

Canucks to Face Hard Line-up at Game, April 11.

Between showers on any week day evening members of the local club can be seen at practice on the grounds at 12th and Oxford streets. The ball players, who have arrangements with employers to get away from their various jobs early each day in order to get into trim for the coming series with the Moosejaw and Regina grubs.

For the opening game, April 11th, the Senators will have a big line-up using nearly every member of the club. Hayes and Krake with both alternate in keeping the big mitt warm, while Cole and Brown drive active duty in the box. Craig and Cox, the remaining twirlers of Bishop's staff will be held for relief work.

The grounds are being put into shape and a fair share of good weather will see the diamond in big league trim.

Even with the limited practice they have been able to get, members of the club are kicking into line and the general slogan is, "Get 'em feeling fine."

That the game next Sunday will be a stiffly contested affair is certain as the Senators are determined to give the fast Moosejaw club a run for their money. The Canadians have just completed the major portion of spring training at their camp near Portland and are expected to put up a good fight. The Canucks have adopted the game and have taken such an interest during the past two years that the sport may be able to divide honors on the "Great American" claim.

Several good teams of the semi-pro class have written Biddle Bishop for dates. Biddle says that he will tackle anything outside of the Coast League. "We have a good club and while the Moosejaw club may ease a score over on us, they will know they have accomplished something," says Bishop. "However, we are giving all these clubs the once-over before signing up for a game, so the fans can know that these will be the teams doing this summer." is the way the hustling manager phrases it.

'Albany Hi Tossers To Play Silverton

Albany, Or., Apr. 7.—The baseball season for the Albany high school team will be ushered in this week. One game and possibly two will be played by Coach Brumbaugh's twirlers. The Silverton game will occur on Friday on the local grounds. As for the Stayton game, postponed from last week, it probably will be played here this week also, but the date is not yet decided upon.

Pheasants Will Be Liberated At Once

Paul Hauser, manager of Hauser Bros., is today making arrangements for the liberation of a shipment of Chinese pheasants on the farms near Salem during the coming few days.

In a letter from Carl D. Shoemaker, state game warden, Mr. Hauser is assured that two crates of the birds will be sent here, probably this week to be liberated in the surrounding country. It is probable that the birds will be sent from the state game farm near Corvallis.

THE BEST ON EARTH

Says Mrs. Staples of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Taunton, Mass.—"I could not eat or sleep for six months, had fainting spells and could not walk without help for three months, caused by female trouble. My cousin, who was a doctor, told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped me greatly. Then during the Change of Life I used the same remedy. I am seventy years old now and am able to do my own housework and walk one mile to church every Sunday morning and evening. I am recommending the Vegetable Compound to my friends having the same troubles as I had. Your remedy is the best on earth. I cannot find words to express my gratitude to it."—Mrs. SUSAN C. STAPLES, 157 B School St., Taunton, Mass.

The reason that thousands of women from all parts of the country write such grateful letters is that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought health and happiness into their lives, and has relieved them from some of the worst forms of female ills, such as dyspepsia, indigestion, and all ailments. Why don't you try it?

COAST LEAGUE CLUBS PORTLAND

San Francisco, April 7.—With a stronger pitching and catching staff, the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast baseball league is expected by its friends to stay out in front in this season's race for the pennant.

Sam Agnew, formerly of Vernon last year and formerly of Washington with the Seals this year, strengthening a spot on the team that was considered weak in 1937. He has had an accident to his hand and may not be able to start the season.

Jim Scott, former pitcher for the Chicago White Sox, made a better showing in pre-season training than he did last year. Seaton, one of the best in the league last year, apparently is as good as ever. Much is expected of Ray Jordan, who was with Buffalo last year. Casey Smith and Johnny Couch, just out of the army last year and consequently not too good, are expected to pitch better ball this year. The club needs a left hander, baseball experts here say.

Last year's infield is preserved intact. Kowner is at first, Cavney is at second and Willie Kamm, now a year out of the bushes, is at third. Corhan is shortstop.

In the outfield it is said, Fitzgerald, right field, is the only man sure of his job. Herb Hunter and Maurice Shick are holdovers from last year. Joe Connolly and Jim O'Connell are a couple of young ones who look good enough to have a chance to crowd in.

The grounds are being put into shape and a fair share of good weather will see the diamond in big league trim.

Even with the limited practice they have been able to get, members of the club are kicking into line and the general slogan is, "Get 'em feeling fine."

History of Byron's Life Is a Story

out on bond pending appeal. In December, his appeal had been lost, and he had been twice indicted for new swindling operations at Seattle, but got a stay of judgment to prepare for his new trial, which he utilized to finish up his Salem enterprise; stinging some of his victims a second time and extending contracts generally. This caused him to be taken into custody to protect salaried men from further losses.

The record of Byron's operations, for which he is now serving time, is given in the 27th Federal Reporter, containing the record of the case in the federal circuit court. It is practically the same scheme and the same land used later upon Salemites. Extracts from this official record read as follows:

"The defendants, for the purpose of defrauding victims would fraudulently represent that they could procure for them patents and titles to certain lands, called 'selected lands' and 'patented lands' if the victims would pay to the defendants certain moneys as location fees and expenses. Defendants had been successfully engaged in procuring, for applicants, title to such 'patented' and 'selected' lands having great value for timber thereon by means of a procedure substantially as follows:

"It would be represented that the lands designated as 'selected' had previously been selected by Hyde & Co., and other transferees under the Forest Lien selection act; that the manner by which the title to the base lands offered to the selector had been acquired, was unlawful and adverse proceedings were pending in the land department seeking to cancel the selection on the ground of fraud; that the result of such proceedings would be the cancellation of all selections; that there were large tracts of other lands designated as 'patented' which were lands to which patents from the United States had previously been fraudulently obtained; that the lands had been restricted to the public domain by reason of a decision of the supreme court in certain equity suits.

Victims Are Molested. "It was misrepresented that the 'selected' and 'patented' lands were open to patent and sale under the timber and stone act; that those who filed through Byron would receive patent and title within two years from application; that persons who made such application through Byron would, by such applications and services to be rendered by defendants, obtain preference rights to purchase from said government at $2.50 per acre; that personal examination of the applicant of lands applied for was not necessary, and that upon payment of $2.50 per acre the government would issue patent within two years from date of application. The victims were misled from $100 to $1000 each for pretended services in locating them and would then defraud the victims out of all of their money so received and give nothing in return therefor, though refund of money in case of failure was promised.

Never Delivered Title. "The indictment negatives the several alleged false representations and pretenses by setting up that the defendants never had succeeded in securing title for anyone for either said 'selected' or 'patented' lands, by means of their procedure or otherwise; that the procedure was worthless; that it was impossible to initiate or secure preferences for the lands; that neither the 'selected' nor 'patented' lands were open to sale, selection or entry under any of the public land laws of the United States and applications for the same would be rejected; that the lands could not be purchased under the timber and stone act for $2.50 an acre, and if open to entry, could only be procured by payment of the appraised value thereof; that the patent could not be secured for any lands under the timber and stone act unless the applicant personally examined the land applied for within 30 days prior to filing the application; that every application filed would be rejected by the land office; that upon various tracts upon which the 'victims' might file there had already been similar applications to purchase said lands, filed by others whose filing were prior; that the defendants never intended to repay the moneys paid by the victims, and that any agreements for the return of moneys were made to induce the victims to believe that their money would be returned and to prevent them from dis-

Miner's Curious Sense Of Humor Gave Town Name

Tombstone, Ariz., April 7.—A prospector's curious sense of humor was responsible for the naming of this town which recently has gotten into the news despatches because of the Bisbee deportation trials being held here.

According to James F. Duncan, who came here in 1873, the town was founded in that year by Ed Schieffelin, a mining prospector. Schieffelin called his mine near the site of the present court house "Tombstone Mine." Duncan said, because the region was full of drab rocks that resembled tombstones.

Tradition has it, however, that Schieffelin's friends frequently rallied him for his faith in the locality and told him that he would find his tombstone here. After the prospector had made his fortune here, in god-natured irony he is said to have named the town after the fate that had been predicted for him.

Schieffelin was found dead in a log cabin in the state of Washington May 12, 1897. According to his wishes his body was brought back to his "tombstone" and buried near here. His pick-ax and other tools were buried with him. Above the grave his friends erected a simple monument, fashioned after the rude manner of a prospector's claim stake—merely a pile of unevenly shaped rocks.

Waste Of Natural Gas Eliminated

Austin, Texas.—The waste of natural gas in Texas, which at one time amounted to 300,000 cubic feet, or the fuel equivalent of 25,000 tons of coal per day, has been reduced until there is no considerable waste, according to a statement from the Oil and Gas Division of the Texas Railroad Commission.

The statement said in part: "The Railroad Commission gives credit for this happy condition largely to the operators, who have shown such a splendid spirit of co-operation, especially so when there is so little market for gas as at present, and where, in many cases, if the wells were allowed to blow, they might come in as good oil producers."

ALBERTA SEEKS OIL

Lethbridge, Alta.—Lethbridge promises to become the center of oil activity in the south of Alberta. Drilling has commenced in several places tributary to the city. The Imperial Oil Company is drilling to the south and west on Dry Fork and west of Nanton. This company intends to spend two million dollars in Alberta this summer in a search for oil.

Admiral Rodman Scores Sims For 'Indiscretions'

Washington, Apr. 7.—Admiral Hugh C. Rodman, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet, told the senate investigating committee today that Rear Admiral Sims' letter to Secretary Daniels criticizing the navy's part in the war was "very indiscreet."

"Had Admiral Sims' letter been less indiscreet," Admiral Rodman said, "it would, no doubt, have received due consideration by the proper authorities and doubtless some good would have come from it."

Admiral Rodman, who commanded the American battleship squadron with the British grand fleet during the war, told the committee that the "American navy did its full share most efficiently and splendidly in helping to bring the war against the Hun to a successful and victorious conclusion."
