

Region Invites All War Veterans To Tuesday Meet

The meeting of Capital Post No. 3, American Legion, to be held in the city Tuesday evening, March 30, will be of particular interest to all ex-service men and a large attendance is expected. All legionnaires are requested to bring a companion, as the meeting is for the purpose of discussing matters that will be of vital importance to all who served in the army, navy or air corps, whether members of the organization or not.

New Lease of Life Through Internal Baths

E. Shain of Santa Cruz, Cal., writes to the Tyrrell Hygienic Institute: "My wife and I will be 85 years next birthday and consider this a new lease of life for we now enjoy the best of health. We were given up for dead but the Cascade Hygienic Institute has given us such health as we have enjoyed in years." "J. B. L. Cascade" cleanses the entire length and width of the body, always free of poisonous matter. Thousands testify that constipation, indigestion, stomach troubles, biliousness, headaches and all the many serious troubles which they cause are completely relieved and prevented by the nature treatment.

solves with the organization, as it is through the American Legion that the interests of those who served in the late war will be protected, and the much needed assistance from the government obtained. Capital Post No. 3 is striving for a membership of 1000 men, and according to Legion officials there is good reason to believe that the goal can be easily reached with a little co-operation on the part of those who already belong.

INSURANCE BUSINESS IN OREGON INCREASED IN 1919

A material increase in the amount of insurance written in Oregon during 1919, over that of 1918, is indicated in figures on file in the office of A. C. Barber, state insurance commissioner, covering the taxes to be paid by the various companies operating in the state. These taxes for 1920, the records show, total $214,497, as against a total tax of $198,000 in 1919, an increase of $16,497 for the year. The 1919 tax is segregated as follows: fire insurance companies, $110,182; life insurance companies, $69,595; miscellaneous $34,720.

Terrible Tortures From Itching Skin Diseases

No Sure Relief Until the Cause Is Removed.
When the blood becomes infected with millions of tiny disease germs that attack the skin, then the fiery irritation and intense itching will remain with you until these germs are removed from the blood.
Genuine relief, therefore, can only be expected from a treatment that goes right to the seat of the trouble, and strikes at its cause. Such a remedy is S. S. S., the reliable old blood purifier that kills the germs of disease, and sends a new supply of rich red blood coursing through the veins.
S. S. S. has been used successfully in some of the worst cases of eczema and other skin disorders.

YESTERDAY--

From the beginning up to the present time, the methods employed by the farmer have been most primitive.

He has had only one kind of power with which to work.

The power of the horse.

The horse: sure but slow—his power measured by his strength, and his ability by the time he can pull.

The farmer's ability to produce depended on the power of his horse.

In plowing an acre the old way the farmer walked eight miles.

In plowing a square mile, one man and two horses walk five thousand two hundred and eighty miles.

It is shorter to walk around the Earth at the Equator than to follow a plow turning a tract of 5 square miles.

To plow three townships, the plowman must walk sixty thousand miles farther than from the Earth to the Moon and back again.

These figures give one an idea of the energy and time and effort spent in the old way of farming.

The farmer produced, it is true, but he had to struggle for results.

He worked hard and painfully.

His lot has been heavy and his days long.

His work has been never-ending.

But all that belongs to YESTERDAY.

TODAY--

Today, for the first time, the farmer is given an even chance with all other producers in the world.

With the intelligent use of the tractor and other labor-saving devices it is made possible for him to become a business man—to do his work methodically and to do more of it.

He takes his place with the manufacturer who has modern machinery.

He takes his place with the merchant who increases his efficiency with time, labor and money-saving systems of accounting, selling and delivering.

All industries have profited enormously by modern invention—and now the farmer's turn has come.

His day of opportunity is here.

He is able, at last, to make real progress.

He can now call to his aid a Tractor which will break ground and handle all the heavy power jobs on the farm in half the time, at half the cost, and with half the energy he has heretofore expended.

He is able, again, to buy another type of Tractor which will apply power to every hand and horse-driven tool he already has on the farm—immensely speeding up the process of discing, drilling, seeding, mowing, reaping, spreading and cultivating—and cutting down the overhead while doing so.

He is able, again, by pressing into his service an efficient, economical Truck, to apply a saving in time, money and energy to every chore that calls him from the house to the farm, from farm to market and back again.

In every big thing he sets out to do on the farm he can, if he will, treble and quadruple his producing capacity, if he but takes advantage of the opportunity now offered him.

TODAY the hour of big achievement for the farmer is here.
