MAN PRUNING FRUIT TREES LOSES GRIP; RESULTS ARE FATAL

Losing his grip on a limb of the tree he was pruning, Andrew J. Lowery, 71, 1533 South High street, was killed at 11 o'clock this morning when his clothes caught on another limb, and he hung, head downward, for several minutes, before help could reach him. Neighbors, seeing his serious plight, lowered him from the tree, took him into his home and called Dr. James H. Fairchild, a neighbor, but he died a few minutes later.

Mr. Lowery is believed to have suffered a slight attack of heart failure, incited by the exertion of pruning the tree, causing him to relax his grip on the tree. The body was taken to the Rigdon & Son undertaking parlors. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Mr. Lowery was born in Wisconsin October 6, 1848.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Sarah A. Lowery, Mr. Lowery is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Laura Faulkner, Portland, Ore., Mrs. Althea Whitgift, Morgan, Ore., Mrs. Alvina Rogers, Troy, Minn., Mrs. Addie Harrison, Bornstead, N. D., and one son, Frank Lowery of Fulton, Ill.

Wong Him, 60, Chinese Hop Grower of Polk County, Died at a Local Hospital Here Saturday Night

The body is being held at the parlors of the Rigdon & Son company, and probably will be forwarded by them to Portland for cremation. All of Wong Him's relatives reside in China.

The Woman's Relief Corp. aid society will meet with Mrs. A. D. King, 463 South Capitol street Thursday afternoon, March 11, for their regular social gathering. All members are requested to attend.

Joseph Domogalla and family of 605 North Capitol street, have completely recovered from a siege of influenza, which has confined them to their home for the past few weeks.

The general meeting of the Salem Art League will be held in the public library at 8 p. m. Tuesday. It will be preceded by a business meeting.

The divorced action of Edna Shockley against T. B. Shockley was being heard Monday in Judge Kelly's court. The case was featured mainly by Shockley's counter petition for divorce in answering his wife's complaint and the contention of both parties for care and custody of the two minor children.

Divorce proceedings were instituted Saturday by Edith Aramantha Cooley against McGert Cooley. The couple were married in Salem, January 18, 1913. There are no children and the petition states that property rights do not enter into the action. Mrs. Cooley is asking for a divorce alleging that her husband deserted her, February 1, 1918.

Monday Peter P. Heibert, 840 N. Liberty street, reported to Sheriff Needham, that while driving on the Pacific highway, Sunday, his car had got into a controversy with a cow and the bovine had been badly injured.

According to Mr. Heibert, the accident occurred while he was driving along the highway and in passing some cattle that were in the road. Mr. Heibert reported that the owner of the cows refused to give his name when the request was made. Heibert's report was made in accordance with the recently enacted law which requires that all vehicle accidents be reported to the nearest authorities.

Miss Cornelia Marvin, state librarian, who has just returned from an extended tour of the orient, left Sunday evening for Chicago where she will attend a meeting of the executive board of the American library association, of which she is a member. Miss Marvin will be gone for about two weeks.

K. B. Palmer, advertising manager for Hauser Bros. sporting goods stores, returned to business Monday after a two-weeks' siege with influenza.

Friday evening, March 12, in the public library, Professor F. S. Dunn of the University of Oregon, will deliver a lecture, choosing as his topic "Homeric Poems in Art." The lecture will be under the auspices of the Salem Art League, and an invitation is extended to all persons in the city who are interested in ancient literature and the place that it is filling in modern art, to be present at the library next Friday at 8 o'clock.

No-Vary Store Is To Be Conducted By Well-Known Men

August Carl and F. G. Bowersox, well known Salem residents, have purchased the No-Vary grocery at 343 Court street and will conduct the store under the firm name of the "Carl and Bowersox grocery."

In addition to entirely remodeling the store and making installation of more attractive sales department, the new firm will inaugurate a first class delivery service to all sections of the city, according to Mr. Bowersox.

The firm also announces that they will make special efforts to carry the best farm produce, eggs, butter, etc., by paying the top market price.

The proprietors are established citizens of this city. Mr. Carl has been a Salem resident for 17 years, during the past 13 years he has headed the sales force of the R. D. Gilbert grocery company. Mr. Bowersox was born in Salem and for a number of years was proprietor of the Yew Park grocery.

During the last five years he has been traveling salesman for the Gile Mercantile company. The two men are receiving congratulations from their many friends upon their new undertaking.

Cupid Beats Law; Traffic Cop Gets "Stung" In Race

Daniel Cupid stole a march on General Law Sunday. And the funny part of it is the law didn't care!

Traffic Officer Moffitt, his motorcycle coughing and sputtering in a muffled staccato behind a store building at the corner of Capital and Market street Sunday morning, laid in wait for speeders. His teeth tightened on his cigar, and his hands gripped the handle bars of his gasoline Pegasus when the loud report of a racing machine came to his ears. He fell in behind the car, making a mental note of the many miles per hour the fugitive was making.

The cop overtook the auto at the corner of State and 12th streets. He peered in through the curtains. There sat Leroy Ryan, popular employe of the state highway department, and a blushing girl—only a few moments before made Mrs. Leroy Ryan.

"Good God, man!" Ryan cried, "don't stop us here now. We've got to catch that train."

Already the engine was whistling and the train was ready to move. The driver of the auto "stepped on it" and Traffic Officer Moffitt was left there in the street, twiddling his official thumbs.

Undaunted he started again in pursuit, this time with several other autos close upon him, vying with the front machine to make speed.

Reaching the passenger station of the Southern Pacific Traffic Officer Moffitt discovered that the newlyweds were attempting to catch the train to evade the sport of their pursuers, who were seeking to provide the conventional showers of rice and boots.

But Cupid won the race, Mr. and Mrs. Ryan entered the train just as it began to move, leaving the officer standing on the platform dejected, but smiling wistfully, for the cop is a single man.

Officers in Raid Discover Quantity of "Goodly Wine"

Making an unexpected swoop Saturday on the farm of Joseph L. Hug, about two miles east of Salem, United States revenue officers, assisted by Sheriff W. I. Needham's office unearthed quantities of wine.

The revenue officers placed the liquor under lock and key until such time as further investigation is completed. Several barrels each containing about 49 gallons of the wine were among the "supplies on hand."

Samples of the liquor possessed a real bouquet. In addition to the evidence possessed by the authorities it is reported that quantities of the wine have been disposed of. One unconfirmed report reaching the sheriff's

Improvements for Roads into Mine Region Discussed

With more than 20 representatives from mines in the Santiam district in attendance, a conference was held at the county court rooms, Saturday morning concerning road improvement in the district north of Mehama.

It was shown to the court and the county commissioners that large mining interests had been attracted to this section by the reported existence of large quantities of silver lead and copper ores.

The 20 miles of road from Mehama to the district was represented as being impassable during a large part of the year. The commissioners and the court promised to take the matter under advisement and to make investigation of conditions.

The miners produced evidence to show that machinery necessary for improvement of the properties was being brought in at prohibitive freightage rate, $2 per ton mile, or $24 per ton for delivery to the nearest mines, about 12 miles from Mehama. With the improvement of the roads, it will be possible to use light trucks, thereby lowering transportation costs. One of the companies now rushing machinery into the district under the difficulties named, is the Silver King Mining company, which is running two four-horse team outfits to their mines daily.

The mining men assembled later in the day and organized what is to be known as the Santiam mining district. As a committee to confer with the court in perfecting road plans, W. L. Staley, W. S. Langmuir and R. LaForce were named. Five mines of the district were represented. The new name for the district was selected because of the confusion resulting from the use of other names by which the region is known.
