage duplicate of the non-partisan league of North Dakota," the speaker said. "It does not take a mind of great intellect," he said, "to see that it comes ruin and desolation in this state if it is permitted to go on for it has come to be known by the people of the United States, that only failure has attended the movement there. We hear that their taxes have increased double, yet thrive—that their crops have brought them not the rosy returns they were told."

The measure before the voters next election calling for no more than four per cent on all loans was attacked by Mr. Leiter. He said that it would put an end to the lending of foreign money in the state, limiting development and the "much needed expansion we all hope for."

Leiter flayed any tendency toward socialism in the state and United States. He pictured the disaster that has attended the advent of bolshevism "that is only socialism in a new name" in Russia, its failure at Jamestown, at Kaveesh and Antelope valley in California.

Striking at the heart of the socialist movement, Mr. Leiter defined it thus: "Socialism means the slowing up of the gait of progress to the stride of the laziest man, for it annuls all incentive to work in the individual, and it waxes into a general contest of inactivity."

Saying that he has given the land and labor league much thought, Mr. Leiter said that "it is composed of the discontented workers on one side and the discontented farmers on the other, merging together to shape the future for their welfare only. You can readily see what chaos, what ruin, would follow such an arrangement when such a party would strive only for the future of one class."

He concluded with a plea that the people "awake and fight this movement, which is an opening wedge in this state for the birth of rampant socialism."

Laura C. Arenz and Harry Crain Surprise Friends

Surprising their friends by giving no warning of the event, Laura C. Arenz, who is employed in the automobile department at the state house, and Harry N. Crain, news editor of The Capital Journal were quietly married in Portland Saturday evening.

Miss Arenz is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Arenz, formerly of Salem but now residing at 614 Powell street, Portland. She is a graduate of the Salem high school and a former member of the 1920 class of Willamette University. While at the University she was a prominent member of the Philodanoman society.

Mr. Crain is the son of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Crain, 580 Tillamook street, Portland, and was a member of the 1918 class of the University of Oregon and was active in student activities during his years on the Eugene campus. He was editor of the Emerald, student newspaper, during his senior year and a member of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism fraternity, Sigma Upsilon and Psi Chi. Since leaving college he has been connected with the Eugene Daily Guard and The Capital Journal.

Mr. and Mrs. Crain returned to Salem Sunday evening and will make their home in this city.

Inmates Of Pen Thank Musicians For Melody Treat

"In here," said Happy Gordon, in a brief address of appreciation to the musicians who appeared at the state penitentiary Saturday night, "we measure time by events, not days. For now on we shall measure it from the date of the appearance of the Bertha Farmer Musical company."

The Bertha Farmer Musical company, composed of Josephine Martini, soprano; Mary Pavony, violinist; L. V. Arbogast, cellist and Arthur Lydell, pianist, gave one of their choice concerts before an audience composed almost entirely of the inmates of the penitentiary, and were an heartily received as though they were performing before a crowded opera house "outside." Through the courtesy of the Ellison White Lyceum company and the thoughtfulness of Warden Louis Compton, the prisoners were enabled to hear one of the best groups of concert artists in the country and it did not need the standing vote of thanks from 250 grateful hearts to assure the musicians that their program was appreciated.

The theft of an overcoat from the Central Cigar store, belonging to C. M. Tindall, 2491 Trade street, Sunday afternoon, was denied by J. W. Pickens, 35, when taken before Judge Curnh Monday afternoon. His hearing was set for 1:30 Wednesday afternoon.

LACK OF PATRONAGE MAY COMPEL ARMY STORE TO MOVE OUT

Unless the people of Salem recognize the fact that their patronage of the army store here means an average saving of 40 percent to them, and that further lack of interest in its maintenance in Salem is manifest, the government surplus goods sales house will have to leave the city, according to an announcement Monday by J. T. Conway, manager. Mr. Conway said that present patronage does not warrant their staying here longer, and that unless the store's business betters by the end of the week, they will be forced to leave.

Removal of the store may be necessary anyhow, Mr. Conway said, because of the fact that the quartermaster department at Portland has discontinued mail order sales, and it may be impossible in the future to obtain supplies.

The existence of the army store here, although a boon to the community, has been marked by repeated attacks which began when the city council even refused to grant license to operate here. It came, however, when Dr. O. L. Scott, member of the council, assuming management of the city, permitted its activity in the city. Much credit is held due Dr. Scott for recognizing the worth of the store, and succeeding in gaining its admittance to the city.

The remaining stock on hand at the store, 219 South Commercial street, consists of:

All wool blanket $6, coarse wool $5, cotton blankets $3, cow pens No. 24 25c, wool underwear $1, wool socks 50c, cotton socks 15 and 20c, Jersey gloves 20c, rubber boots hip $5.25, towels 20c, halters (5 rings) $1.75, trench caps 20c, shovels $1, brooms 75c, bacon 20c, can bacon 12 lb. can for $2.75.

Mail orders will be filled from the store, postage to be paid by purchaser. Postage on can bacon is 15c per can up to 150 miles.
