

Thrice Veteran, Brooklyn Major Joins Lett Army

Warsaw, April 7.—Major Joseph C. Stehlin, a twenty-three year old aviator of Brooklyn, N. Y., who already has fought in three armies, has come to Riga to enlist under the Lett flag in the war against the Russian Bolsheviki.

Since last fall Major Stehlin has been fighting in the aviation branch of the Polish army and in that service took part in the Polish drive which threw the Bolsheviki out of Dvinsk.

When the American army came over to France Stehlin transferred his allegiance to the American flag, received a commission as first lieutenant of aviators and took part in actions in the Champagne, Verdun and Soissons sectors.

Last September he joined the Polish forces recruited in New York, was commissioned as captain, came to Poland and was assigned to duty on the northeastern front.

Major Stehlin says he has no idea what vocation he will take up if the war should end over here, but he feels certain that he can never go back to the inactive duties of a life guard at the beach.

Chinese Alphabet Trimmed For Use On Typewriters

Shanghai, April 8.—Chinese of future generations will write in phonetic script and use a typewriter with only 23 characters instead of plying a brush to draw 10,000 or more hieroglyphs if mission workers succeed in an effort they are making to revolutionize handwriting in use in China for more than 4,000 years.

Their purpose is not only to simplify China's handwriting system but to give the country a common tongue to replace the present-day babel which renders even the native who is away from his own home district almost as helpless as a foreigner.

Rev. E. H. Tewksbury, of Shanghai, secretary of the China Sunday School Union, and a member of the Phonetic Promotion Committee, who has devoted 20 years to teaching in China, has put the new script into use on

THE LOGANBERRY SITUATION

Many people have asked us lately—"What effect will the proposed high prices for loganberries have on the business of the Phez Company?" We have hesitated to speak our real feelings, because we did not wish to be regarded as calamity howlers; because we were not disposed to take any action that might be interpreted by the growers as an effort on our part to deprive them of a chance to obtain the highest possible price.

But many persons tell us that The Phez Company is more than a private enterprise—that it is a project closely linked with the progress and prosperity of the Willamette Valley; that its products typify Oregon to the nation at large. In view of this, they say, the people of the Willamette Valley have a right to know just what too high a price on loganberries will mean to us, and incidentally, the loganberry industry as a whole.

First, let us state that to date we have spent $560,000 in magazines to popularize PHEZ Loganberry Products, and the amount invested in our business as a whole is greater than the value of all the loganberry acreage in Oregon, at $500 an acre.

Through advertising and by maintaining these products at highest standards of quality and fair prices, we have created a demand for the goods that has enabled us to sell the trade each year.

But if prices of these products become too high, the demand will naturally decrease. General prices are swinging slowly but surely downward—the reaction has set in. If we have to ask more for PHEZ Products—and we will have to do so at higher fruit prices—we believe consumer demand will be greatly diminished.

Everyone connected with Loganberry Products, be he grower, manufacturer, wholesaler or retailer, must depend on consumer demand for real success in selling, and real success can come to growers—to us, to everyone concerned, only from a continuous demand based on reasonable prices.
