

Work Commenced Upon Silverton and Mt. Angel Artery

Mt. Angel, Or., Apr. 6.—The first step toward permanent road improvement to be made in this vicinity was taken yesterday morning when the county commissioners began work on the Silverton-Mt. Angel road. Heavy trucks are at work hauling rock for the surface and the road roller is putting in condition for the hard surface finish. According to the program, the road will be paved from Mt. Angel to the Abiqua river and macadam will be used on the remainder of the road to the Silverton-Salem road at Bowen's corner. A movement is also underway to improve the road between here and Gervais.

Work of establishing a paving plant in this city is in progress. Mt. Angel people are unanimous in the determination to secure better roads in all directions from the city and the anticipation of higher taxes by reason of the improvement is no discouragement. They believe in increased valuation by increased taxation.

Most of the potatoes have been shipped to their office at Stockton, California, which is in charge of Joseph Schwab.

Milling Company Contract For Use Of Street Forced

Silverton, Or., Apr. 6.—Unless the Fischer Flouring Mills Co. pays the city for the use of Water street, through the center of which they maintain a sidetrack from the depot to their mill, as agreed by contract, suit will be instituted to collect the money due. At least that was the expression of the council at a meeting held last evening.

A demand has repeatedly been made upon the company to pay for the franchise, but they have given the matter no attention further than claiming they are charged exorbitantly. The patience of the city duds has now become overtaxed, and unless something is done to settle the matter within a few days Fischer will be sued defendants in an unpleasant law suit.

New Bridge Asked To Replace Old In Silverton Suburb

Silverton, Or., Apr. 6.—Numerous citizens of Geiser's addition to Silverton appeared before the city council at a meeting held last evening and asked that body to rebuild the lower bridge on Silver creek which was condemned nearly two years ago and has since been closed. In the present condition of the structure residents of that part of the city are great inconvenienced, and the lives of school children are endangered from the fact that they pass over the railroad bridge two or three times a day in going to and from school.

Under provisions of Silverton's old and inadequate city charter the council seems to find no method to pursue in a manner to relieve the serious situation, and unless the taxpayers of the city are willing to vote a special tax for the construction of the bridge, conditions are not likely to be changed very soon.

Public Forum

Editor Capital Journal:—While thinking about the dog law and other vital matters, let a curious one inquire in regard to the holes along the street-car lines on South Commercial street. No one could call them sightly, and when a driver has to pass the wood wagons of a certain firm (no, gentle reader, they never give the road to anyone) its very unenlightening to consider what is happening to the tires on the trusty fliwer.

Who owns that pavement, anyway? D. WIGGINS.

Husband's Violent Temper Given As Cause For Divorce

Claiming that her husband ordered her out of the house early in the morning of March 21, Grace M. Southwick has instituted suit for divorce against Roland Southwick. The couple were married at Salem, February 24, 1915. The complaint states there were no children of the union.

Mrs. Southwick alleges that her husband "failed to save his money and did not establish even ordinary home surroundings." She states that he possesses a "vindictive violent and dangerous" temper and during protracted periods of anger has abused, cursed and assaulted her.

Due to the fact that she has a child by a previous marriage, Mrs. Southwick asks also that her former name of Perkins be restored to her.
